ONLY FOUR TO MAN THE PUMPS.

Dear, dear ! When you come to think of it how closely related things are; how one thing brings on another. Ideas are like a lot of beads on a string, aren't they? A letter I have just been reading makes me remember what happened to me one winter about twenty years ago. The story is too long to tell here, so I'll merely give you the tail tell end of it. I was supercargo on a bark from London to Rio. A tremendous gale, lasting five days, wrecked us. Forty-eight hours after it ceased there were four men and no more left on the vessel. The captain had been both of this county. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. B. Mac-killed by a falling spar, three of the crew washed overboard, and the rest of the ship's company (save us four) the happy couple. The bride and groom are well and favorably known and were the recipients of many beau-tiful and useful presents. After the rate of six inches an hour. Working ceremony a wedding breakfast was partaken of. Mr. and Mrs. White could pump that out in forty minutes, could pump that out in forty minutes, left by the steamer Star for their but we must do it every hour. It was future home in Cambridge, arriving there about four in the afternoon. it up, without sleep. Then we stopped, took to the quarter boat and shoved off. The sea was quiet-no wind. While we lay to within a mile of her lives. In the evening the boys and the ship threw up her nose and went some members of the "fair sex" made down stern first. We were picked up some members of the "fair sex" made music for them on cow bells, horns, etc. Now the odd thing is that the letter which reminded me of that experience has nothing whatever to say about ships. Please help me to find out the association. The lady who writes the letter says that in July, 1881, she got a bad fright. Exactly what it was he doesn't tell. I wish she did. Anyway it so upset her that she didn't get over the fects of it for nine years. After that her appetite fell off; she lost all real relish for food, and what she did eat only made trouble instead of nourishing her. It gave her pain in the pit of the stomach and (curiously enough) between the shoulders. She says her Her face and abdoas a buttercup. men swelled, and her feet the same, the latter so much so that she was obliged to have her shoes made larger. "I got little sleep at night, she says, "and was in so much pain I had to be propped up with pillows For weeks together I could not lie down in bed. I had a dry, hollow cough, and bad night sweats. Then diarrhoea set in, and my bowels became ulcerated. I was often in dreadful agony for forty-eight hours at a Then I would have a chill as though a bucket of cold water were poured down my back. I got so low I could no longer sew, knit, or do any work or look after my children. My sister had to come and help in the house. "Everybody said I was in a decline and must die. What I suffered for eight years tongue cannot tell. The doctor could do nothing for me. He said my complaint was complicated and bad to deal with. In 1886 I went as an outdoor patient to the Shrewsbury Infirmary, but only got transient relief." The writer is in good health now, but why did her case remind me of the shipwreck? Let's settle that first., The association is easy and natural. Just see. The ship sank because we four men hadn't the strength to pump out the water as fast as it came in. Twenter, and by keeping on taking it I was oon strong and well as ever. (Signed) Mrs. Ann Bunce, The Park, Worthen, near Shrewsbury, February, 22nd, 1893." If there was only a way to save sinking ships as certain and trustworthy as Mother Seigel's medicine is in the case of sinking human bodies, what a blessing it would be to poor sailors.

These bodies of ours carry the seeds of disease with them all the timechiefly the poisons created by imperfect digestion, made worse by careless habits. But so long as nothing extra ordinary happens we manage to scrape along in a half-and-half sort of fashion. Yet we've got in our blood the stuff that any of a dozen diseases is made of, only waiting for something to set it afire. While the liver, kidneys, lungs and skin keep us fairly fre that, is, don't let the load get too heavy-we say, "Oh, yes, I'm tolerably well, thank you." Little pains and unpleasant symptoms bother us now and then, but we don't fancy they mean

Bunce's case, etc. Over we go. The last straw has crushed us. One loose spark has blown up the barrel of powder. The crew is too small to save the ship. The kidneys, liver, skin and stomach strike work, and we must have help right away or perish. All of which means the explosion of latent indiges tion and dyspepsia poisons in the blood. There! Isn't it plain why I thought of the ship? Now for the conclusion of the lady's story. She says: "In 1889 first heard of Mother Seigel's Curative to be present failed to arrive. Others Syrup. Half a bottle made me feel bet
