Clark, announced that he would not vote for him again while New York was included in the Clark column. He changed his vote to Woodrow Wilson, but defiantly declared he would change again if "Mr. Murphy" and the Ryan-Belmont-Morgan crowd" should vote for Wilson.

Bryan was assailed from the floor many delegates, who demanded that his speech be stopped, and by other who demanded to know if he would support the nominee. Bryan said he "expected" to do so, but he also expected the convention to nominate a man without the support of the

Bryan was pale and haggard as he stood on the platform facing the tumult he had created on the floor belew him. He swayed back and forth and from time to time mopped the dripping perspiration from his fur-rowed brow. With one hand he held the iron railing in front of him and with the other nervously wielded a big palm leaf fan. When he spoke he had a density seve. His voice was husky. had a defiant glare in his sionally he would let go his hold of the iron railing to shake a warning finger at the delegates. Bryan held the stage for nearly as hour. It was thought to be his last stand before the convention, but he declared that if the right man was nominated he would introduce a resolution authorizing the candidate to appoint his own campaign committee and not be handicapped because of a national committee on which "the interests" were represented. Bryan's sensational move interrupted the fourteenth ballot. It created a great deal of feeling, and seemed in the opinion of most of the leaders to finally dispose of the Nebras-kan as a possible candidate. The antagonism to him was intensified. Mr. Bryan rose in his chair in the Nebraska delegation as the poll was ordered. He was interrupted by vote," as he asked to explain his vote. Acting Chairman Sulzer ruled that nothing was in order but the actual vote. Bryan persisted in explaining, amid shouts of "Vote, vote."

Bryan said: "As long as New York's votes are cast for Clark, I withhold my vote from him. The convention was in Senator Stone, of Missouri, shouted above the din, pleading with delegates and galleries to listen to Bryan. Bryan remained mounted on his chair. Senator Stone made his way to the platform to ask for time for Mr. Bryan to explain his vote. The resolution adopted against any candidate subservient to Morgan, Ryan and Bel-mont showed the desires of the conven-tion, Mr. Bryan said.

The vote of New York represented the wish of one man, Charles F. Murphy, declared Bryan, and he represented the same interests that sought to dominate the Chicago convention. He and his associates of the Nebraska delegation, he sald, were unwilling to accept the names of any man who was receiving the bene-fit of Mr. Murphy's leadership.

Shouts of approval constantly inter-rupted Bryan with occasional parliamentary protests, but he pushed on:

TORNADO THROUGH SASKATCHEWAN CAPITAL

left standing. Crowds of volunteers all over the city are assisting in the work.

SEVENTY-FIVE BODIES FOUND. The losses will reach $10,000,000. Seventy-five bodies have been recovered up to 10 p.m. Several villages to the northeast were also struck. Several fires broke out in Regina after the tornado and two of them attained dangerous proportions, but heroic work on the part of the firemen and volunteers saved the situation.

Scenes in the darkness are almost indiscribable. Railway yards and stores, etc., are being ransacked for lamps. The Imperial Oil Company is giving away oil to hotels, and surviving churches have been turned into temporary hospitals and morgues. The bodies of seven telephone girls have been taken from the debris of the Government Telephone Exchange.

RAILWAY CARS PICKED UP BODILY.

The C. P. R. yards is a flat expanse of ruined shops and trains. Hardly a car remains whole. Several were picked up bodily and carried distances in the air. One was carried right through the freight sheds. The whole north of the city is practically wiped out. No one knows how many are dead on this side of

A canoe was carried from Wascana Lake, a distance of three-quarters of a mile, to Victoria Park, and dropped there. Others, together with dinghies, and even small sailing vesstls, lie strewn over the southern section of the city, at distances varying up to hal fa mile from the Lake. The cupola of the Baptist Church was dropped in the middle of a street three blocks away.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Winnipeg, Man., June 30.—Leaving bodies in its wake, estimated to number anywhere between 100 and 400, a tornado tore through Regina, the capital of Saskatchewan, late today, devastating a large strip of business district, demolishing three churches and a dozen or more business houses. The telephone exchange was razed, with a dozen or so girls among the debris. The power plant shared the same fate, and to make the work of rescue more difficult the city tonight is in darkness.

