

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., JULY 24, 1916.

Editorial Brevities.

The reflector, 100 inches in diameter, for the Mt. Wilson Observatory in California, which will be finished early next year, will be the largest mirror ever cast. It will be 15 inches thick and will contain in one solid piece, 4 1/2 tons of glass.

Camp Borden, the new training ground near Barrie, Ont., will be officially opened on July 15. It will accommodate forty thousand troops, and has a score of concrete buildings, seven miles of railway, a railway depot and fifteen miles of drains.

David Lloyd George, who succeeds the late Lord Kitchener as Secretary of State for War, was formerly Minister of Munitions. Lord Derby, the new Under Secretary for War, was Director of Recruiting. Sir Edward Grey, who has been made an earl, was Secretary for Foreign Affairs.

Mrs. Hetty Green, America's first millionaire woman, is noted for her two children, explaining why there were no public bequests, her son and executor declares his mother was a liberal giver to charity and philanthropy. The announcement appears to have surprised the press and public.

Announcement so far made of the new Russo-Japanese agreement presents it in the light of a defensive, not an offensive alliance. Our noble allies are preparing for the future protection of their great and growing interests in the Pacific. One thing the alliance means is that any attempt on the part of Germany to pick a quarrel with Japan to recover her lost interests in China will mean a quarrel with Russia as well.

Something of what war means to the neutral nations of Europe is disclosed by announcement that the Swiss national debt has risen from twenty-eight francs per capita to one hundred and fifty francs. Switzerland, Holland and other powers compelled to maintain a heavy military organization, as well as to pay exorbitant prices for many of the necessities of life, are learning lessons which may exert an influence on world-thought in the future.

Did you ever stop to think what a great labor saver the home newspaper is as a means of communication with absent friends? 'Write to me often,' is the last plea of the one breaking away from home ties to those left behind. In the rush and hurry of every day life, people nowadays have very little time to devote to leisurely correspondence that people of other days kept up with such unvarying punctuality. And here is where the home paper saves a world of trouble. It is better than a letter, too, for it contains much that a letter would not. Items of interest are in it that the writer of a letter may not know or overlook. It is wonderful how eagerly one devours a home paper when a stranger in a strange land. Even the people you do not know intimately when at home become absorbing interest.

Daylight Saving.

It has been estimated that artificial light costs one cent per hour per person. The saving of an hour daily in artificial light for a nation of one hundred millions of people would be one million dollars a day and three hundred and six-tive million dollars a year, enough to launch eighteen twenty million dollar battle cruisers. It is easy to understand why Europe finds daylight saving worth while. It is a paying proposition, both in health and material prosperity. Cleveland for two years has put her clock forward an hour, and reports the following benefits: Better public health, additional hours of recreation for the toiler, better conditions for sleep, a contribution to the welfare of children, an advantage to suburban residents and nearby farmers, more efficient work in the industrial plants, closer mail, telegraph, telephone, freight and express connections with the east, saving in the expense of artificial illumination.

Greater National Economy Imperative.

For the time being Canada is able to borrow on terms more favorable than any other belligerent nation, and on terms as favorable as any neutral nation, a position due to the recognition of the unexpectedly important part she continues to take in supplying the needs of the Allies from her own resources. At the moment, therefore, her commercial prosperity is unusually great, but it is recognized by the far-sighted as being uncertain and temporary. Events at the front are of such a character as to inspire confidence in the ultimate success of our arms; but this success can be attained only by marshalling all our forces, whether of men, material resources or credit. To us the credit of the nation, or that of our provinces or cities, to obtain any essential thing, or to carry on any but absolutely necessary work, would indicate lack of earnestness in our co-operation with our Allies. In the United Kingdom, in France, in Russia and in Italy, not only by law but by voluntary sacrifice—the true spirit of patriotism, economy and thrift are recognized as being factors as important in defending our civilization as our arms. Until in Canada there is manifested the same earnestness in saving our dollars and

Australia's Example.

