Under this arrangement the Rev. Mr. Parlee would cease serving the church at Westfield Beach and take in its place the whole of Greenwich. This move the parishioners of Westfield resent. PROVINCIAL RIFLEMEN.

The Annual Meeting of the New Brunswick Association.

Report of the Council on the Year's Work-Government Grant Asked For-Officers Elected.

The annual meeting of the New Brunswick Provincial Rifle association was held Oct. 24 at the office of the president, Major John H. Parks. The president occupied the chair and there were present: Lt. Col. Armstrong, Lt. Col. Tucker, Major Markham, Major Magee, Capt. McRobbie, Capt. Lordly, Capt. Thompson, Capt. Smith. Capt. Hartt (the secretary), Lt. Perley, Color Sergt. Henderson, and Jas.

Hunter. The minutes of the last annual meeting having been read and confirmed, the report of the council was read as follows:

It being the chief purpose of the annual It being the chief purpose of the annual report to record the occurrences of the year, the council submit the following survey of the year now closing, though the matters referred to are of course fresh in the recollection of the members. That which is specially to be remembered in connection with 1894 is the adoption of the Martini-Henry rifle and the consequent disappearance of the trusty Snider from the annual matches.

This change was unanimously decided upon at the annual meeting last October, and the council at its first meeting followed this up by referring to a committee the work of framing a prize list and regulations suitable to the new rifle. At the same meeting the council considered at length the proposal to throw open the matches to non-commissioned officers and men who had completed nine years' service and also the wider commissioned officers and men who had completed nine years' service and also the wider suggestion to open them to civilians. The final decision was, however, deferred until a meeting in May at which it had been arranged the prize list committee would report. When the matter came to a vote at the May meeting a majority was found to be in favor of admitting nine year men to all the matches but special resolutions to all the matches, but special resolutions were passed restricting the Prince of Wales cup and the accompanying Queen's medal to efficient militiamen and also the National silver medal.

In respect to the latter it was felt that as the medal confers on the winner the privilege of competing in an important match at Bisley it was not desirable

These changes were accordingly embodied in the new programme as were the several recommendations of the prize list commit-tee. These latter had to do with the ranges and number of shots in several of the com-and number of shots in several of the competitions and to some extent the arrangement of the cash prizes.

The P. R. A. medal was taken from the aggregate and again placed in the match known as the Provincial 10 shots at 600 yards. Two extra series matches were retained, one at 500 yards and one at 000, and in each the list of prizes was increased. It will be seen by the accounts that both matches were well patronized. In the regulations a change which gave great satisfaction was the disallowance of blow off shots. They are quite unnecessary with the Martini and the doing away with them removed a source of constant annoyance and removed a source of constant annoyance and even danger.

Then, too, the rule forbidding any two competitors from shooting out of the same rifle was relaxed in consideration of the difficulty some members might have in procuring rifles. To as far as possible remove this difficulty all the rifles at the disposal of the association were distriouted through the pro-vince early in the season according as ap-plications were received for them. In each instance the person to whom a rifle was issued furnished his bond with surety for its safe keeping and return. The number of rifles so issued and now out among the riflemen is 42. As it turned out the rifles in possession of some of the corps supplemented by the P. R. A. and private rifles practically sufficed for the demand, for in only two cases did competitors ask liberty The matches opened on Tuesday, August 21st with an attendance larger than any Agreeable weather tem of squadding after the exprience of last year proved highly successful. The council has no reason to think that the details and conduct of the meeting were other than satisfactory and enjoyable to the attending competitors. Some suggestions on minor matters made at the competitors meeting will no doubt receive the attention of the will no doubt receive the attention of the incoming council. The presentation of prizes was made in much the usual manner on the afternoon of Thursday, in the presence of a goodly number of visitors.

The president was assisted in the duties by the vice-president Lieut.-Col. Tucker, Lieut.-Col. Downville, Major A. J. Armstrong. The well known challenge cups were cnce more severally handed over to the rafe keeping of their fortunate winners, and in addition there were the annual gift of Lieut-Col. Maunsell to the Nursery first prize winner and the governor general's medals. and the governor general's medals.

The winner of Col. Maunsell's prize chowed his decided appreciation of being at the top fo the list by subsequently winning the Prince of Wales cup and tieing for the overnor general's medals. His excellency's intention of presenting these medals was not known until some time after the programme was printed and so they were not included The executive committee on consider ation placed them in a special match open to the highest 20 in the grand aggregate. Lt. Col. Tucker moved that whereas certain expenses are necessary to the yearly holding of the maritime match with Nova Scotia and P. E. This passed unanimously.

