

"HINGE-STAYS" MAKE DILLON TWICE AS STRONG

Short, stiff, hard, steel wire makes a "hinge-like" joint at every lateral wire on the Dillon fence. These "Hinge-stays" give our fence a greater degree of elasticity—enable it to withstand greater strain. They act like, and really are, hinges—make our fence swing or spring back into shape after receiving a heavy blow, or the unusual pressure caused by a furious bull or other animal endeavoring to push his way through to freedom. Catalogue tells more about this "twice as strong" fence.

ST. REGIS LUMBAGO CURE AN INDIAN REMEDY.

Guaranteed to Cure Lame Back or money refunded!

An excellent remedy for Rheumatism, Lame Back, Etc., Etc.

Read the following testimonial from a man you all know:

Mr. W. A. Singletton, Forfar, Feb. 6, 1906

Dear Sir—Being laid up with lame back, I thought I would drop you a line to tell you that your St. Regis Lumbago cure will do all you claim for it, as I have only used part of the bottle and I feel no returning symptoms of the disease.

I may say I have been troubled with lame back for the last ten years, and tried several other patent medicines but without results.
I can heartily recommend it to any troubled with lame back, and I feel safe in saying that it is the cheapest medicine on the market.

Yours truly,
W. A. SINGLETTON

Unsolicited Testimony.

Here is the unsolicited testimony of Mrs. C. A. Martin, of Granville, N.Y., concerning Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women. We have her consent to publish her letter. It reads as follows:

I feel that I should tell you what wonders Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets have done for me. I had been running down, suffering from indigestion, and losing appetite for the last year, and though doctors advised me to eat and drink and rest, I was not getting any better. At length a friend who had received great benefit from Dr. Hu-go's Health Tablets, advised me to try this remedy. I did so. In less than a week I began to see good effects. My appetite returned, my nerves began to strengthen, my aches and pains began to leave me. I commenced to take on flesh, and felt that I was being rapidly restored to health. At this moment I feel like a new woman.

We want you to notice that the above testimony is given by a woman who has been suffering from indigestion, and losing appetite, and who has been advised by doctors to eat and drink and rest, and who has not been getting any better.

The Eye of the Needle.
When Christ says in his sermon "that it is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than it is for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven" he does not mean a sewing needle, but a hole through which a camel had to pass through in getting into a fortress. It was the custom in old times, and in parts of Arabia still is, for the people of a village to build a fortress against the robbers of the desert, into which they carried an underground passage in a zigzag form barely large enough for a camel lying down on its side to work itself through into the courtyard of the fort, and the Saviour beautifully compares the struggles of the animal to what the rich man must suffer in order to gain paradise.
The hole was called "the eye of the needle."

In the old stone castles, or walled cities, in Ireland specimens of these eye-holes may be seen. Most of them have been partially destroyed, but there is one almost perfect at Glissan, El-leach, in Donegal, and so like the eastern eye-holes that one would think they were made by the same workmen.
The Irish annals relate that Eliech was erected by a Tuath de Daanan chief 1300 years before Christ—Exchange.

The Magic Flat.
"This is our library," said the New York woman, leading her visitor into the front room. "And that cozy little room back of it is the music room. The 'den' is the big, bright room on your left. Come over and see it. Yes, we have just five rooms in all. The small back bathroom we use as a packing and storage closet. Isn't it cozy?"

"Yes," agreed her visitor doubt-fully, "but where do you sleep and eat, and all that?"
"Oh," said the New Yorker indifferently, "my husband and I sleep in the 'den' on the oriental couch, and mother sleeps in the music room on another couch that pulls out at night. We eat on that funny little table in the library.
You've no idea how big it can be made when the leaves are in. And we dress in the bathroom and keep our clothes in the packing room. So, you see, it's all very convenient."

"What do you do in the kitchen?" inquired the visitor curiously.
"Oh, we keep the dogs in there at night, and in the daytime we sometimes use it to cook in."—New York Press.

An Impresario's Advice.
Some years ago after the regular Italian opera season had ended at the Academy of Music, New York, that building became a sort of trying on arena. One day during the open and shut interval between the seasons Max Marwick met the tenor Adams and Miss Pappenheim.

