Fushimi Thru a Woman's Eyes.

The advent of Prince Fushimi yesterday was the signal for much enthusiasm on the part of the crowds gathered at the station and along the route of the procession. The women especially appeared enthusiastic, and when the stately little Japanese prince, followed by his suite, many a feminine neck was craned to catch a sight of him. No one was disappointed. Something in his bearing makes an instant appeal to the feminine heart. The not beyond middle height, his perfect carriage, his commanding erectness with the subtle grace and litheness of every motion which distinguishes the Oriental woman, all actually handsome, the prince has a powerful, thoughtful face, more than of the bulldog type of Englishman, but decidedly alive in form. His eyes are not narrow or small, but remarkably keen and penetrating. Something in his polished manner of response to the Frenchman, a suggestion carried out by his black mustache, in build he is strong and athletic-looking—the very picture one would say, of a soldier.

The advent of the prince draws a crowd to his country, and the customs of Japan are of particular interest to women of other lands, as they contain a remarkable example of how the condition of women may change from one generation to another. A hundred years ago Japanese women, while treated with respect in the household, had little to do with the outer world. Nowadays, the girls have their colleges, universities and pursuits, even in athletics, as do the men. Recently a young Japanese lady graduated from our own medical college in Toronto, in order to return to her native land to teach. Women of the Samurai class, which was formerly most conservative, have latterly entered professions as teachers and nurses. The Samurai class were the supporters and, as it were, retainers of the nobles. Under altered conditions, they enter trade and have proved successful in it. The Empress of Japan has shown interest in hospitals and schools, and visited such institutions of late years, even cutting down her personal expenses to support these charities.

Girl students in Japan present many interesting problems. A great number of them have rushed into the various professions, but insufficient means, and many thousands are turned away yearly from schools in Tokyo. Our Y. M. C. A. in Japan is endeavoring to supply boarding houses for the girls and means of tuition, as the situation is absolutely acute. A little while ago a party of twelve girls, for help, the women students in the cities of Canada. Japanese girls are exceedingly progressive. Formerly many forms of accomplishments were left entirely to the geisha girls, which are now assumed by all classes. A feature of Japanese periodicals is the occasional printing of pictures of Japanese college girls, sometimes attired in cap and gown, as we know them, but often more gracefully arrayed in their native dress.

ROYAL TRAIN A BEAUTY

And the First Real Government-Owned Train That Has Entered Toronto.

The royal train which created so much attention was composed of seven cars, occupied by a strict "stag" party of about forty. It was the first real government-owned train that ever arrived in Toronto, a fact which was emphasized by railway officials. Since his imperial highness boarded this train at Quebec it has stuck to him like a faithful spaniel. Five of the cars of the Intercolonial Railway, which never saw Toronto before, are retaining this morning for the blue nose regions to resume their usual grind as a portion of the regular equipment and service on the Intercolonial Railway to which it may be said, by the way, that they are a distinct credit. They are the cars that have been ordinarily used on the Ocean Limited, and their general appearance was pleasing. The other two cars were those known as the Governor-General's. They are the "Cornwall" and the "York," and were occupied by Prince Fushimi and his suite, who were greatly pleased with the attention to their comfort, and expressed themselves accordingly. The prince, third his interpreters, loaded the railway service. He can't get away with the English language himself, but he can smile appreciation. His interpreter, who was at his office in the city, gave our tongue at their finger ends as it were, so far as understanding goes, can't exactly tell it, but it is evident that they are all interested in the trip. The train, which was a break for a sail in the Thousand Islands, at Kingston, on to Niagara Falls and back to Toronto, a railway service was given which would be considered a marvel by anyone who lives in this country, and his imperial highness and party saw what we can do in that respect if we want to. The imperial party was greatly pleased by the attention of the Kingston R.M. cadets, who took charge of his imperial highness' carriage and hauled it to the station.

LONG SEARCH FOR MOTHER.

Brockville Man Successful After a Five Years' Hunt.

BROCKVILLE, June 12.—(Special.)—After a search of nearly five years Jos. Paszperik, a Hungarian, 26 years of age, has been successful in finding his mother, and altho she is demented she fully recognized her boy, and it was a most pathetic reunion that occurred between mother and son at the St. Lawrence State Hospital.

