

TWAS LUTGERT'S DAY

Important Statement Came From Nebraska.

A LAWYER FROM TEKEMAH

Who is Quite Positive That Mrs. Luetgert Called Upon Him.

The Woman Was Poorly Clad and Wanted to Enter Suit for Divorce in That State, Where Divorce is Easy—She Had Her Husband Lived in Chicago and Was Wealthy—Husband was Flying About That Perjury Has Been Committed by Witnesses for the Defense.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—The court proceedings opened to-day with the appearance upon the witness stand of Dr. Clarence Butcherford, the Luetgert family physician. He testified as to Mrs. Luetgert's physical condition, stating that she was in fairly good health.

Armada Opdyke, a fruit vendor from near Janesville, Wis., said that in May he was in the vicinity of Lake Zurich, near Janesville, with a horse and wagon. On the night of May 9 he camped out, sleeping out in his wagon. In a small grove near him he saw two women. They were lying on the ground and said they were going to remain there during the night. Opdyke said he carried an animal of his from his wagon to the women and they made a bed of it. The witness positively and unconditionally identified the photograph of Mrs. Luetgert as one of the women he saw in the woods near Lake Zurich the night of May 9.

Maagie Shaugnessy of No. 1348 North Roby-street was put on the witness stand to strengthen the impeached evidence against Emma Schimpke. The witness was with Emma Schimpke and Rosa Glick at the dance in West Hall, opposite Luetgert's sawmill, the night of May 9. She said she saw Luetgert in the bar room of the place, and that she and Emma Schimpke left the hall about 9 o'clock and went home. Consequently Emma Schimpke could not have been Luetgert and his wife on the night of May 9.

Marcus Heinemann added the weight of his testimony to that of others who have told how Mrs. Luetgert had frequently said she was going away from her home because Luetgert had failed. On April 28, the witness said, Mrs. Luetgert told him she was going away.

Dr. B. L. Riese, one of the medical experts of the defense, testified as to experiments he made at the Luetgert factory and elsewhere with bones and other material found in and about the vat.

INTIMATIONS OF PERJURY.

Remors Around the Court Buildings in Chicago Which May Mean Trouble.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—Intimations that perjury had been committed by witnesses for the defense in the Luetgert murder trial were heard around the Criminal Court building to-day, coupled with a suggestion of grand jury investigation. It was said that the prosecution's only count against the defendant, the indictment of Mrs. Luetgert, was based on the grand jury now in session. During the time Mrs. Luetgert was on the witness stand she was questioned sharply by Assistant States-Attorney McEwen relative to her testimony before the grand jury which indicted Luetgert. She admitted that her story before that body, as well as the evidence she gave before Justice Keenan, who held Luetgert for trial, was different in material points from the evidence she gave at the present trial. The explanation of the discrepancy was that Inspector Schaack had threatened her when she appeared before the grand jury, telling her that if she did not testify against Luetgert she would be punished.

Inspector Schaack denounced this statement as utterly false. The daily crowd at the entrance to the Criminal Court building to-day was even larger than usual. It was about equally divided as to sex.

SAYS HE SAW MRS. LUTGERT.

An Attorney From Tekamah, Neb., Believes the Woman Called on Him.

Tekamah, Neb., Sept. 28.—H. Wade Gills, an attorney of this place, claims that he saw Mrs. Luetgert on the night of May 9, the night she was charged with the murder of her husband, long after the woman's body is supposed to have been boiled to pieces in the sausage factory. He says the woman came to him in the latter part of May and consulted him about getting a divorce. His story is as follows:

"I think I saw this woman who is said to have been murdered. Perhaps I can do the accused husband no good, for I may not be able to convince the jury that I saw Mrs. Luetgert, but if I did not see the woman I saw a person who resembles her in every particular. Why did I not speak of it before? For the very good reason that it never occurred to me that the woman I saw was Mrs. Luetgert until I came to court to-day. She was very nervous and heard the woman described by one of the witnesses. Then I hunted up a photograph of Mrs. Luetgert, and was certain that I knew some important facts about the case.

"His Time Was Precious. I said nothing about it at the time. Why? Because I was in charge of the business, and our court opens here to-day, and I could not afford to be detained in Chicago. I was very busy. I told all those lawyers who I knew I might not have got home for a month. About noon on May 27 or 28, I am not certain which, a woman, poorly clad in a black dress, entered my office here. She said she wanted to consult me about a divorce suit. She was very nervous, laboring apparently under great mental excitement.

