. . . that EXTERNALLY YOURS, the House Organ of our Department, is sponsored by the External Affairs Recreation Organization. It first appeared in April 1954 under the editorship of Mary Harding (Information Division). The title EXTERNALLY YOURS was submitted by Mr. Graham McInnes and was chosen by the Minister (Mr. Pearson) from many entries in the competition to choose a suitable title for our publication. In March 1955, Georgette Lamoureux (Information Division) became associate editor.

In the Spring of 1955, when Mary left the Department to become Mrs. E.F. Jackson, Alison Hardy (Press Office) replaced her. At Miss Hardy's request, Mr. Jean Chapdelaine (then assistant Under-Secretary of State) agreed to act as "guide, philosopher and friend" or Managing Editor.

After Alison's departure for Washington, the publication was discontinued. In 1958, Mr. Keith MacLellan revived it and published two issues before going to Los Angeles as consul.

In subsequent years, several attempts were made towards its re-appearance but without success. Last summer, a new and energetic P.R. man on the EARO Executive enlisted the help of some of the editors in the Information Division in an endeavour to revive it once more. This new Managing Editor is Mr. J.R. Mitchell (Consular Division). At present, the editors are Noëlla Bélanger and Georgette Boudreault. Any technical problem encountered in the production is the responsibility of Julia Groves. Production and distribution are done in Production Services under the supervision of Mr. A.L. Hall. Pauline Richard is the varitype compositor who sets up the articles in such an elegant manner.

Those are the people who, on top of their daily drudgery, have undertaken to make this departmental publication as attractive and interesting as possible.

So far, most of those who have been asked for an article or a contribution have accepted willingly and cooperated fully. They have our sincere gratitude.

This issue brings to you a "breath of Spring" from different parts of the world. Our next issue will appear in June and will make you wander about South America. An appeal for articles is hereby made to those who have trodden that part of our continent. Articles should be in our hands by May 15th.