A letter was read from Capt. Kinnear of Sussex, relative to the proposed long range at Sussex. This was referred to the incoming council. The election of officers was then proceeded with. It resulted in the choice

KENT CO. TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

Richibucto, Oct. 20.-The Kent County Teachers' Institute met in the school building at Kingston on Thursday. Inspector Smith occupied the chair, and after the opening address, H. T. Colpitts, principal of the Richibucto schools, read his paper, entitled Does Our System of Education Draw Too Largely Upon the Brain Tissue of Children? This was followed by a practical lesson on botany, given by Miss Isabella J. Caie of the Richibucto staff, to seven of her pupils. The Importance of the Development of the Moral Nature of the Pupil was discussed by the institute, and this ended Thursday's session. The opening item of the programme on Friday morning was a paper_prepared and read by Charles Main, on The Value of Dictation in Early Education. Miss Chrystal of Richibucto then gave an interesting Lesson on Numbers, followed by A. E. Pearson of Buctouche on Compulsory Attendance in Schools. Friday afternoon was spent by the institute in discussing The Practical Utility and Method of Teaching Geometry in the Eighth Grade. The subject was opened by J. B. Clarke of north in his yacht Broncho.

The St. John ladies are extremely stylish as to sleeves, but rather shy on millinery. I remember once hearing an American say that Canadian girls dressed all right up to their headgear. "The Canadian hat," said my Boston friend, "is too much for me. It imbues me at once with melancholy and affright. There is a fantastic dreariness about its composition that is overwhelmingly grotesque. It has no proper limitations. Feathers, flowers, fruit and foliage, all find a resting place upon it. It is without sense of fitness-a melancholy spectacle." Not that this altogether describes the St. John hat. It is a nondescript headgear, either hopelessly plain or suggestive of birds' nests. Yesterday a red-haired girl loped up King street before me. She had on a costume so freakish and ugly that I stopped close behind her to examine it. Her gown was a cross between a wrapper and an ulster. It was of sad colored grey plaid, every check as big as the length and breadth of her back. and was made all in one piece. Two huge folds gathered at the shoulders and humped across her back, which drooped: thence it fell in crumpled pleats to the ground, where it swept the muddy street. The sleeves of this strange garment were decidedly up to date-more so than we have them in Toronto, except with tailor-mades. which are always properly built. They were large, folded drooping sleeves, perfect in cut and finish. Her hat, pressed down on a coil of burnished copper hair, was a large-leafed, lowcrowned blue sailor, limp and hideous Other girls ,smart as to sleeves, were positively dowdy as to hats. They must have saved all the millinery of St. John the time of the great fire, and have been using it ever since. The girls are pretty, though, and carry themselves with a haughty air, which somehow makes them look rather conscious of their good looks. Perhaps it's a Boston air. Never having been a St. John girl forgets all about herself, so to speak, she is the most delicious thing imaginable, fresh comand quite as tartly sweet, bright-eyed, and altogether good to look at.-Kit's ried into execution a plot to do away with a witness who would give the most sensational testimony yet produced. Mr. Goff said: "I am compelled to ask for an adjournment until two o'clock. I told the committee that our star witness, a woman who had paid money to high officials had been stolen from us at the dead of night. We had her under subpoena and under surveillance in the daytime, but at midnight the police or their agents came in a carriage and stole the woman. I now tell you her name for the first time-Matilda Hermann. The police or their agents hurried her to Canada and then to the large cities of the west. Our detectives stuck to the trail and finally ran her down in Chicago. She consented to come east. When the party arrived in Jersey City this morning, the police of New York got the police of Jersey City to arrest all our party on a charge of kided to detain her. This woman will tell how the police raised a fund to Nearly forty teachers were present at the institute, which adjourned to get her and other women of her class

"If there is any agent to this conspiracy present," said Mr. Goff, "I hope to prove the amount of money contributed and the man who contributed it to spirit this woman away.' Recess was then taken until two o'clock.

