At Demerara, Berbice, Surinam and Essequibo, they reckon 3 guilders to the Spanish dollar, and 20 stivers to the guilder. The dollar also contains 5 shillings.

To reduce the currency of New-Brunswick into Guilders and Stivers, if the sum be pounds, multiply by 12, and the product will be guilders; but if it be a mixed sum, reduce the whole into pence, and divide by 20, the quotient will be guilders and the remainder stivers.

To reduce Guilders and Stivers into the currency of New-Brunswick—Reduce the amount into Stivers by multiplying by 20, and divide by 12 for shillings, and again by 20 for pence.
