

thing! When your country, our South, his birthplace and mine, is assailed by foes, he joins them. Is not that enough to turn all a man's love to gall and bitterness! And now he would win you from me—my love, my life!

"Oleah, do not so wrong your brother! I tell you truly that he does not know, he has no thought that he is opposing you," cried Irene, with an appealing look at the dark, angry face. "O, Oleah, for your mother's sake, refrain these evil thoughts." God made you a brother.

"Yes, and the devil made us enemies." It is coming at last—it has come! I have fought against it for the sake of our happy childhood, our parents, and the brothers' blood that flows in our veins, but it is useless. The fates have determined that we should hate each other, and the hatred of brothers is the hatred of devils. Irene, his voice softening, "I believe you love me though you will not speak, and Oleah seized her passionately in his embrace and raised kisses on her fair, pale face. "I must go now," he said, releasing her, "but you shall yet be mine, I swear it. Neither brother, nor father, nor mother, no power on earth shall prevent it!"

Oleah went toward the house, and Irene stood motionless, where he had left her, till the sea hid him from her sight—her eyes widely strained, her face pale with terror, her lips white and bloodless. Those wild words Oleah had spoken in his passion, those fearful words, "The hatred of brothers is the hatred of devils," seemed burning into her brain.

And this was her work! This mischief she had done! She trembled like one guilty, and the love she would not own, and she could not master, seemed to her shuddering soul a crime.

So excited was her manner that it attracted the attention of others in the room. At this moment a negro boy entered the room, where Mr. and Mrs. Tompkins were sitting with Mr. Diggs. He came wearing a strangely puzzled look. He paused and looked around. Whether he was more frightened or puzzled it would have been difficult to tell.

"Well, Job, what is it?" asked Mr. Tompkins, noticing the negro's awkward manner. "If you please, master," he said, shaking his head, "Master Abner asked Mr. Tompkins, for the boy had panicked."

"Why he—he is comin'!"

Before any one could make reply, quick steps were heard on the gravelled walk. Mr. Tompkins, noticing the servant aside, went himself to the door, and, as he opened it, heard Oleah's voice, imperious and harsh: "You are my prisoner, sir!"

"Oleah, my son, this is a matter too serious for jesting," said the father.

I am not jesting. My first duty is to my country. He is an enemy to my country, and my country's enemies are mine. My men are within call," he continued, turning to Abner. "Do you surrender?"

"Most assuredly I shall not," replied Abner.

"Then, by heavens! you shall fare no better than any other Yankee spy. You are within our lines!"

He snatched his sword from its scabbard, and before Mr. Tompkins could interpose, there was a clash.

Again the door opened, and Mrs. Tompkins and Mr. Diggs appeared, but the sight that met their eyes froze to terror the smile of welcome on the mother's lips, and sent Diggs, his radiant complacency all gone, shrinking back into the house, muttering, "Oh, Lordy, I know I shall be killed."

Clash, clash! clash, clash! the swords went, circling in the air, thrusting, crossing, clashing. Irene came flying down the path, and Mr. Tompkins sprang between and threw them apart.

"Hold!" he cried, "if you must have kindred blood, turn your swords first on me, and on your mother and sister. Abner, if your enemies are near, go. Let them not find you in your own father's house. Go at once!"

Without a word, Abner returned his sword to its scabbard and started to leave his home. His mother and Irene followed him to the gate, and, a moment later, his horse's feet were heard clattering up the hill toward Snaughtown.

Oleah, soon after, left with Mr. Diggs, to join his men. Mr. Tompkins and his wife sat in silence in the silent house, while Irene, who believed herself the guilty cause of this new sorrow, crept up to her room to weep and pray.

MOTHERS!

Castoria is recommended by physicians for children teething. It is a purely vegetable preparation, its ingredients are published around each bottle. It is pleasant to taste and absolutely harmless. It relieves constipation, regulates the bowels, quiets pain, cures diarrhoea and wind colic, allays feverishness, destroys worms, and prevents convulsions, soothes the child and gives it refreshing and natural sleep. Castoria is the children's panacea—the mother's friend. 35 doses, 35 cents.