When the tenor said, "Congratulations in Max, we have just leased the academy for classic opera—no candy rot for us," the impresario replied:
"I wish you great success. But tell me your proposed repertory."

To this Adams responded, "Antigone," "Orfeo," "Iphigenia," "Sapho," "Al-ceste," etc.

Marwick suavely said: "That is magnificent. But do me a favor as an old and experienced friend. Give the 'Tenor' once each week in order to pay salaries."

This advice was not followed, and very soon the academy was again for rent.—New York Tribune.

The New and the Old.

A Chicago girl said the other day in an address before a girls' club: "I advise all of you to be new women. I urge you to pay no heed to the gibes about new women that are continually being uttered by men. It isn't a fine type of man that gibes at the new woman. You know the story of the man in the county jail? 'What brought you here, my poor fellow?' a missionary asked. 'I married a new woman, sir,' the prisoner groaned. 'Aha!' said the missionary. 'And she was so domineering and extravagant that it drove you to desperate courses, eh?' 'No,' said the prisoner. 'The old woman turned up.'"—San Francisco Argonaut.

An Odd Little Anagram.

Here is an interesting little puzzle and anagram which was published in a newspaper several years ago:
An old woman with intent Put on her "give me, I pray."
The wherewithal to this day.
Each of the blanks is to be filled with a word of four letters, and the same letters occur in each of the five different words. These words are consecutively "vile," "evil," "well," "Levi" and
"live."

Her Share.
"Snigaby has a new scheme that he purposes substituting for the ordinary savings bank. He is going to carry a little savings bank around with him, and every time he buys liquid refreshments he will drop the cash equivalent in the bank for his wife."

"Whose idea is it?"
"Snigaby's wife. She thinks there'll be a little something in it for her."— Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Looking For Trouble.
It generally depends on the way you look at things in this world whether or not you are going to have any heaven.
If you go around brooding all the time and looking for trouble you'll get it.
—Manchester (N. H.) Union.

A Financial Coup.

"You don't mean to say that you loaned Snigaby your umbrella?"
"Yes. And it was economy to do it.
It saves me the 25 cents a day he used to borrow."

Inaccuracy is the twin brother of ignorance.—Simmons.

PASTOR AND PEOPLE PRAISE PSYCHINE (PRONOUNCED SE-KEEN)

A Marvellous and Triumphant Record of Victory Over Disease.

No medicine has ever effected as large a number of wonderful and almost marvellous cures as Psychine. It has had one continuous record of victories over diseases of the throat, chest, lungs and stomach.
Where doctors have pronounced cases incurable from consumption and other wasting diseases Psychine steps in and rescues numberless people even from the very verge of the grave. Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Chills, Night Sweats, La Grippe, Pneumonia, and other like troubles, all of which are forerunners of Consumption, yield quickly to the curative power of Psychine.

Mrs. Campbell, one of the many cured, makes the following statement:
"I cannot refrain from telling all who suffer of my remarkable recovery with Psychine. In April, 1902, I caught a heavy cold which settled on my lungs and gradually led to consumption.
I could not sleep, was subject to night sweats, my lungs were so diseased, my doctor considered me incurable. Mr. Mr. Mahady, Port Hope Presbyterian Church, recommended Dr. Stomach Psychine to me, when I was living in Ontario.
After using Psychine for a short time I ate and slept well, the night sweats and cough ceased.
Months ago I stopped taking Psychine, and I was perfectly cured. I feel better in my life. Psychine has been a send to me."
Mrs. Campbell, Port Hope, N.W.T.

PSYCHINE never disappoints.
There is no other medicine "Just as good."

Cannot Afford to Pay for Treatment.

The Hospital for Sick Children, College street, Toronto, appeals to fathers and mothers of Ontario for funds to maintain the thousand sick children that it nurses within its walls every year.

The Hospital is not a local institution—but Provincial. The sick child from any place in Ontario who cannot afford to pay has the same privileges as the child living in Toronto and is treated free.

