VARIETIES.

IMPULSIVE MEN.

"Slowly and surely," is good motto. Impetuous zeal sometimes effects good results; but it is generally in despite of impetuosity, and not because of it. There is always safety in calmness and deliberation. A little forbearance never does harm, but the want of its exercise sometimes retards what it seeks to promote.

There is, however, a danger of running forbearance into supine indifference. Some men must either drive at locomotive speed, or not at all. They kindle in in a moment, and must speak and act while the flame lasts, or they can do nothing. They bear their zeal

"As the flint bears fire,
Which, much enforced, throws out a hasty spark,
And straight is cold again."

For practical, effective uses, give us your calm, determined actors. Men who do not jump at conclusions in a moment, or run before the world; but who, when the time to act comes, stand up to principles with a resoluteness which nothing can deter. Such were our Revolutionary fathers; such are the really useful men of every age and nation.—Methodist Protestant.

THE SAILOR AND THE ACTRESS.—"When I was a poor girl," said the Duchess of St. Albans," working very hard for my thirty shillings a week, I went down to Liverpool during the Holidays, where I was always kindly received. I was to perform in a new piece, something like those pretty little affecting dramas they get up now at our minor theatres; and in my character I represented a poor, friendless orphan girl, reduced to the most wretched poverty. A heartless tradesman prosecutes the sad heroine for a heavy debt, and insists on putting her in prison, unless some one will go bail for her. —The girl replies, 'Then I have no hope; I have not a friend in the world.' 'What, will no one bail you, to save you, from going to prison?' asks the stern creditor. 'I have told you I have not a friend on earth, was my reply. But just as I was uttering these words, I saw a sailor in the upper gallery springing over the railing, letting himself down from one tier to another, until he bounded clear over the orchestra and footlights, and placed himself beside me in a moment. 'Yes, you shall have one friend, at least, my poor young women,' said he, with the greatest expression in his honest, sunburnt countenance. 'I will go bail for you to any amount. And as for you,' turning to the frightened actor, you lubber, it will be worse for you when I come athwart your bows.'—Every creature in the house rose; the uproar was indescribable; peals of laughter, screams of terror, cheers from his tawny messmates in the gallery, preparatory scrapings of violins from the orchestra; and amidst the universal din there stood the unconscious cause of it sheltering me,' the poor, distressed young woman, and breathing defiance and destruction against my mimic persecutor. He was only persuaded to relinquish his care of me by the manager pretending to arrive and rescue me with a profusion of theatrical banknotes."

PAINT YOUR HOUSES.—Now is the time for preparation, soon after the heat of summer is over, say in September and October, is the best time to paint. One coat laid in Autumn is equal to two in Summer; the lead dries more evenly, and oil holds it much longer than when spread in hot weather. Paint laid in fall weather is more lasting than when put on in the Spring, because without exposure to the intense heat of July and August, and is therefore much less likely to suffer from the effects of the ensuing summer. Whenever white lead adheres to the hand when rubbed over it, put on a thin coat. A house once well painted, if lightly coated every third year succeeding, will be more economically painted and kept in better preservation than in any other way. Use none but the best material at any time.—Worcester Transcript.

THE PROSE OF AGRICULTURE.—A romance-reading young man, from a large city, was one day passing a moorland farm which was half covered with furze and heath, and had a fine back ground of barren rocks and dark pines. He remarked to the farmer, who was grinding his way through ragged roots of stones—"A magnificent locality Sir!—one of nature's triumphs!—an embodiment of poetry!" "O, yes," said the farmer wiping the large drops of perspiration from his brow, "the poetry of the place is weel enough; but if ye had to plow up the prose o' my ground, ye would wish the poetry far enough."

LIQUID AND SOLID MANURE.—Charles Alexander a careful and accurate farmer in Scotland, found that while 14 head of cattle would make six loads of solid manure, the liquid would saturate seven loads of loam, rendering it of equal value. He had repeated the experiments for ten years, and found the saturated earth fully equal to the best putrescent manure. How many dollars worth are thus lost annually by each of the million farmers of the country? And what is the aggregate loss in the whole country taken together?