Mrs. Paszperik left her home in Hungary 21 years ago. Her husband had died, leaving her with three children, Joseph, then five years of age, being the eldest. She sailed for America alone, the children remaining with relatives in their native land. Shortly after landing in New York she became insane, and was committed, under her maiden name, Marie Wallie. Five years ago her son sailed for this country and is now located at Quebec. He immediately upon his arrival began a search for his mother, and recently learning that a woman under his mother's maiden name was an inmate of the St. Lawrence State Hospital he made the trip to the institution. At first Marie Wallie did not recognize him, but as he talked to her in her native tongue, he recounted scenes and incidents of their past life in the home in Hungary. The mother seemed to remember and after a little recognized her son, and they were happily united in fond embraces. Paszperik has secured his mother's discharge and together they left for Quebec. He is now in the intention to take his mother back to her old home across the sea.

MAY PROSECUTE HARRIMAN

Charge Will Be Violation of Anti-Trust Law.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—It is probable that the government will begin proceedings under the Anti-Trust Act against E. H. Harriman and his associates for violation of the law in connection with the so-called Chicago and Alton Railroad deal. The Union and Southern Pacific transactions, and perhaps in connection with the Southern Pacific and perhaps the San Pedro trade agreement.

In the event of an adverse decision as to some points common to both and the government decides that the law as it stands is inadequate to fully cover the case, it is more than probable that congress at its coming session will be asked to amend the law so as to meet the present situation.

THEOLOGICAL COLLEGE

A NECESSITY IN B.C.

Assembly Appoint Committee—Work Among the Mormon Colonies.

MONTREAL, June 12.—(Special.)—This was the General Assembly's busy day. The tendency towards infatuation with talk was somewhat restrained by the formidable dock of business. The admirable spirit of the commissioners was exemplified by Principal Scribner's apology for hasty language used in the day before. Dr. Sedgwick said that in the heat of debate such an occurrence was not remarkable. He always allowed such incidents to pass out of mind, but he was very glad, most cordially, to accept the reference made.

Dr. Wardlaw Taylor introduced the report of the committee on theological college for British Columbia. In the report it was pointed out that one of the most serious handicaps under which the work of the church is prosecuted in the middle and far west is the lack of continuous home mission supply. The mission fields are diligently served during the summer months, but with the departure of the students for college in the autumn, they are left in a lamentably large number of instances, without regular supply, during the winter months.

The committee believe that this difficulty which is bound to become more acute as the rapid development of the country proceeds, might be overcome in large measure by the establishment of a course of theological teaching carried on during the summer months. The assembly decided to found the college, a committee, with Prof. Dyde as chairman, being appointed to carry out the project.

Grants for Ottawa College.

Rev. Dr. Armstrong presented this report of the Ottawa Ladies' College, which was adopted. The report asked for two expenditures necessary to the expansion of the college. One is an extensive building program upon the building of additional accommodation, without which the growth of the college would be arrested, and its work in various departments crippled.

The other was suggested in which the college might be helped, and a benevolent purpose served, was by the establishing of bursaries for worthy pupils, especially for ministers' and missionaries' daughters.

St. Andrew's College, Toronto, was commended by Principal Gordon.

In his closing remarks the report of a thousand dollars for the building in Northern Ontario was set apart. E. D. McLaren reported that 32 men from Britain were coming out for mission work in September, and 45 more were available. It was agreed to appoint a superintendent for British Columbia, and to leave Dr. Hendman free for Alberta.

More Damnation Than Salvation.

Rev. C. S. Eby, D.D., of the international reform bureau, addressed the assembly. He declared that the nations sent out more damnation than salvation to the heathen. One-third of China was rotted by opium intoxicants and vice was worse than war and pestilence.

An agent to meet immigrants at St. John during the winter was arranged.

Mormonism was discussed once more and Dr. Somerville denied that he or Prof. Kilpatrick had made a statement to the effect that the Mormons were polygamists. He declared that the effect of polygamy was practiced in Canada. Rev. F. A. Watson, Thameston, contended that the Mormons had one doctrine, and that the public and another for their private teaching. It was generally held that no impression could be made upon Mormons by missionaries.

The story of the effect of the war was by having non-Mormon settlers take up residence among them, but they should be clear-headed people.

The resolution of the Congregational Union, consisting of Charles Cushing, president of the union; Rev. Hugh Pedley and Rev. E. H. Tippet, addressed the assembly and were accorded a resolution of greeting.

Mr. Pedley, in his remarks, said the issues at stake between the Congregational and the Presbyterians were greater than between the Presbyterians and Methodists. There was an old Scotch phrase about the crowned rights of the Redeemer, they wished to carry with them, the citizens' rights of the redeemed, and also what Jeremy Taylor called the liberty of prophesying.