Canada might have learned many a lesson from Australia since this war began. Political pull or personal influence does not have the same power in the Commonwealth as in this country. Take for example, the selection of officers. We read in the Empire Review:—
"The making of army officers in Australia is an interesting process. All officers are required to go through the ranks unless they have held a commission before. They must enlist as recruits for general service, and may then apply for admission to an N. C. O. school. Candidates must have a knowledge of platoon drill. It is pointed out that intelligent recruits can pick up the knowledge in the ranks in a little while, even if they do not possess it on enlisting. On passing this preliminary school, candidates are drafted to the general staff school, from the result of which recommendations are made which can pass them on into the officers' school. On satisfactorily passing the school, a recommendation for commission will be followed. The work and examination at both preliminary and officers' schools are such that an officer on active service would have to answer frequently in a day's work, and have been compiled from recent practical experience at the front."
If such a method as this had been adopted in Canada we would not have at the present time enough officers to make up more than three battalions of men waiting around for military units. Nor would so many officers go from Canada to England only to be attached to some base there because of insufficiency, instead of being sent to the front with their men. Canada has suffered much from lack of leadership of a genuinely patriotic and non-partisan character.
Australia also furnished a fine example of patriotism in the matter of recruiting. No doubt there are slackers in plenty, but one reads with a thrill of pride the following paragraph:
"At a recruiting office in Australia the other day a veteran of eighty appeared, wearing the New Zealand war medal. He stated that he had been twenty-one years in the Imperial forces, and had been stationed with his regiment in Asia, Africa and America. 'I haven't many years left before I go on the longest leave of all,' he remarked, 'but I thought that I might be able to do a bit more for the Empire. It's not much, perhaps, now; but whatever it is, I'm here to do it.' He was courteously informed that no man more than half his age could be considered. Another applicant was a man who had been discharged from service in England, but had felt so improved in health after the voyage and a short time spent in Australia that, he said, he felt fit to serve again."

Canada's Next Governor-General.
It is officially announced that the Duke of Devonshire will be the next Governor-General of the Dominion. Victor Christian William Cavendish, Duke of Devonshire, is the 9th duke to bear the title, a creation of 1694, and succeeded to the title in 1912.
He was born in 1868, the eldest son of the late Lord Howard Cavendish and Emma, daughter of the late Rt. Hon. W. S. Lascelles, M. P. He married in 1892 Lady Evelyn Emily Mary Fitzmaurice, daughter of the 5th Marquis of Lansdowne, and is the father of two sons and five daughters. He was educated at Eton and Trinity College, Cambridge.
He entered Parliament as a Liberal-Unionist for Derbyshire W. 1891-1908; was treasurer of the Royal Household from 1900 to 1903. For the next two years he was financial secretary to the treasury. He is Lord-Lieutenant of Derbyshire, president of the Territorial Force of Derby, and Chancellor of Leeds University.
He is well known as patron of the arts, his picture galleries at Chatsworth, Hardwick and Devonshire House being well known to connoisseurs.
Those in Ottawa who know of the Duke of Devonshire, say that he should prove a most popular representative of the Crown. He is comparatively young, democratic, an experienced legislator and immensely wealthy. The Capital is looking forward to a regime of large hospitality and generous patronage of all public benefactions. The new Governor-General is expected to arrive in Canada about the first week in October, following the usual custom, will probably pass the out-going Governor-General on the Atlantic.

Double Wedding.
A very quiet double wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Curry, of Hortonville, on Saturday morning, July 8th. The contracting parties were their daughter, Emily Ada, and Mr. B. A. Whitmore, Editor of the New Church Review, of Boston; and their son Leroy Henstis Curry, and Miss Mary F. Waugh, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Waugh, of Halifax.
Rev. Fred B. Curry, of Boonton, N. J., assisted by the Rev. Arthur Hockin, of Hortonville, were the officiating clergymen. After a two months' honeymoon spent in Newton Highlands Mr. and Mrs. Whitmore will reside in Cambridge, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. Curry, after sojourning at different points along the South Shore, will make their home at Hortonville.

Thanks.

Dear Mrs. DeWitt:
I wish on behalf of our Association and of the men in the Highland Brigade to thank you personally and through you the Red Cross Society generally for their splendid contributions of books and magazines. It is the best addition we have thus far received for our leading library and raises it to much greater efficiency. Few features of our work are of greater value and real service than this. Another excellent service might be rendered by the securing of new Edison cylinder records and Columbia records, the latter we use at the Hospital, the former in the main rooms. Again thanking you, I am very sincerely yours,

Rev. Alex. Tuttle Died at Vancouver.