PIOUS THOUGHTS.

Put not off till to-morrow what you can do to-day.

Early and provident fear is the mother of safety.

There are likely to be short graces where the devil plays hook.

Man may dismiss compassion from his heart, but God will never.

A man that is young in years may be old in hours, if he have lost no time.

The way by which we reach God most directly is indisputably by means of works of mercy.

We should confide in God, even to believing that if a vessel were wanting to us the sea itself would afford us a safe footing.

Virtue traverses a steep and rugged road. If not supported at every moment she will assuredly succumb.

One thing in which we may all glory is our infirmities in bearing each day the holy cross of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.

THIRTEEN MISTAKES.

- To yield to immaterial trifles. To look for perfection in your own actions. To endeavor to mold all dispositions alike. To look for judgment and experience in youth. To expect uniformity of opinion in this world. To expect to be able to understand everything. To believe only what our finite minds can grasp. To measure the enjoyment of others by your own. Not to make allowances for the infirmities of others. To consider everything impossible that we cannot perform. To worry ourselves and others with what cannot be remedied. Not to alleviate all that needs alleviating as far as lies in our power. It is a grand mistake to set up your own standard of right and wrong, and judge people accordingly.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having discovered the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested his wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellow-men. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper.—W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y. (9-13c0w)

"Ah me," he sighed, "it is a cold world. The rain falls alike on the just and the unjust." "Yes, John," said his wife, "and that ought to be a source of great consolation to you. You have no reason to complain."

I FOUND IT A SURE CURE. I have been troubled with catarrhal deafness for seven or eight years with a roaring noise in my head. I bought medicine in 13 states but nothing helped me till I procured a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. In four days I could hear as well as ever. I am cured of the catarrh as well. I consider Ely's Cream Balm the best medicine ever made.—GARRETT WIDRICK, Hastings, N. Y.

I HAVE USED Ely's Cream Balm for dry Catarrh (to which every Eastern person is subject who comes to live in a high altitude.) It has proved a cure in my case.—B. F. M. WELLS, Denver, Col.

We shall have a war with England presently, and if meanwhile J. L. Sullivan exposes that country as Mary Anderson has he shall be read out of the citizenship of Boston and all the rest of the United States.

DIPHTHERIA.

"Last January," says J. N. Temple, of Orwell, Ont., "there appeared diphtheria in our neighborhood. Doctors ran night and day, but I kept right to Hagar's Yellow Oil and brought my children through all right." Yellow Oil cures all painful complaints and injuries.

We are told that a Philadelphia Frenchman has invented a new method of walking on water. We are very glad to hear it, because we are getting weary of the old method.

RELIABLE REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM. Procure a bottle of Hagar's Yellow Oil from your medicine dealer, and use according to directions. It cured Ida Johnson, of Cornell, Ont., of that complaint, and she recommends it as a sure cure. For 25 years it has never failed to give satisfaction.

Kelly, the $10,000 baseball player of the Boston Club, has joined a negro minstrel troupe. Anyone who has heard Kelly talk will be glad that he is to be "cooked up."

Consumption Surely Cured.

To THE EDITOR:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy free to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their express and P. O. address. Respectfully, DR. T. A. SLOCUM, BRANCH OFFICE: 37 Yonge St., Toronto 32—L

A Burlington teacher told one of her boys that the next time he wrote a composition there must be some point to it. The subject of his next disquisition was "Needles."

A NARROW ESCAPE.

People who are exposed to the sudden changes of our northern climate have little chance of escaping colds, coughs, sore throat and lung troubles. The best safe-guard is to keep Hagar's Pectoral Balsam at hand. It is a quick relief and reliable cure for such complaints.

If the election had run two weeks longer there wouldn't have been a decent man outside of the Judge office in the whole city of New York.

BAD FOR BOTH.