CAPITOL BUILDING DESTROYED. Before entering the city from the southeast the storm destroyed the new capitol buildings, then it cleaned up some 200 or more private residences, then six grain elevators were blown across the tracks, completely blocking traffic. Then the storm passed away to the northeast. Chaos reigns tonight, and five thousand troops are being rushed to the scene from Sewel

Camp. PILLAGING COMMENCES. Already pillaging has commenced, and the mayor has issued orders to shoot anyone on sight seen pillaging or robbing the dead. Details are very meagre from Regina, and every dispatch gives a different estimate of the dead. THREE CHURCHES GONE. Three churches were destroyed and hundreds of people are injured. All hospitals are filled and stores are being turned into morgues and temporary hospitals. The surrounding towns and cities are sending doctors and nurses. All direct communication with Regina is cut off, and messages being received are dispatched from neighboring towns. The three telegraph offices and Winnipeg, June 30. - News of the disaster at Regina spread rapidly here, and newspaper offices were besieged by relatives and friends of Regina people anxiously inquiring for news. First reports here gave total deaths in the hundreds, and wires-being down more conservative estimates were not available for hours. Vice-President Bury, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, wired his sympathies, and offered all facilities of the company for alleviating distress.

WINNIPEG TELEPHONE GIRLS SENT FOR. A request was received by Chairman Hayes, of the Manitoba Telephone, for operators to take the places of those who lost their lives or who are injured, and a number of girls left tonight.

The General Hospital received a request for nurses, and these will leave in the morning. One of the first names as being among the dead received here was of Andrew Bryan, manager of Tudhope-Anderson Company, of Orillia, whose carriage and wagon warehouse was totally destroyed. Mr. Bryan, a native of Orillia, was formerly with the same company in Winnipeg. He was a member of the council of the board of trade in CUTS WIDE SWATH. Bodies of the killed and injured are being uncovered every minute. It was 5 o'clock in the afternoon when the cyclone struck the city, and in the history of the west, no such storm has ever been known. Coming from the south, it dropped just a-few blocks north of the city limits, cutting a wide swath several streets wide right down into the centre of the city, laying buildings flat in its wake.

CHURCHES RAZED. The Methodist and Baptist and Knox Churches, all magnificent structures, were the first of the larger buildings struck. The former went with a crash that hardly sounded above the howling of the storm and the roar of the cloudburst that accompanied the wind. The greater part of the roof was removed from the latter structure, and the storm moved on across Victoria Square, removing the walls and the roof from the Y. M. C. A., badly wrecking the magnificent new public library, both new this year, and passing thence to the Presbyterian Church, which was but little better off than the Methodist.

Y. M. C. A. DEMOLISHED. The Y. M. C. A. was next in line of the buildings demolished on the instant. A few small buildings were moved from their locations, some being carried across the street, and the Masonic Temple was next attacked, and just about razed. The block to the west, and one further north, the telephone exchange stood practically by itself, except for a few smaller buildings. Upon this the force of the storm had instantaneous effect, laying the building a flat mess of wreckage, under which the girls were imprisoned for over an hour. The Massey-Harris offices and warehouses, standing beside the C. P. R. yards, werep ractically demolished, and of the row of grain elevators upon which the farmers of the district are depending for the storage of their crops this season but one remains.

and it looks to me as if the deadlock will continue indefinitely." Managers Confer. In the conference, which lasted for seven unprofitable hours, were the managers of Speaker Clark, Governors Wilson, Harmon and Marshall, and Representative Underwood. Every one of them announced he would stick to his favorite to the end and hold all his people with him.

Speaking for the New York delega-tion, Charles F. Murphy said that the 90 votes for which he is the spokes-man will stay behind Clark so long as there is a chance of his nomination. Senator Stone and Governor David R. Francis, Clark's floor managers, said that the Speaker would be kept in the field and that there would be enough votes behind him to keep him a leading candidate to the end.

A. Mitchell Palmer, of Pennsylvania, the most aggressive of the Wilson leaders, said that the professor would not retire, and that his followers would support him to the finish.

For Governor Harmon, E. H. Moore, of Ohio, promised a continued fight, and Senator Bankhead, of Alabama, who was fresh from a conference with Underwood, announced that the clabama candidate would not permit the withdrawal of his name so long as there was a vote for him. Thomas Taggart, of India, who has steadily voted Indiana's 30 votes for Marshall, notified the other conferees that not even for Kern would Indiana