Word was received on Saturday evening last of the death of Rev. Alexander Tuttle, of Vancouver, B. C., and formerly of Berwick, Mr. Tuttle was born in Wallace, Cumberland county, eighty-four years ago. When a young man he entered into the Methodist Conference in 1858. He was a fine preacher and was very successful in evangelistic work. Some of the places he labored in were Mill Village, Aylesford, (two terms), Lunenburg, Newport, Berwick, Caledonia, and New Germany. In 1898 he bought a farm in Berwick and resided there for some years. About ten years ago he moved to Vancouver, and it was while on a visit to his sons in Spokane, Wash., that he passed away on Wednesday, June 28th, after a short illness. The body was laid beside his wife's, who passed away nearly three years ago. Mr. Tuttle was twice married. His first wife was Rebecca Jane, youngest daughter of the late Asher Black, of Amherst; she passed away in 1867. In 1874 he married Mary Elizabeth, only daughter of the late George Prevost Oxley, of Pagswash. He had two sons, George E., and Martin O., both residing in Spokane, Wash., and a daughter, Emma, wife of Hazen Anthony, of Vancouver.

Major Stanley Jones Died in German Prison.
GALLANT NOVA SCOTIA OFFICER, PRISONER, IS DEAD.
Mrs. B. J. Lawson, of Amherst, has received word of the death in a Hun prison of her brother, Major Stanley Jones, of Calgary. The late Major Jones was a son of Rev. John Jones, formerly of Wolfville. He was educated at Acadia College, taught school in Manitoba, and saw his first active fighting in the Boer war, being a member of the first Nova Scotia contingent to go to South Africa. He was at Paardeberg and was in the squad to which Cronje surrendered. After returning to Canada he studied law at Calgary where up to the time of the declaration of the war with Germany he carried on a successful law business.
A Calgary paper states: "Mr. Jones was probably the first man to enlist for overseas service in Calgary, and perhaps the first in Canada, as he was in his application for services to Ottawa as soon as war was declared and before Canada had definitely decided to send troops to the war."
Mr. Jones went overseas as a lieutenant, was promoted to captain, and was major when he died. He was twice wounded and after recovering, returned to the front. He was in the celebrated battle of the 4th of June, was seriously wounded and taken prisoner, dying on June 8th. He was accompanied abroad by his faithful wife, who at present is doing Red Cross service in France, having lately received distinguished honors for her excellent services.
Thus another gallant Nova Scotian has laid down his life for the Empire. His many friends will regret to hear of his death. He leaves besides his wife and sister one brother, Clifford, of Calgary, who as soon as he heard that his brother was taken prisoner, left for France. Another brother, Captain Joseph Jones, of the Ward Steamship Line from New York to Havana; John, foreign buyer for Marshall, Fields & Co. of Chicago, and Horace, who is in a railway construction camp somewhere in France. He was about 40 years of age.

The Tale of Disaster.
United States trade figures for the year-1915, just published by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, show an enormous trade with Great Britain and her colonies. This trade reached the unprecedented total of more than $2,000,000,000. More than one-third of the country's imports come from the United Kingdom, and more than one-half the exports went to British ports. The value of the former was $624,000,000 and of the latter $1,679,000,000. A gain in trade with practically all the world excepting the Teutonic powers is shown by the official reports. Exports to Germany fell from $52,000,000 in 1915 to $12,000,000 last year, while imports were practically nil. In the face of these official records of a tremendously increased British trade and a practically destroyed German trade, comment on the efficiency of the Allied blockade is unnecessary. What is true of Germany's trade with America is true of her trade with every other world country, except those in immediate contact with her borders. War is exhausting her manhood and making enormous calls on her resources, which cannot be replaced by the influx of her opponents, by their uninterrupted trade in the markets of the world.
More than one newspaper paragraph has directed attention to fields of bravery by men who before enlistment were the bad ones of their community. An English paper figured that considerably more than 20,000 boys from reformatories and industrial schools are enrolled in Britain's fighting ranks. That these are giving a magnificent account of themselves the records prove. So far, three have won the Victoria Cross for valor, twenty-five have qualified for the Distinguished Conduct Medal, more than a score have been mentioned in despatches, several have won the decorations of our Allies, and eight have received commissions.
