Twitching of the Nerves Broken-down System

Now Entirely Cured—Never Used Any Medicine With Such Benefit as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Headaches, dizziness and nervousness are often very disagreeable, but when your nervous system gets into such a condition that the nerves twitch and jerk, and you have peculiar nervous sensations, come over you there is cause for grave alarm.

Everybody dreads the thought of paralysis or locomotor ataxia. Nothing is worse to look forward to than to look forward to helplessness. Sometimes it is helplessness of body, and at other times the mind is affected, which is far worse.

The writer of this letter did not know what to expect, but fortunately began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in time to head off danger, and writes that she was entirely cured of the old trouble. The last paragraph proves that the cure was lasting.

Mrs. John McKellar, of 115 Queen street east, Hamilton, Ont., writes:—
"I was injured some years ago, and that left me with a broken-down nervous system. I could not sleep, and suffered from twitching of the nerves and disagreeable nervous sensations."

"I then began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and can say that I never used any medicine that did me so much good; in fact, I am entirely cured of my old trouble. The Nerve Food not only strengthened the nerves, but also built up my system in every way."

Under more recent data Mrs. McKellar writes confirming her cure, and states that she has had inquiries from many people who had heard of the great benefits she obtained from Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, for a box, 6 for $2.50. At all dealers.

Anchor Shingle Stain
It's false economy to starve the shingles by neglecting to give them a timely coat of some reliable preservative. The best way to make them last is to treat them thoroughly with Anchor Shingle Stain

It is made from coal tar creosote oil, famous as a preventative of decay in wood, combined with permanent colors. There is another important ingredient; the creosote and colors are held firmly to the surface of the wood by our Special China-Linked Binding Oil; thus Anchor Shingle Stain has a permanency unknown to average stains.

In them you get a rare combination—thorough protection of the shingles and lasting colors, hence greater and more enduring satisfaction.

Waiting.

Like the fabled lotto-eaters,
Beside the sea I lie.

And to the soft, blue distance
Look forth with a dreamy eye.

Waiting still for my ship to come in—
Waiting, with many a sigh.

I see the white sails glimmer,
And yet they come not near;

They stretch to other havens,
Bring other looms cheer,
And I am still waiting,
In dreamy sadness here.

The Bay Takes Hoary, slowly,
On the western hills again;

The sea and the sky are blushing
With the sun's purple stain,
And here is the gathering twilight
I wish, but wait in vain.

And at night I sleep to slumber
With the hope that the morning star
May see my ship come sailing
Across the harbor bar.

Prized with golden treasures
From fairy lands afar.

But still when I look o'er the ocean
In the morning dim and grey,
Is a waste of delusion
In waters stretch away.

Yet I trust that my ship will follow
In the wake of the latter day,
It will sail through calm and tempest,
It will pass through every ill.

And in spite of the sorrowful by-gone,
I feel that some time still
The dream that my heart has cherished
The future will yet fulfill.

The Heroine of Gettysburg.

For two days a girl of twenty carried water to fill the canteens of wounded and dying soldiers on the field of Gettysburg. The third day, while baking biscuits for the famished soldiers, she was killed by a Minie ball, and buried with the dough still on her hands.

The little red brick house where the Wade family lived was directly in the path of the battle, but the family could not move to a safer place, for in it lay a young mother and a day old babe. For three long days it was under fire. When they took off the old roof and replaced it with a new one a few years ago, they took from it two quarts of bullets. While these bullets were crashing through the roof, Georgia Wade McKellar lay with her new born babe by her side; her mother took care of her and Jennie, her sister, carried water and filled the canteens of the soldiers on the fighting line. Georgia, said the mother, I wish she were still here.

"Do you think it would be safer?" asked Georgia.

"Yes," said her mother, and she turned her so that her head rested against the foot of the bed. At that moment a ball came crashing through the window and buried itself in the pillow where Georgia's head had laid only an instant before.

At the end of the first day fifteen soldiers lay dead in the little front yard. At through those dreary days the famished boys in blue came knocking at the door and asking for bread, until the bread was all gone. At nightfall of the second day Jennie Wade mixed up a great pan of sponge and set it to rise. Then she went out, protected from chance shots only by the darkness, and brought in a armful after armful of wood, which she lay all ready in order to bake the bread in the great brick oven.

She rose at dawn. As she was lighting her fire, a knock came at the door, and a hungry soldier boy asked for bread.

"Mother," said Jennie, "if you will light a fire in the cook stove, I will mix up some biscuit, and we will give them out until the bread is baked."

