EMPRESS DOWAGER'S FUNERAL SOLEMN AND IMPOSING RITES

Remains Placed in the Tomb Beside Those of Her Husband in . the Mausoleum of Friedenskirche-Only a Glimpse of Procession Got by Public.

Potsdam, Aug. 13.—The remains of the Dowager-Empress Frederick were interred to-day beside those of her husband in the mausoleum of Friedenskirche, near Potsdam. Between 8 and 10 o'clock this morning the bells of all the churches in Potsdam were tolled, with short intervals of rest. Shortly before 10.30 Emperor William, the other members of the royal family, and the visiting Princes assembled in the royal hall at the Wild Park Railroad station. The High Court officials, military dignitaries, Count Von Buelow, and other members of the cabinet, the Knights of the Black Eagle and the members of the Reichstag assembled at 10.25 o'clock in an adjacent hall. Soon after 10 o'clock the special train ordered by the Emperor to bring the invited guests from Berlin reached Wild Park station. Among the guests, the foreign ambassadors made striking figure, wearing their highest official uniforms. The United States ambassador, Andrew D. White, however, was attired in simple black. At 10.30 o'clock the signal was given that the funeral train was approaching. Conversation, which had hitherto been carried on in suppressed tones, entirely ceased and an air of great solemnity possessed the company. The train rolled in slowly and noiselessly. Twenty non-commissioned dofficers of the Dowager-Empress' Hussar Regiment No. 2 came forward and the enumbile arrived from the new palace. Splendid Show.

After the military came the highest clerical dignitaries of Berlin, including Dr. Dryander, the court preacher, and Bishop Assemann, the highest Catholic military chaplain, in a resplendant purple robe.

Over the head of the coffin were the Imperial colors, on which was the crown of state of massive gold and heavily jeweled. Also on the colors was a wreath deposited there by Emperor William at Cronberg, and two other wreaths.

Behind the coffin marched the Emperor, with head erect, and displaying the greatest self-possession and dignity, but his face was pale and sorrowful, and he gazed straightforward in a serious manner.

King Edward, who was on the Emperor's left, walked heaviluy, and evidently found the march fatiguing.

Mr. Crane divided the claimants into three classes—those deported for cause other than the plot against Lord Roberts; those wrongfully deported, and those accused of complicity in the plot. He objected to the term "act of grace," used by Chairman Milvain, saying it was an act of diplomacy for the preservation of the comity of nations. If in diplomacy an ambassador was told his government's representations were only considered as an "act of grace," it might be dangerous. Less than that had produced war.

Sir John Ardagh, the representative of the Foreign Office, contended that Dr. Conroy's expedition was composed of men who threw away their Red Cross badges and joined the fighting Boers. A Real Novelty.

A novelty of any description is thoroughly appreciated, but more especially so in the amusement line, of which there are a few. The one that enjoys the distinction of possessing really more novelty and interesting features is Prof. Gentry's Famous Dog and Pony Show, which comes to this city for one week, starting Monday night, Aug. 19. Prof. Gentry's Show always has been and will continue to be the foremost trained animal exhibition of the world. This season finds it positively better than before, and nearly twice as large. Tents will be located on old college grounds, corner King and John-streets.

The educational possibilities.

The educational possibilities of the brute creation have probably been reached by Prof. Gentry, who is known all over the land as a wonderful trainer of animals. His latest effort, however, is said to be decidedly his best one. In educating the troupe of baby elephants which form an important part in the performance this season, he has entirely eclipsed all former efforts in this line. They perform some wonderful feats never before attempted by these clumsy animals.