"She said she lived in Chicago, where her husband was wealthy. She had left her husband because of his cruelty, and was anxious to know if her describing him would give her chances for securing a divorce and the custody of her two children. She said she had two boys, whom she wanted.

"She wanted to get a divorce. She said she had come to this State because she understood it was easy to get a divorce here. She said she had no money, but could get some, and desired to know the full cost of such a thing. I told her, and she inquired the way to an hotel, saying she would return in the afternoon and close the case. I intended to ask her more about herself when she returned. She did not tell me her name, and all the time seemed to want to avoid publicity. That was the last I saw of her.

"When I was in the court room in Chicago Wednesday last, I was given the description of Mrs. Luetgert by one of the witnesses I was satisfied that my strange visitor was the wife of the salesman.

"When I got to Omaha last night I wired to the attorneys for the defense, telling them part of what I have here recited. They wired me to come to Chicago at once."

Vincennes is Elated. Chicago, Sept. 28.—Attorney Vincent of the defense is elated over the news from Tekamah, Neb. He has not decided whether to have Attorney Gills make a deposition in Burt County, Neb., or have him come to Chicago as a witness to testify regarding the woman he believes was Mrs. Luetgert.

DO YOU WEAR PANTS?

Pants

Backed by the thousands of gentlemen who wear Hobberlin-made pants, we think we are justified in claiming that we have panting make just about at point perfection—it costs us more to make the good pants we make than some tailors pay who charge you more for pants to order than we do—but it pays us to be liberal with the workman and the customer, because you get better made garments—you get satisfaction—you come again—you tell others—they come and are satisfied, and business grows, and the little profit from many people is better than the much from a few—for us and for you alike. OF INTEREST TO BICYCLISTS.

Judge Morson Says There is No Law as to Which Side of the Street a Vehicle May Take.

Judge Morson yesterday rendered a judgment in the Division Court of Interest to cyclists. James Millar, cyclist, was riding east on College-street near Beverley-street behind a street car. The latter stopped at Beverley-street and Millar took the devil strip, passed the car and ran into Hackman McNeerney's horse. His wheel was injured and he sued for $50. Witness proved that the cab drove up Beverley-street and crossed College-street on the wrong side. Judge Morson ruled that the cyclist was in the wrong. His opinion was that the cyclist should have been seen to pass a car on such a portion and took a risk in so doing. He dismissed the case with costs.

TORONTO'S PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Committee Decides Against the Teaching of Religion—More Maps Required.

The Public School Board's Committee on Inspection, with Dr. Noble in the chair, met yesterday afternoon and was interested chiefly in the question of religious instruction in schools, shall it not be allowed? Their opinion was that it would not be in the interests of the Public Schools that any portion of the regular school hours should be devoted to the giving of denominational or sectarian instruction to the pupils.

Dr. Noble visited one of the schools a day or so ago, and was horrified to find some of the pupils without any practical knowledge of geography. "Stand up and face the south," said the pro tem inspector to a bright-looking enough boy, but the boy looked agast and knew not which way to turn.

Repeated failures in receiving answers to similar questions convinced Dr. Noble that more maps are required, a recommendation for such was registered.

Along the Water Front.

Many visitors from Hamilton came to the Macassa to the races yesterday. There was a large crowd. The John Hanlan brought from Jordan yesterday 300 baskets of fruit. The Lake Erie also had a good crop. The Persia came from St. Catharines with a full cargo of fruit and a very good passenger list. She left in the afternoon for the coast.

In his address to the jury Judge McDougall said it would not be the province of the jury to find a man guilty of a crime if he was found guilty. He was charged with having killed a man on the head, and one who did that was dead to fair play and beyond the pale of ordinary humanity.

The grand jury yesterday brought in a verdict against John W. Hoos, charged with theft. John Baldwin, Thomas Reid and Thomas Spanton were put on trial yesterday afternoon, charged with assaulting Police Constable Robert Yule on July 22 last. The three men, it is alleged, were disoriented, and when Yule interfered they set upon him and beat him, cutting his head in two places. The case will continue to-day.
