The Public Despatch

The foreign news despatch today says that an important factor on the eve of the security conference between Great Britain, France, Belgium and Germany...

On several occasions recently messages have been somewhat unintelligible owing to the condensed form in which they are received.

The general public look to the daily despatch as the only means of keeping in touch with affairs in the outside world, and it is through the medium of the press that the news is disseminated.

We fully appreciate the difficulties of the Press Service in attempting to comply with the wishes of the Government in this matter, but if the news is to be of any value, the compilers must be permitted to exercise their discretion...

Daily News Appointment

The Telegram extends a hearty welcome to Mr. W. B. Temple, who has joined the editorial staff of the Daily News.

In wishing Editor Temple every success, we congratulate the Daily News upon having made such a valuable addition to its staff.
