

The Weekly Monitor.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 28th, 1883.

Her Majesty, the Queen, suffered an injury to her knee a short time ago, which, though causing alarm, is not, so the latest bulletin says, at all likely to prove serious. The accident was caused by Her Majesty slipping upon the stairs of the Palace at Windsor, while descending to her carriage for a ride. Nothing was thought of the injury at the time, but a few days later, uneasiness was felt, as the knee became badly swollen. As Her Majesty's physicians were immediately summoned, who succeeded in lessening the injury. The chief cause of uneasiness was that dangerous complications would arise on account of the somewhat delicate state of the Queen's health and her age. The excitement over the event was greatly lessened by the fact that the Queen attended the bulletin places to the latest news; all the newspapers sent special correspondents to Windsor, with instructions to send bulletins constantly; business men left their places of business and stayed at their clubs where bulletins were regularly reported. Among the despatches occur the following, which show especially how beloved our noble Queen is to her people:
A bulletin just posted announces that the Queen is constantly attended by a full corps of royal physicians. The crowds surrounding the bulletin was so great that those in the rear could not make it out, and a demand for a reader was made. A strong voice announced that a pile of paving stones and bricks had been thrown at the bulletin, and the man motioned to make his first utterance, the entire crowd, which was almost exclusively composed of working men, uncovered and was still. The bulletin produced a most evident depression. The bulletin announced that the late upon which Her Majesty fell, when she slipped upon the stairs, has become greatly swollen and that every effort is being made to continue the swelling.

Nova Scotians in the United States.
A gentleman, well known in this country—now a resident in the United States, sends us the following letter, which, as we have confidence in the soundness of his judgment, we give a place in the editorial columns:
I have been somewhat interested in the letters of two of our correspondents lately, Mr. J. N. Coleman and Nova Scotian. Will you allow me who has been a resident of the United States for some time, to say a little on this matter. I do not think that the statements of Nova Scotians are at all exaggerated in connection with "distress, charity, etc.," of some of the cities in the vicinity of Boston. The United States is one of the worst places in the world for the poor, sick and destitute. I have traveled extensively in seven States of the Union—including those where Nova Scotians are most numerous—and during my whole stay, and in all my travels, I have not heard an expression in favor of the Nova Scotians either as a mechanic or otherwise. There are a few Nova Scotians who are doing well in this country, and they belong to the class that succeed in every nation. Allow me to say a few words to those who are seeking employment for the first time:
1. Bear in mind that an employer you are worth to the American employer just what he can make out of you, and nothing more.
2. Be prepared to work hard when you are hired. With a great many it will be either work or starvation.
3. Make up your mind to pay a good price for nearly everything you buy.

Remember that so long as you live your health, and are fortunate in getting employment, you may get sick, but if you should become sick, and not able to attend to your own position will be a sad one. There is a growing impression in these New England States, the monopoly enjoyed for so many years, is passing away. The fact that the Western and Southern States are largely manufacturing for themselves, means that in future, these Western States will have to carry a smaller percentage of population of the "working class" than formerly. The people of this country are rapidly drifting into two classes—the rich and the poor. If many of the Nova Scotians now in the United States had been content to have staid at home, and worn homespun, and patiently plodded their way, they would have had by this time, something more than a little cheap jewelry, a fine suit of clothes and an empty pocket. If the young men and women of Nova Scotia, who neither wanted nor needed in the United States. By the way, Mr. Elliot, there are some people you will do well to encourage to leave their native land, and mean those who will eventually drift into the criminal and pauper classes. If you can persuade them to come over here, and Bro. Jonathan is willing to receive them, why, by all means send them.

Wiggins—Past Stories.
The Evangelist gives in reference to Wiggins' storm, which estimates that he has cost believers some million and a half of dollars:
It seems strange that a prediction like this, made by an unknown person, should have had such a wide circulation and disastrous effect. People who refuse to believe religious teaching for want of proof, did not hesitate to accept the prophecy of an obscure man, with little pretensions to science, and let it interfere directly with their business interests. The fact shows how strangely credulous sober and practical people sometimes are. There is a vast deal of superstition left in the most enlightened communities.

