There is great resemblance in essential points between the existing famine, which is caused chiefly by the failure of the rice eron in extensive districts, and the Irish famine, caused by the failure of the potato crop. In each case the famin may be said to have arisen from the fact that the population was absolutely de pendent for its subsistance on the lowest lass of food by which life could be sustained, and that the failure of the or dinary supplies of that food left it utterly destitute. In Ireland, the famine was greatly diminished by the liberality of the Government, which gave not less pires. Council could would be happy in the Council could see its way clear toward granting $200 to the South Lanark Agricultural Society, but if it had to grant another $200 to the North Riding against Mr. Slack for his school report. Though, when the application for a grant was made at the January session, he had opposed it on the ground that the report was not before the council, and they could not therefore judge as to its character, still, now, when the report was published both in pamphlet form and in the newsnot therefore judge as to its character, still, now, when the report was published both in pamphlet form and in the newspapers, they were in a position to judge of its merits. In his opinion, the report was one of rare ability, and information, and the council should cheerfully grant, if not the whole, at least a part of the trifling amount necessary to pay for the publication of it. The report too, would be invaluable in directing the Trustees to select proper teachers for the various schools.

Mr. Gould did not approve of paying accounts published without authority from the Council. Mr. Slack was a county official, and it was but reasonable that like every other official he should first submit his report to the Council and then let them have it published or not as they pleased. He complained the while the Report was addressed "to the Warden and Reeves," some of the latter had never seen the document at all. peg leave to report :

the Council had no legal right to pay the account, and the Inspector did not claim such. But it would be a small thing for the council to refuse paying the bill.— One of the Reeves had made a calcula tion as to the cost, and he found it would only amount to about 15 cents to each sehool section, and how much less, therefore, to each ratepayer? Turkey and Persia are not friendly. It appears that the Persian Government has refused to compel the return to Turkish territory of a tribe numbering 2,000 families, which has been subje to the Porte but escaped across the Prussian frontier, and that a number of Turks have been seized and maltreate by a band of Persian pilgrims. The Turkish Government threatens to force Persia to give up the persons who have abused its subjects, and to surrender the revolting tribe. Unless an accommodation is speedily effected, the relation the two countries will become critical.

NOTICE is hereby given, that a certified copy of the Parliamentary voters list, for the Township of Darling, for the year 1874, was posted in my effice, on the 25th day of June 1974.