GEORGE LORD, begs leave respectfully to intimate to his friends and the public in general, that he has resumed his practice in the VETERINARY LINE, under the patronage of His Excellency Sir ALEXANDER BANNERMAN, Knight.

LIST OF

British Periodical Publications.

FORWARDED by mail, under the provisions of the late Post Office Law, at merely nominal rates.

1. The London Quarterly Review (Conservative).
2. The Edinburgh Review (Whig).
3. The North British Review (Free Church).
4. The Westminster Review (Liberal).
5. Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory).

These Reprints have been in successful operation in this country for twenty years, and their circulation is constantly on the increase, notwithstanding the competition they encounter from American periodicals of a similar class, and from the numerous Eclectics and Magazines made up of selections from foreign periodicals. This fact shows clearly the high estimation in which they are held by the intelligent reading public, and affords a guarantee that they are established on a firm basis, and will be continued without interruption.

Although these works are distinguished by the political shades above indicated, yet but a small portion of their contents is devoted to political subjects. It is their literary character which gives them their chief value, and in that they stand confessedly far above all other journals of their class. Blackwood, still under the masterly guidance of Christopher North, maintains its ancient celebrity, and is, at this time, unusually attractive, from the serial works of Bulwer and other literary notables, written for that magazine, and first appearing in its columns, both in Great Britain and in the United States. Such works as "The Caxtons" and "My New Novel" (both by Bulwer), "My Peninsular Medal," "The Green Hand," and other serials, of which numerous rival editions are issued by the leading publishers in this country, have to be reprinted by those publishers from the pages of Blackwood, after it has been issued by Messrs. Scott and Co., so that Subscribers to the Reprint of that Magazine may always rely on having the earliest reading of these fascinating tales.

Astonishing efficacy of the Oxygenated Bitters,

IN A CASE OF EIGHTEEN YEARS' STANDING.

From Fitzhenry Homer, Esq., of Boston, Mass.

Boston, September 28, 1848.

DEAR SIR—It is now eighteen years since I was first troubled with the water-brash and derangement of the stomach. I have taken advice of the best Physicians in this city and New York, in London, Paris, Germany, and Italy, followed their prescriptions, and visited the several sulphur and other springs in this country, the watering places of Germany, and elsewhere in Europe, and had found no relief. Since taking the Bitters I have never had a return of the Waterbrash, which daily troubled me of late years to a very great degree. My appetite has returned; the extreme flatulence, severe constipation of the bowels, general debility, and sleepless nights under which I suffered, have entirely left me. Having found so great relief from this most discouraging disorder. I have recommended a trial of your medicine to many of my friends, who are now using it to great advantage. And I cannot refrain from writing to you in its favour and praise, for the good you have bestowed upon the community; and trust that what little is in my scope to offer in extending the circulation of your "Oxygenated Bitters," will be done with grateful pleasure at all times.

Yours very respectfully,
FITZHENRY HOMER.

The Wonder of the World!

Devines' Compound Pitch Lozenge.

THE Great Remedy is at last discovered, and COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA, COSTIVENESS AND CONSUMPTION have lost their terror, and vanish as if by magic before this Sovereign remedy. Was it ever before known that, Hopeless cases of Consumption were cured for less than $5? Truly, if any individual is to be pitied, and needs sympathy, it is the consumptive, always expecting to get well, and yet the painful evidence of decay almost "makes the inner soul shrink with the outer flesh."

"Some bloom as roses bloom,
And live as roses live,
A single morning space!"

While others, in more mature life,—by some imprudence and a slight cold neglected,—in the hectic flush, the painful cough,

"The prints of their parting steps appear."

All we ask is the one question—If you have not misery unutterable, as any other members of the body that we have to life—if you are not labouring in this great remedy, Devines' Compound Pitch Lozenge will relieve you.