The Evangelist also gives the following record of past storms:
In September, 1875, a terrific storm burst upon the coast of Texas, and threatened the destruction of Galveston. In March, 1851, a gale of unequalled fury swept over Eastern New-England, and destroyed the Lighthouse at Minot's Ledge. In October, 1864, a cyclone followed by a tidal wave, destroyed 6,000 persons in Calcutta, and another 6,000 destroyed houses and seventy persons at Nassau. The great storm of February, 1861, blew down the Crystal Palace in London, and the steeple of Chichester Cathedral, and a vast amount of other damage. In England, in January, 1850, the west coast of England, was desolated by a frightful storm, in which a hundred and twenty persons lost their lives in Liverpool alone, while hundreds of houses were blown down on the Irish coast and in Dublin, a hundred vessels were destroyed in a single day. In September, 1810, a hurricane swept over the West Indies, destroying 104 vessels at St. Thomas alone. In October, 1765, Havana was visited

Local and Other Matter.

—Eliza Messenger, Esq. of Portland, has been appointed a Justice of the Peace.
—A rumor is current that Sir Chas. Tupper is to succeed Sir Alexander Gait as High Commissioner in England. Sir Charles does not confirm the rumor or deny it altogether.
—The ice in the river still remains fresh, notwithstanding the late heavy frosts. It has a shaly look, however.
—A ballast has been captured near the wharf, weighing 600 lbs. of a 2 1/2 inch tall. In English waters ballast is seldom caught weighing over 20 lbs.
—New Spring Hats "Paris Fashion," New Bottoms, Low Clogs, New Lace, New Fichus, &c., &c., have already arrived at J. W. Beckwith's.

BEAR RIVER.
—The Walsh Gang Saw Mill is to be put into operation immediately by Mr. George Miller, of this place. A tremendous quantity of logs are in, and the following, which show especially how beloved our noble Queen is to her people:
A bulletin just posted announces that the Queen is constantly attended by a full corps of royal physicians. ANNAPOLIS ITEMS.
The Exhibition given by Herr Axel Paulson on Monday evening, was gazed upon with interest by quite a large gathering. The performance were much the same as those reported on his former visit, with the exception of a few additional dexterous feats. Apparently, he has a practical knowledge of one essential of philosophy, judging from the way in which he overcomes the inertia of his body so readily.
—A Grand Fancy Dress, Masquerade and Property Distribution Carnival is to take place on the Skating Rink at Annapolis on Monday Evening next. This is the last Carnival of the season. See ad.

REARER—The office of the Hatheway S. S. Co., was burglariously entered last night. The safe, which contained the cash box was unlocked, and the box and contents were carried off. The empty box was found in Cow Lane, about 75 feet from the office. Nothing of importance has been discovered in reference to the matter.
—As of the train passengers on Saturday held tickets for Boston by way of Yarmouth.
—Mr. W. A. Ritchie, of the Foster House, Annapolis, expects to go out of the hotel business in the early part of April.

DAKARHOTTA, Me., March 20.—The partner of the star, "City Point," who in Penauquid harbor, is there. He says there is a very heavy sea on the coast, and that in future, these Western States will have to carry a smaller percentage of population of the "working class" than formerly. The people of this country are rapidly drifting into two classes—the rich and the poor. Local and Other Matter.

—Fresh Oysters packed in ice, in quart tins, for sale by R. Shipley, 37 1/2.
—The ship Bell, Capt. Munro, from Bristol, England, arrived in New York last Saturday. Some anxiety was felt about the Bell, as she was sometimes overboard, being 63 days out. Many friends of Capt. Munro and his wife will be glad to learn of their safe arrival.
—Capt. Eugene Bogart, of Lower Granite, intends shortly to erect a large steam saw-mill at Kardale, to saw all kinds of lumber.