In Jersey City it was learned that Mrs. Hermann had been brought from Chicago on a bogus telegram, saying that her husband had broken his leg and was in an hospital. She arrived in the Pennsylvania railroad station at half past seven this morning Detective Wells was shadowing her. Near the stairway leading to Montgomery street. Sergeant-at-arms Kearney intercepted the woman. He asked her to consent to go with him to New York, and subsequently Detective Wells joined in the conversation. The woman became highly indignant and was gesticulating wildly when Senator Daily approached her and told her he had been retained as her counsel. Kearney and Wells wanted to compel the woman to go to New York, but Senator Daily remonstrated and declared he would not ada for September was $10.149.900, as permit her to be "kidnapped." lively war of words followed. crowd collected about the excited group. Mrs. Hermann shouted in a loud voice that Mr. Goff had telegraphed her threatening to cause her indictment if she did not return to New York, and that she had been in-veigled into coming east by her enemies. Such confusion was caused in the station that Policeman Boyle finally capped the climax by arresting Sergeant-at-arms Kearney, Detective Wells and Mrs. Hermann, charging them, with disorderly conduct,, and took his prisoners to police headquarters in Jersey City, Senator Daily bringing up the rear. How Senator Daily learned that Mrs. Hermann had left Chicago is puzzling the Lexow committee, and there is a suspicion that the New York police and certain attaches of the Lexow committee are in collusion with the Jersey City police to head off damaging witnesses.

At the woman's hearing Senator Daily said he was awakened this morning by Gustave Dirk, a friend of the Hermann woman, who said she was about to be abducted. He went to the station and advised her not to go to New York unless she wished. Assistant sergeant-at-arms Kearney of the Lexow committee said the woman was a fugitive from justice After considering the case, Justice Potts decided that Mrs. Hermann was a fugitive from justice and committed her to the city prison for thirty days in default of $3,000 to await extradition papers from New York. When the Lexow committee re-convened at 2.30 o'clock, Counsel Goff gain asked for an adjournment. Hewas unable to get Matilda Hermann over from Jersey City and therefore he had run short of witnesses. He said the trunk of the Hermann woman had been taken from her and that it contained important documentary evi-dense against the police. "We have her confessions," said Mr.

Goff, "and will put them in evidence." In answer to questions, Mr. Goff said that the story that the Hermann woman had been decoyed from Chicago to Jersey City by a telegram stating that her husband had broken his leg was wholly false. She came on voluntarily," said Mr. Goff, "and even paid her own fare on the railroad.

ST. MARTINS.

St. Martins, Oct. 22.—On Friday last, after a number of postponements, the cases against Mrs. Ann Nungent, for violation of the liquor license act, were completed before Parish Court Commissioner W. E. Skillen. There were two charges, one for refusing to allow the constable to search her premises for liquor, and the other for selling without license. Conviction was recorded, and a fine of fifty dollars and costs or two months' jail was imposed for each offence. Mrs. Nugent preferred jail to parting with her ducats, and on Saturday morning she was escorted thither by Constable Samuel Osborne. The case against P. H. Nugent was completed as far as evidence was concerned, but the magistrate reserved decision. In these cases Chief Inspector Vincent was for the prosecution and J. L. Carleton for

The first suggestion of an imperial mion of Great Britain and her colonies seems to be one which was made by Thomas Pownall, at one time governor and commander in chief of his then majesty's provinces of Massachusetts Bay and South Carolina. and lieutenant governor of New Jersey. In his work on the Administration of the Colonies, published in London in 1768, he, in the dedication of this work to the Rt. Hon. George Grenville, says: "I do from my best judgment, sincerely believe that a general and entire union of the British dominions, is the only measure by which Great Britain can be continued in its political liberty, and commercial prosperity, and perhaps in its ex-EDWARD JACK. AMERICA'S FIRE LOSS. New York, Oct. 9.-The Journal of Commerce in today's issue says: The fire loss of the United States and Cancompared with $10,508,700 for September, 1893. The total loss for the first nine months of 1894 was $97,000,000, and for the corresponding period of 1893 it was $121,000,000.

WHY THE CHICKENS THRIVED NOT. This may not be new, but it was new to the Providence Journal reporter, who over-heard it in an East Providence car, so it is likely that there are others who have not hehard it. The young man who told it was evidently a collegian, as was his companion.

"I heard a good one on Professor — of Andover," he said.
"What was it?" queried the other. "Well, you know he was married during the winter and went housekeeping just outside the village. This spring he thought he would add a few hens to his stock; he already had a dog. He set a couple of the hens, and in time had two large broods of chickens. He was very troud of them, but chickens. He was very proud of them, b chickens. He was very proud of them, but in a week or so the chickens began to die. He called in a neighbor to look at the chickens and offer advice. They were certainly a pretty scaly lot of chickens that the neighbor viewed. They were skinny looking and apparently lacked ambition.

""What do you feed them on?" asked the neighbor, after a brief survey.

"Feed them?" responded the professor, as though he didn't hear aright. "Why, I don't feed them on anything. I thought the old hens had milk enough for them."