The Hospital had last year in its beds and out-patient department 331 of these from 231 places of Ontario of Toronto. The cost is 1.37 cts.
per patient per day, and there were 138 sick children a day in the Hospital.

Since its institution the Hospital has treated 12,120 children.
About 8,500 of these were unable to pay and were treated free.

A Hint For Young Playwrights.
The young man wrapped up his rejected play with a "Thank you for reading it," he said.
"It is the sixth unsuccessful drama I have written."

The manager of 117 theaters gave him an encouraging pat on the shoulder.

"Look here," he said, "I'll tell you what you want to do. You want to begin less ambitious. Begin with a one-act curtain raiser. And after you've written this here curtain raiser send it around with the sentence printed on the cover, 'You can play this for nothing.' I guarantee you'll get a hearing then.
Ten to one, by gosh, you'll get played."

"A good idea," murmured the young man.

"That's what it is," said the great manager. "I got it from Sidney Grundy.
It's how he began. His first play was a curtain raiser, 'A Little Change.' He said on it, 'Play it for nothing.'
And the Haymarket theater took him up."

Spectacles Demoralizing.

A certain Somerset vicar made himself notorious by the vigor with which he fought against the use of the newly invented optic glasses, since they perverted vision and made all things appear in an unnatural and therefore a false light. Microscopes and telescopes, with their array of lenses, he declared to be impostors, since a man could not see so well with two pairs of spectacles as with one. Some asserted it to be sinful to assist the eyes, which were adapted by Providence to the capacity of the individual, whether good, bad or indifferent. "It was argued that society at large would become demoralized by the use of spectacles. They would give one man an unfair advantage over his fellow and every man an unfair advantage over every woman, who could not be expected on aesthetic and intellectual grounds to adopt the practice."
—London Spectator.

Put His Foot In It.

On one occasion in Scotland a guest arriving rather late at a country house was quartered in the haunted room.
Although professing to be a skeptic, like many others, his courage vanished with the light. Determined, however, to protect himself as well as possible, he placed a loaded revolver under his pillow and awaited events. As the clock struck midnight he saw a fleshy hand at the end of the bed, and, steading his nerve, he addressed the visitant thus: "If you do not instantly remove your hand I shall fire without further warning." He counted three and then discharged the bullet. A howl of pain which aroused the household followed, and it was soon discovered that the successful marksman had shot away two of his own toes—London Throne.

Punishing a Court Fool.

Ivan the Terrible, Peter the Great and the Emperor Paul had rough ways with their fools. A dagger thrust would follow a poor joke and banishment any sign of declining wit. Once when Fouger, the jester of Cesar Paul, offended his royal master he was permitted to depart in peace. In the middle of the night, however, he was aroused and ordered to get up and prepare for immediate banishment to Siberia. In vain the unhappy man pleaded. He was bundled into a dark van and driven away on his long journey. Day after day, week after week, it lasted.
Upon arrival he stepped out into the presence of the czar. All the time he had been driven not toward Siberia, but around and around St. Petersburg!

Polite Notice Boards.

At the hospital just opposite the entrance to the East India docks and the Blackwall tunnel—under the Thames—notice boards are set up asking the drivers, for the sake of those who are in within, to walk their horses past the building. That is a common enough request, but what gives it a peculiar interest here is that the carter, having complained or not with the modest demand, is confronted at the other corner of the building by another board, saying, "Thank you, driver."—A Wanderer in London.

An Event.

"What's the matter? You look as if something extraordinary had happened."
"Something extraordinary has happened. Do you see that street sweeper—the fellow who is stirring things up?"

"Yes. What about him?"
"When he saw me coming a moment ago he stopped and didn't try to choke me with dust and germs."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Of Course He Did.

"If I were nominated for the presidency of the United States," said Mr.
Hempeck, "I would."
"You nominated for president of the United States!" his wife interrupted.
"What are you thinking of? You mean if we were nominated, don't you?" Then he wisely changed the subject.
—Chicago Record-Herald.

No Cause For Alarm.

Young Doctor—Do you think the vis-that he is a creditor. Servant—Well, I
