knows just what is best when she distributes mugs. My frontispiece I thought too fierce; inspired by foolish hope, I sent away and got a tierce of Johnson's Beauty Dope. I spread the mixture on my brow, and on my cheeks and chin; "I will be fairly dazzling now," I said, and rubbed it in. I spread the ointment on my ears, and put some on my nose, and dreamed of going down the years as lovely as a rose. But all my dreams were doomed to smash, they died upon a day; the Beauty Dope brought out a rash that will not go away. And old friends view my face with grief; their gibes I've long endured; "You're looking like a side of beeef that wasn't rightly cured." My skin has an unwholesome shine, and scall is my crown; my nose is slightly out of line, my mouth is upside down
