The World Says: The decision gives to the Government and its, lessee, the fur company, all that was rightly asked. It only remains for the two interested recontries to carry out the provisions. First Annual Meet of the London

Three Thousand Spectators Enjoy the Sport.

Favoring Skies—Good Management—In teresting Contests-Hyslop and Man-ville Retain Their Ronors-Summary of the Various Events.

To over-estimate or misappraise the interest, enthusissm and success of the London Bloycle Club's first annual meet held yesterday afternoon on the Queen's Park track would tax a well-stocked vocabulary of superlative adjectives. The interest taken in the pastime was amply attested by the 3,000 persons who congregated to witness the various events. The enthusiasm possessed by the cyclists themselves rapidly permeated the whole assemblage, and the pecuniary success—substantial and encouraging—was commensurate with the patronage indicated. The race course was in prime condition. Rollers had been effectively used, and ease and celerity of motion was dependent but on personal effort. No pains, it may safely be said, were spared to minister to the wants of riders; and all these, judging from the numerous expressals of approval overheard, were gratified. Several asserted that this was the best meet they had ever participated in upon a horse race track. It was undoubtedly the finest ever witnessed in this section of Ontario. With a finely-constructed track, such as that now under consideration, London cannot but become the center of cycling race contests in Canada. Her facilities are unexampled, and the people are willing to extend a hearty support. Rarely has an affair of this kind been more efficiently managed than the one just concluded. No waits between events were experienced.

F. W. Young, a youthful rider belonging to the Wanderers, is deserving of prominent mention. The way in which he kept with the more experienced and seasoned riders in the long distance test was truly marvelous. He is the most promising rider among the younger element of track racers, and his form of locomotion in the various events in which he tried issues with the best and speediest cyclists in Canada does not indicate him as rateable very much below. He will doubtless be in the foremost rank nort season. most rank next season.