Ladies of weakly constitution and delicate physique who attempt to suckle their infants prejudice their own health as well as enfeeble and injure their children. Lactated Food is the best sustenance for the little ones, as many physicians and mothers testify.

It is getting to be a common expression for a man to say his baby weighs a ton. It is generaly the kind of a ton that a ton of coal weighs.

Holloway's Corn Cure destroys all kinds of corns and warts, roots and branches. Who then would endure them with such a cheap and effectual remedy within reach?

A DEAD SURETHING ON FRANK GILBERT.

Frank Gilbert, of this city (Newfolk), the lucky holder of one-tenth part of ticket 51,503 in the Louisiana State Lottery, drawing $50,000 on the 13th inst., received a package yesterday by the Wells Fargo Express containing 250 crisp twenty dollar bills. Returns were made in just nine days from the time the ticket was forwarded from here for collection.—Newfolk (Neb.) News, Sept. 29th.

TOBACCO AND THE HEART.

Dr. Frenzel, of Berlin, reporting on the effects of immoderate smoking upon the heart, says that smoking, as a rule, agrees with persons for many years, although by degrees cigars of a finer flavor are chosen. But all at once, without any assignable cause, troubles are experienced with the heart, which compel the calling in of the doctor. Common cigars are not so liable to produce these effects as the finer flavored ones. Nor can the charge be laid upon cigarettes, although they produce evils of their own. The troubles seldom begin till after the smoker is over 30 years of age, and most usually attack him at between 50 and 60. While it has not been determined what it is that makes smoking injurious, it appears certain that the effect does not depend upon the amount of nicotine.—Pall Mall Gazette.

THE FIRST LIGHTNING ROD.

If we are to believe an Australian paper the first lightning rod was not constructed by Franklin, but by a monk of Seuffenberg, in Bohemia, named Prokop Divisch, who installed an apparatus the 15th of June, 1754, in the garden of the curate of Prenditz (Moravia). The apparatus was composed of a pole surmounted by an iron rod supporting twelve curved-up branches, and terminating in as many metallic boxes, filled with iron ore and closed by a box-wood cover, traversed by twenty-seven sharp iron points, which plunged at their base in the iron ore. All the system was united to the earth by a large chain. The enemies of Divisch, jealous of his success at the court of Vienna, excited the peasants of the locality against him, and under the pretext that his lightning rod was the cause of the great drought, they made him take down the lightning rod which he had utilized for six years. What is most curious in the form of this first lightning rod, which was of multiple points like the one which M. Melson afterward invented.

What Toronto's well-known Good Samaritan says: "I have been troubled with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint for over 20 years, and I have tried many remedies, but never found an article that has done me as much good as Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure." CLARA E. PORTER.

"Are you and Miss Smith engaged?" inquired a young man of his chum. "Report says so." "Well, she sent me a true lover's knot." "Ah! that looks like business." "Y-e-s, but she spelled it without a 'k'."

IF YOU WOULD BE HAPPY.

Beware of the man of two faces. Persevere against discouragement. In all promised pleasures, put salt last. Trust in God and mind your own business. Pray for a short memory as to all unkindnesses. Do not talk of your private, personal or family matters. Put not your trust in money, but put your money in trust. Cultivate forbearance till your heart yields a fine crop of it. Give your tongue more holiday than your hands or your eyes. Examine into your own shortcomings rather than those of others. Act as if you expected to live a hundred years, but might die to-morrow. Compare your manifold blessings with the trifling annoyances of each day. Do the duty that lies nearest thee; thy second duty will already have become clearer. Be content to do the things you can, and fret not because you can not do everything. Never reply in kind to a sharp or angry word; it is the second word that makes the quarrel.

Make the best of what you have, and do not make yourself miserable by wishing for what you have not.

Jacob H. Bloomer, of Virgille, N. Y., writes:—"Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil cured a badly swollen neck and sore throat on my son in forty-eight hours; one application also removed the pain from a very sore toe; my wife's foot was also much inflamed—so much so that she could not walk about the house; she applied the Oil, and in twenty-four hours was entirely cured."