With her sleeves rolled up and her hands in the dough, she stood, a very womanly angel of mercy, when a Minie ball crashed through the door, and she fell dead without a word.

At night the soldiers brought a rough box that had been hastily put together for a dead officer. In that the body of Jennie Wade was buried. Gettysburg is full of monuments to brave men; there is one erected through the efforts of the women of Iowa to the only woman who was killed on the battlefield—the girl martyr, Jennie Wade. It is of Italian marble.

Acadia Pharmacy Benefits By New Business Idea.

EXCLUSIVE AGENT FOR WELL KNOWN LINE.

In all lines of business old ideas are giving place to new, and modern efficiency is showing better ways of selling goods.

Almost everyone is familiar with the famous Nyal's Family Remedies and toilet preparations and has been accustomed to seeing them in almost every drug store and almost every family medicine cupboard.

Very recently the Company have made a far reaching change in their plan of doing business. In the future Nyal's preparations will only be obtainable through selected drug stores, agencies who are shareholders in the company.

It is a proven fact that agents selected because of their ability and business standing and more intimately connected with the manufacturers, are able to market goods more economically and at the same time give better service to the buying public. Much of the friction of competitive business methods is eliminated and the public benefits therefrom.

The Spavined Horse's Story.

Here I stand on the soil of France,
A good Canadian horse am I;
No skittish colt of tender age
Who shrinks from the roar of battle's rings.

But the wisdom have I, of a time-learned sage—
And look it, ay, I look it!

For I have seen, I have seen, the horrors,
An old Canadian horse am I;

For I volunteered to fight before,
When my fellows went to fight the Boer,

But they turned me down, and I was sore—
And I've looked it, ay, I've looked it!

Again, though spavins told a tale,
(A brave Canadian horse am I!)
I "buckled" soon as this war'd begun,
And they brought me here to meet the Hun.

Though my eyes were dim and I scarce can run—
But they took me, ay, they took me!

8 Boxes Cured Psoriasis.
Miss Nettie Massey, Comstock, Ont., writes: "Three doctors described my trouble as psoriasis, and one said I could never be cured. The disease spread all over me, even on my face and head. I suffered itching and burning was hard to bear. I used eight boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment and an entirely cured—not a sign of a sore to be seen. I can hardly praise this Ointment enough."

They were two days out and the young bride was dreadfully seak.
"Hearty, dear," she moaned, "if I should die and they bury me here, you'll come sometimes and plant flowers on my grave, won't you?"

Postal Laws of Canada.

Under the Post Office Act sections 65 and 66, the Postmaster General has the exclusive privilege of receiving, collecting, conveying and delivering letters within Canada.

Bills and accounts, whether in open or sealed envelopes, as well as circulars or other printed matter, enclosed in envelopes, must be ready to be sealed, are letters within the meaning of the Post Office Act.

There is a penalty under section 136 of the Post Office Act which may amount to $25.00 for each letter unlawfully carried.

It has been brought to the attention of the Post Office Department that some business firms desiring to avoid paying the War Tax which became effective on the 15th of April, propose making arrangements for the delivery of accounts, bills, circulars, etc., through means other than the Post Office, contrary to the Post Act, and a warning is hereby given that the Post Office Department intends to insist that the law shall be rigidly lived up to, and will in no circumstances allow these parties to avoid paying the one-cent tax which has been imposed for war purposes.

All letters conveyed, received, collected, sent or delivered in contravention of the Post Office Act will be seized and necessary steps immediately taken for the prosecution of the offenders in all cases where the law has been contravened.

Whooping Cough.

Mrs. Charles Lovell, Agassiz B. C., writes: "Seven of our nine children had whooping cough the same winter, and we attribute their cure to Dr. Chase's Syrup of Licorice and Turpentine. We always keep it in the house, and recommend it to the best of our ability. I was formerly cured of prostrating piles by using Dr. Chase's Ointment."

Mrs. Murphy was getting the supper for the children on Saturday night when a young woman came to her door, "I'm a collector for the Drunkard's Home," she said. "Could you help us?"

"Come around tonight and I'll give you Murphy," said the housewife as she went about her work.

"I thought your wife's name was Robertson?"

"So it is."

"Then why do you call her Peggy?"

"What has that to do with it?"

"Why, Peggy is feminine for Pegasus."

"Well?"

"Well, Pegasus is an immortal steed."

"What of that?"

"Well, you've an immortal steed in Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., an everlasting nag, so there you are!"
