At the Coronation perquisites come in showers, of them are very quaint. From the Lord of the Manor of Addington the Sovereign can claim a dish of pottage concocted of "chopped chickens, cappon-brown, spices, sugar, and almond-milk," while the Lord of the Manor of Haydon must make a solemn presentation of a towel for his Sovereign's use.

In olden times the Chamberlain claimed the furniture of the room in which the Sovereign had slept on the eve of the Coronation, in addition to forty yards of crimson velvet and a silver ewer and basin.

was so weak that it was difficult to re-would have vomiting spells. I was un-not improve my nerves were in a terrible condition and I was always in much misery. One day I read of a woman who had been relieved of similar trouble through the use of Dr.

Williams Pink Pills, and I decided to try them. The result can be summed up by saying that after using the pills for some weeks I was entirely bet-was again enjoying life. If I feel run Incendiary Bullets.

The incendiary bullets used during the war, mostly fired from machine guns carried by airplanes, were in effect miniature high-explosive shells.
Those supplied to our armies were of brass, hollowed out to hold a composition of which the principal ingredient was barium nitrate. To set this off, each bullet had a priming charge of magnesium and red lead.

An ordinary rifle bullet, of course, is solid. The incendiary bullet is of wholly different construction, though of the same calibre, being meant to carry flame. Its discharge sets fire to the explosive stuff contained in it.

Possible Planets

Suppose that a new planet, a fresh addition to the sun's family, were to appear one of these fine nights in the sky. What a sensation it would make, to be sure!

Astronomers do not regard such an occurrence as impossible, though assuredly most unlikely. The sun's eruptive forces are so tremendous that it might conceivably throw out a flaming mass of gas that would cool and condense into a planet.

Not long ago, at the Yerkes Observatory, an eruption was observed (and photographed) on the rim of the sun which threw up material to a height of 500,000 miles. One cloud of it, which appeared as if floating detached, was reckoned to have some thousands of times the volume of the earth.

We are accustomed to regard great volcanic explosions on the earth as the most appalling of natural phenomena, but they are feeble and trifling disturbances compared with the outbursts which are continually taking place all over the body of the sun.

When an eclipse occurs, we can see with the naked eye, through a piece of smoked glass, gigantic flames darting out from the edge of the solar disk.

Very likely the little planet on which we dwell was originally part of the sun and was thrown out from the latter as a mass of burning gas. The rotation of the sun on its axis started the mass whirling, helped perhaps by the vortex motion of the eruption.

The same eruption may have thrown out the moon, a smaller mass of gas, which fell under the control of the embryo earth, becoming its satellite.

Possibly the four little planets—Mercury, Venus, Earth and Mars—were thrown out at about the same time. Greater eruptions may have given birth to the four giant hot planets—Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune.

GUARD BABY'S HEALTH IN THE SUMMER

The summer months are the most dangerous to children. The complaints of that season, which are cholera infantum, colic diarrhoea and dysentery, come on so quickly that often a little one is beyond aid before the mother realizes he is ill. The mother must be on her guard to prevent these troubles, or if they do come on suddenly to banish them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during hot weather as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the stomach and bowels and are absolutely safe. Sold by medicine

Burglars, Beware!

A "burglar chaser" is the novel invention of Gertrude Markle and Kuwakichi Fujita (the latter a Japanese), and it promises to be a terror to ill-advised persons who break in and steal.

It consists of a series of alarm boxes distributed through the house, one in each room. They are harmless-looking affairs, fastened to the wall. But they are loaded.

In case of an alarm of robbers, the householder touches a button that communicates with the box in the room where the thieves are supposed to be, and the box, pneumatically energized, turns on a pivot, pointing half a dozen gun barrels toward the interior.

Bang! bang! go the guns. Perhaps the robbers are not hit, but they are badly scared. They may run into another room. If so, the box in that room is similarly revolved by another button, and starts shooting.

As the inventors state, the operation may be repeated "until the intruders have entirely fled the premises, thus obviating the necessity of the occupants of the house having to face armed burglars."

The Grim Companions.

I saw him dancing between the two.
When the spring was young and the leaves were green.

Oh, gay was he, for his life was new, Though the sombre two that he danced between

Were Pain and Sorrow, Sorrow and Pain.

The brook was full and the wee birds sang.

The child boy played and his laughter rang,

For Pain and Sorrow had barbed no fang

When he started down life's lane.

I saw him again on a summer's day, A man full-grown, stern-faced, and strong,

And Pain and Sorrow he held at bay, Though they sulked beside as he walked along—

Oh, Pain and Sorrow, Sorrow and Pain,

The trees were full and the way uphill, Spring's rushing stream was but a rill; The wee birds dreamed, and their song was still,

As he climbed the hilly lane.

I saw him next on an autumn eve, Weary and sad by the moaning trees;

And he cried and prayed for a short reprieve,

Of two who were forcing him to his knees,
Hard Pain and Sorrow, Sorrow
and Pain.

The brook was dark, and the wind was shrill,

The wind swept down, on the steeper hill;

While Pain and Sorrow were working their will

To strike him deep and again.

I saw him last in the winter bare,
The church was near, and its graves were dank.

He crept along to find refuge there, Until at the foot of the Cross he sank—

Scourged, and followed by Sorrow
and Pain.

For Sorrow and Pain they had racked each bone,

And he prayed for the peace that is Heaven's own;

Till a light shone down from the Great White Throne.

And there was no Sorrow nor Pain.
