It was, under all the circumstances a neavy undertaking, involving in his outfit and

In such a field the influences of the gospel should be made to bear upon the earliest social organizations. It was believed that our friends in maratime ports, especially those engaged directly or indirectly in the whale fishery of the Pacific Ocean, and those everywhere, whose family connections-husbands, brothers, sons-may be personally benefitted by the labours of the missionary at that far distant point of our country,

It is hoped, therefore, that the friends of the Society will exercise that liberal co-operation with the Executive Board which the present exigency requires, and especially that those generous individuals who have often furnished assistance in emergencies without personal solicitation, and on whom reliance must still be placed for spontaneous aid in times of trial, will remember

The or dinary receipts of the entire year may enable them to meet the liabilities already created, but many very needy applicants at important points, must suffer seriously the pain of hope deferred unless our means are immediately in creased; and it is very desirable that several of those whom, on account of the state of the treasury, the Board have reluctantly disappointed, should receive a commission as soon

At Preston, where 23,000 members are enrolled in three burial societies, statistics suggest a dark suspirolment, and sixteen weekly payments are exacted before the benefit can accrue to the person who enrols a child : accordingly between the age of two months and six months, the mortaluy amoung children enrolled, is less than that among the unentered chirdren of the general population; put after six months it is greater that is, the healthier children who are inscred die off faster than the uminsured and sickly,

"The average amount granted at death," says the London Daily News, " is between eight and nine pounds; and it is not unfrequent to find that an infant is enrolled in three or four different burial clubs, so that the premium for its death becomes as much as twenty pounds. In the manufacturing d strict, where the mother of a family is working in a factory the infants are entrusted to hired nurses, who often take charge of the children of several families at the same time.

Now, it is by no means rare to find these hired nurses speculating on the disease of their charges by enrolling them in the burial club, in the expectation that a speedy death may ensure a large return for the investment. It is unnecessary to aliude to the easy method by which this gambling speculation may be realized; for neggent treatment, with the aid of Godfry's cordial, will soon terminate the life of a child under circumstances in which criminal intention could not be construed. These pecuniary inducements to neglectful treatment act upon parents themselves.