At the Railway Refreshment Room.—A traveller avails himself of a three-minute's halt to call for a basin of broth for which he pays in advance. The liquid is boiling hot, nevertheless he tries to drink it, when he sees the waiter running up excitedly saying:—"I must inform Monsieur that if Monsieur drinks the broth it is fifty centimes extra."

That latent fever or fluid, which permeates all matter, and which bears the conventional name of Electricity, is widely appreciated and recognized as a means of cure in various diseases. Its effects in the form of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil are shown by the relief of pain, both Neuralgic and Rheumatic, as well as the throat and lungs, and in various other healing ways.

FORTY YEARS AGO.

There was time to live. Men slept yet in their beds. The epoch of haste had not come. The saddle was the emblem of speed. A day's journey was a serious matter. Hrnwa and brains went hand in hand. No house contained a sewing machine. We were still a nation of handworkers. The highway was dusty and populous. The canvas-covered wagon was the ark of trade. The turnpike was still the great artery of trade. There was not a mow or harrow in existence. The land was lighted with candles after night-fall. Butter was unmarketable 100 miles from the dairy. The day began with the dawn and not the train's arrival. The steam sawmill had just begun to devour the forest. The lord of a thousand acres sat with his harvesters at dinner. The spinning wheel and shuttle sounded in every farmer's house. The telegraph had begun in Washington and ended in New York twelve months before. He who counted his possessions by the square mile kept open house for the wayfarer. From east to west was the pilgrimage of a life; from north to south was a voyage of discovery. The rich were lavish in an abundance which was not yet coveted by the keen eye of commerce.

Much distress and sickness in children is caused by worms. Mother Graves' Worm Expeller gives relief by removing the cause. Give it a trial and be convinced.

CRUELTY OF CHECK REINS.

Do away with the check rein. The head should be free from restraint and carried naturally. The horse will not tire so quickly, and the convenience at watering troughs is great.

A horse looks just as well with its head in a natural position, and often better, and it is far more comfortable for the animal. A horse with its head free can draw a load more easily, and increase the leverage by lowering its head.

A tight check will almost bring on paralysis in the neck, and it must be exceedingly painful to keep the muscles and cords strained to one tension all the time. It is cruel.

If people are so unwise as to torture themselves at the caprice of fashion, for the sake of humanity don't torture the animals put in your care. It is not any the less a sin because a dumb beast is the victim. Cruelty is cruelty anywhere.—Youth's Companion.

FACES AS YELLOW as that of the "Heathen Chinese," in consequence of bile in the blood, grow fair and wholesome-looking again when Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and great blood purifier is used to relax constipated bowels and expel the bilious poison from the circulation. Rheumatic and blood impurities are also driven out by its digestion, and the system benefited in every way by its use.

HOW O'BRIEN IS TREATED. DUNNAN, Nov. 9.—James O'Brien, of the Peace Egan has paid a visit to Mr. O'Brien in the prison hospital at Tallmore, and states that he found him looking exceedingly ill. O'Brien told him that he had not had a change of linen since he entered the prison. The governor of the jail, who was present, replied that he could have a change if he wished, meaning that he could have the prison clothes.

Herr Windthorst has thrown down the gauntlet once more to Bismarck. He has prepared a bill giving the exclusive management of Catholic schools to the clergy. This bold measure is received with dismay by all ministerial organs, who charge the Jesuits with being god-fathers of the bill. These are not a Jesuit in Germany to-day, still they manage to keep the political pot boiling over, blinding and scalding their enemies. Wonderful Jesuits!

So rapidly does lung irritation spread and deepen that often in a few weeks a single cough terminates in tubercular consumption. Give heed to a cough; there is always danger in delay. Get a bottle of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and cure yourself. It is a medicine unsurpassed for all throat and lung troubles. It is compounded from several herbs, each one of which stands at the head of the list as exerting a wonderful influence in curing consumption and all lung diseases.