BEAR RIVER.
—The Walsh Gang Saw Mill is to be put into operation immediately by Mr. George Miller, of this place. A tremendous quantity of logs are in, and the following, which show especially how beloved our noble Queen is to her people:
A bulletin just posted announces that the Queen is constantly attended by a full corps of royal physicians. The crowds surrounding the bulletin was so great that those in the rear could not make it out, and a demand for a reader was made. A strong voice announced that a pile of paving stones and bricks had been thrown at the bulletin, and the man motioned to make his first utterance, the entire crowd, which was almost exclusively composed of working men, uncovered and was still. The bulletin produced a most evident depression. The bulletin announced that the late upon which Her Majesty fell, when she slipped upon the stairs, has become greatly swollen and that every effort is being made to continue the swelling.

ANNAPOLIS ITEMS.
The Exhibition given by Herr Axel Paulson on Monday evening, was gazed upon with interest by quite a large gathering. The performance were much the same as those reported on his former visit, with the exception of a few additional dexterous feats. Apparently, he has a practical knowledge of one essential of philosophy, judging from the way in which he overcomes the inertia of his body so readily.
—A Grand Fancy Dress, Masquerade and Property Distribution Carnival is to take place on the Skating Rink at Annapolis on Monday Evening next. This is the last Carnival of the season. See ad.

REARER—The office of the Hatheway S. S. Co., was burglariously entered last night. The safe, which contained the cash box was unlocked, and the box and contents were carried off. The empty box was found in Cow Lane, about 75 feet from the office. Nothing of importance has been discovered in reference to the matter.
—As of the train passengers on Saturday held tickets for Boston by way of Yarmouth.
—Mr. W. A. Ritchie, of the Foster House, Annapolis, expects to go out of the hotel business in the early part of April.

DAKARHOTTA, Me., March 20.—The partner of the star, "City Point," who in Penauquid harbor, is there. He says there is a very heavy sea on the coast, and that in future, these Western States will have to carry a smaller percentage of population of the "working class" than formerly. The people of this country are rapidly drifting into two classes—the rich and the poor. If many of the Nova Scotians now in the United States had been content to have staid at home, and worn homespun, and patiently plodded their way, they would have had by this time, something more than a little cheap jewelry, a fine suit of clothes and an empty pocket. If the young men and women of Nova Scotia, who neither wanted nor needed in the United States. By the way, Mr. Elliot, there are some people you will do well to encourage to leave their native land, and mean those who will eventually drift into the criminal and pauper classes. If you can persuade them to come over here, and Bro. Jonathan is willing to receive them, why, by all means send them.

Wiggins—Past Stories.
The Evangelist gives in reference to Wiggins' storm, which estimates that he has cost believers some million and a half of dollars:
It seems strange that a prediction like this, made by an unknown person, should have had such a wide circulation and disastrous effect. People who refuse to believe religious teaching for want of proof, did not hesitate to accept the prophecy of an obscure man, with little pretensions to science, and let it interfere directly with their business interests. The fact shows how strangely credulous sober and practical people sometimes are. There is a vast deal of superstition left in the most enlightened communities.

The Evangelist also gives the following record of past storms:
In September, 1875, a terrific storm burst upon the coast of Texas, and threatened the destruction of Galveston. In March, 1851, a gale of unequalled fury swept over Eastern New-England, and destroyed the Lighthouse at Minot's Ledge. In October, 1864, a cyclone followed by a tidal wave, destroyed 6,000 persons in Calcutta, and another 6,000 destroyed houses and seventy persons at Nassau. The great storm of February, 1861, blew down the Crystal Palace in London, and the steeple of Chichester Cathedral, and a vast amount of other damage. In England, in January, 1850, the west coast of England, was desolated by a frightful storm, in which a hundred and twenty persons lost their lives in Liverpool alone, while hundreds of houses were blown down on the Irish coast and in Dublin, a hundred vessels were destroyed in a single day. In September, 1810, a hurricane swept over the West Indies, destroying 104 vessels at St. Thomas alone. In October, 1765, Havana was visited
