Commissioner Fisher said this morning that he expected that the surface of King street would be finished by the holidays, provided there was no unlooked for delay. In Adelaide street a start was made this morning on the laying of the asphalt surface to the pavement.

CAPT CARTER HOME.

Captain A. W. Carter, son of E. S. Carter, of Fair Vale, was among those who returned from overseas aboard the S. S. Scotian, arriving at Quebec on Sunday. He was attending Oxford University as Rhodes scholar from the U. N. B., when war broke out, and joined with many others from that institution, a mounted unit, the King Edward Horse. He served in France, but on his return to England some time ago was made an instructor, in which capacity he has since been serving.

In connection with the resolution referred to elsewhere as passed at last night's meeting of the G. W. V. A. asking for the granting of a bonus to cover the extra cost of living caused by the war, an amendment was made which caused a slight difference in the text. Instead of the clause asking that "this branch request the government to grant a bonus to those serving overseas," another was made calling upon the parliamentary committee at present considering the increase of the war gratuity to take the facts stated in the resolution into consideration. And the amendment further asked that the dominion executive take up the matter with the parliamentary committee.

THIRD WIFE BRINGS ASSAULT CHARGE BUT IT IS DISMISSED

Carleton Case Occupies Police Court Attention—U. S. Official Perfers Assault Charge Against Man

In the police court this morning Edward Shubert was charged with assaulting his wife. The latter told the court that the matter started over a camera owned by one of the boys, and which she wished to use, but her husband pulled her hair and shook her. This was on Sunday night. She said he told her to go away and not to come back again. She said they were married on June 11 last, and they live at 196 Ludlow street, West St. John.

Shubert was put on the stand. He said he was in bed about 1030 when his wife came in and he asked her where she had been and she told him that she had been out with some friends. He said that he asked his wife not to use the camera so often, as it cost too much to keep it up. He said she then slapped him across the face, and as he turned "was going to give me another larder" when he called on her to stop.

About another assault, Mr. Shubert said that he came home to supper on Friday night and there was a letter for him from his sister-in-law in Fredericton concerning his little girl of another marriage. He added, "this is my third. Your Honor." He said he wanted to have the girl at home with him, but his wife said the two boys were enough and he could put the girl in a home. He said he told her he would not and, at this, she threw a cup of hot cocoa at him and she threw a pitcher, then went out in the kitchen and began breaking the dishes on the floor. Mr. Shubert said, "all I did was yell stop! stop!"

When asked by the magistrate how long he knew this woman before he married her, he answered, "not more than twenty-four hours; she was recommended to me by another woman." He said, "I did not know my second wife much longer and she was a good woman."

The magistrate, in describing the actions of young girls in the city, said: "Last night there were 103 girls on the warpath."

Rev. W. R. Robinson said he has known Mr. Shubert for the last eleven years and that he is a most respectable citizen. He says he knew his other two wives, was at their bed-sides when they passed away, and their last words were terms of highest praise for their husband.

Henry Smith said that he was an eye-witness of the alleged assault on Friday night. He said he was called into the house by one of Mr. Shubert's boys. He said he found the kitchen in a deplorable state, dishes broken on the floor, table broken, and everything scattered around; while he was there he saw Mrs. Shubert throw a plate at Mr. Shubert, who did not attempt to defend himself, but yelled, "stop! stop!"

Kenneth and Leonard Shubert corroborated the statements made by their father.

The case against the husband was dismissed. J. W. Tait appeared for Mr. Shubert.

Frederic Isaac, of Brussels street, was charged with assaulting Arthur Watkins, U. S. Immigration official, on August 3. The complainant said that on last Sunday morning he was leaving his house at 810 Brussels street and saw Fred Isaac in company with Michael Mitchell coming out of alleyway at a block away. Mitchell, he said, went into a house at the corner of Hanover and Brussels streets, and Isaac walked toward the complainant, but hesitated and was about to go into a house. Mr. Watkins said he started to go by, but Isaac assaulted him, struck at his eye, broke his straw hat and knocked it off. The witness also said that Isaac used profane language to him. He said that he looked for a policeman, but there was none in sight. The case was postponed until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Wm. Ryan appeared for Mr. Watkins.

John Crosby was charged with stealing harness from Edward Hogan's livery stable, Union street. Mr. Hogan said that on Saturday morning he missed a set of driving harness and other articles of harness. The case was postponed until other witnesses can be summoned.

Two men charged with drunkenness were remanded.

HAYES CASE IS BEING HEARD

At the resumed sitting of the Supreme Court today, His Honor Judge Crockett presiding, the case of the King vs. Jack Hayes was again taken up. The accused is charged with assaulting Sheriff Wilson. A grand jury summoned by the Hon. W. F. Roberts as coroner, found a true bill, and the prisoner was immediately put upon his trial.

Evidence for the prosecution was given by Sheriff Wilson, Deputy Sheriff Clifford and Clarence Ferguson, clerk of the county court. The court adjourned at noon until 230 o'clock, but the case will not be finished this afternoon, as Daniel Mullin, K. C., who is appearing for the defendant, announced that he had a witness coming from Truro, who would not be available until tomorrow morning. Dr. W. B. Wallace is appearing for the Crown.