It is said that imitations of fruit will be much used for trimming homes this autumn. Good taste suggests that not more than two water-melons and one pumpkin be used in trimming a bonnet less than six inches square.

A well known Evangelical clergyman, on being accused of leaving toward Universalism, replied that he hoped everybody would go to heaven, "and," said he, "there are some persons I wish were there now."

PROGRESS THE SPIRIT OF THE AGE!

PRESENTED WITH A COMMEMORATIVE MEDAL TO OWEN MCGARVEY & SON, FOR FINE FURNITURE.

If we have not advertised so extensively of late, it is for good reasons. For instance, the great increase in our sales since the first of the year, has kept us exceedingly busy, and has been such as to enable us now to say that it is altogether unprecedented, even with us, during any portion of the past forty-four years of our business life, which has necessitated the many additions, alterations and improvements, and which, when completed shortly, will render our wholesale and retail Furniture Warerooms, without exception, the largest, finest and best adapted for the Furniture trade in the Dominion—equal, in fact, to any in the United States.

THE LATEST IMPROVEMENT.

In addition to the six-storey wing added in rear of our warerooms, we have now made additional Show-rooms on the fifth floor, formerly used as finishing-rooms, for the display of Chamber Suites and Chamber Furniture only.

SOME FIGURES.

The rooms are 100 feet deep by 60 feet wide, which will enable us to make the best display of Mahogany, Oak, Black Walnut, Cherry, African Ash, and the newest styles of the medium and low-priced Suites yet shown to the public in any part of the Dominion. Prices will range from $25, $30, $40, $50, $60, $75, $100, $150, $200, $250, and up to $1500. We are also fitting up

FOUR ART ROOMS.

For the more effective display of the finer grades of Furniture, which will be lit by chandeliers or electric light, to show the effect of gas or other artificial light upon the various articles, we being determined to leave nothing undone that either capital or energy can accomplish to place our business on the very best basis.

WHAT ADEQUATE CAPITAL DOES.

The advantages of purchasing stock in the largest quantities and for net cash, enable us to mark our goods at, and in many cases below, what similar goods cost many in the trade. This advantage has secured for us during the past few years, but especially during the present year, the largest sales yet made by us, and which necessitated the further extensive additions to our premises upon which we are at present engaged. When finished we shall refer thereto again, and possibly invite both

PRESS AND PUBLIC

To examine and corroborate our statements, and if, after examination of our stock and improvements, they may prove to be not only what we describe them, but to exceed even the most sanguine expectations, we trust to receive their recommendation.

MORE ARRIVING.

We are now receiving the largest, the most varied and expensive assortment of bent wood Chairs and Furniture from Vienna, Austria, ever shipped to this port. Also, the largest stock of Brass and Iron Bedsteads, Crisps and Swing Cots, Reclining Chairs and other Iron Furniture, from Birmingham, England, per steamers due next week.

A GREAT ARRAY.

As we have made the finer grades of Parlor, Chamber and Library Furniture a specialty during the past few years, we feel it only necessary to state that our Warerooms are again stocked with a complete assortment of upholstered goods. Our stock of fine coverings is acknowledged the best yet seen in this country, and we will add to them in a few weeks some of the very finest materials from the best manufacturers of Paris and London.

NO CLIMBING OF STAIRS.

Our new Passenger Elevator, being among our late improvements, is found most convenient at all seasons, but especially in hot weather, to carry patrons to any or all of our six flats of showrooms. Respectfully awaiting a call of inspection of stock and prices at our oldest, largest and admittedly the cheapest Wholesale and Retail Furniture Warerooms. We are, respectfully,

OWEN MCGARVEY & SON, 1849, 1851 and 1853 Notre Dame Street, corner McGill Street, Montreal.

P.S.—We are clearing out the balance of 500 Baby Carriages, at very much reduced prices, and some of them the best yet introduced to the public, ranging in price from $10, $12, $16, $25, $35, $45, $50, $75 and $85, a most suitable present for grandpas and grandmas, and even from old babblers, to their favorite baby friends.
