At Quebec, Judge Johnson, in sentencing the man Lynch to two years' penitentiary for the manslaughter of a sailor, stated that he would not send him to a provincial gaol in consequence of the demoralization which exists therein.

In an action for seduction, tried at the Essex Assizes, Mr. Justice Armour made the significant remark to the jury that the policy hitherto pursued by judges in such cases of directing the jury to bring in light verdicts had failed of its object, namely, to reduce the number of such actions, and he thought it was time to try the effect of heavier verdicts. The jury accordingly brought in a verdict for $2,000 damages.

Two soldiers of the 97th regiment on Friday evening entered a house at Halifax, seized the inmate, Eliza Davis, with a bayonet, and outraged her in the most brutal manner. On the same night Grand Jurors could not find the sentry, obtain entrance to the ordnance yard, or arouse the guard. He procured a detail from the main guard, and scaled the wall of the yard. On the inside the whole guard, a corporal and three men, were found in a drunken slumber. They will be tried by district court-martial.

LUNATIC ESCAPED.—Hugh McLean, who a short time ago was taken to the London Asylum by Constable McKay, escaped from confinement, and started for home in Kinross. East Huron Teachers' Association.

A meeting of the N. H. T. Association was held at Brussels, Oct. 28th and 29th, 1880. The meeting was opened by the President, Mr. James Ferguson, in an able and elegant address, in which he laid before the association the entire educational programme. After the reading and reception of minutes of last meeting, Mr. Henderson of Blyth read an interesting paper on "monthly reports." This evoked much discussion, in which Messrs. Dewar, Duff, Allan and Munro participated. The subject of "Factions" was handled in a most admirable manner by Mr. R. Lees. Mr. Dewar, I.P.S., in "Notes by the Way," showed the many improvements in our school system, as compared with that of some thirty years ago, and then in a manner most agreeable, amusing, practical and entirely devoid of fault finding, proceeded to point out many of the errors and oversights, which he, during his experience as Inspector, had observed. The report of provincial delegate was read and adopted. The Rev. Mr. John Ross of Brussels, favored the audience with a brief address on the relation of the teacher to his work. He believed the teacher like the preacher, should be specially called to his work. He thought the teacher should have a high ideal of his profession, as man never rose above his ideal. He claimed that the teacher should exercise his influence more beyond the school, in the selection of reading matter for his pupils, and thus encourage a healthier and higher literary and scientific taste. His address was most heartily enjoyed, and the rev. gentleman received the thanks of the meeting. In the selection of a collection of fine problems, Mr. Hartley exhibited his method of handling "interest" by the unitary method. The report of committee on uniform promotional examination was received. "Three steps to English" by Mr. Taylor was the next subject. He presented the matter in tabulated form on the board, showing the close and natural connection between object lesson, composition and analysis. He first trained and developed the perceptive faculty and filled the young mind with ideas. He second trained the memory in recalling the ideas and developed the power of properly expressing them. The third strengthened and cemented the judgment and the critical faculty by dissecting and examining what the child in the last two steps had acquired and constructed. Mr. Chas. Clarkson, of the Seaforth high school, unable to attend in person, with his usual kindness and consideration forwarded an excellent paper on "object lessons" which was read to the great pleasure and profit of the teachers. After some discussion on the superannuation fund, the following motion was carried: that Messrs. Taylor, Dewar, Ferguson, Shaw, Clarkson and Henderson be appointed a committee to report on this matter. The teachers felt the disappointment caused by Mr. G. W. Ross's inability to attend in fulfillment of his first promise, but notwithstanding this the meeting was a marked success. The attendance was very large, the subjects under discussion interesting and instructive, and all who attended enjoyed a treat of instruction that will better fit them for the duties of life. S.O.
