CARNOT'S MURDERER

On Trial for His Life-A Mild Mannered, Innocent Looking

His Coolness and Self Possession-Denies Connection With Anarchists.

Lyons, Aug. 2.-The trial of Santo Caesario for the murder of President Carnot began here this morning. Caesario was transferred from the prison to the Palace of Justice at 5 o'clock this morning under a strong escort of gens d'armes. As the judges took their seat upon the bench, Caesario was ordered to be placed in the prisoners' dock. He is a mild-faced, comprisoners dock. He is a mild-raced, com-monplace youth. His complexion is fair. There is a faint suspicion of down upon his upper lip, and it seemed difficult to realize that such a mild mannered boy was the assassin of the chief magistrate of the assassin of the chief magistrate of the French republic.

The jury was then empanelled, several persons being objected to by Attorney (reneral Felchier. Under the questioning of the judge, Caesario recapitulated his antecedents. His Christian name was, he said, Santo Geronimo. He was born in November, 1873, and his father was a Frenchman. When questions were repeated he easily lost his temper like a petulant child, and it was necessary to translate the queries into Italian. Coming to the question of the prisoner's responsibility, the judge said: "Its an important point whether you are responsible or not."

revenged!"

The Judge said: "You claim to be the executor of popular justice, yet you are both the socueer and the executioner."

Cassario—"Here we are dealing with the tacts of the case. I am not inclined to discuss theories."

The Judge—"You are very young to pretend to judge the father of a family."

Caesario—"Youth is immaterial; soldiers equally young were guilty of worse crimes in shooting down the Sicilians."

The Judge—"But they were obeying orders."

Caesario—"They were imbecile oriminals to obey a murderous chief, instead of obeying their idea of justice, as I did."

M. Vaux, ontier at Cette, testified he sold the knife to the prisoner on the Friday evening before the assassination.

Caesario maintains that he bought the knife on Saturday.

M. Fochier read an affidavit from Mme. Viola, wife of Caesario's former employer, which stated that he was the centre of a group of anarchists in Cette. She related how he had said that if he should ever mount the scaffold he would be more mount the scaffold he would be more courageous than Henri.

Caesario interrupted at this point and said that was incorrect. "Henri," he said, "was courageous to the last. He couldn't have done better."

effect that an interview would be of no avail, as arrangements had been perfected to secure a new force of men, and that the deal had progressed too far to cancel it. He further announced that those of the old force who were acceptable to the company could sign contracts and go to work at once. There are probably 150 local miners who have not taken an active part in the strike. In the event of the company not employing more than 150 of the miners now located here it will be necessary for 250 or 300 men to seek employment in other fields, and in many instances their removal will work great hardship. The camp has been idle for the past three months, and the little savings of many have gone for the necessities of life, leaving numerous families quite poor, if not penniless. Some of the miners have comfortable homes, which represent their life's accumulation, and the disposal of their property at this time can be done only at a saurifice.

They bring information of the loss of the Ragnavald Jarl on May 24. Soon after leaving Dahe's island the boat encountered a great mass of pack ice, and despite every effort to escape the vessel was hemmed time to transfer the greater part of the provisions, scientific instruments, dogs and a luminum boats to the ice before the boat was destroyed. The meh who arrived here to day left the party after the accident, but Commander Wellman and the balance of the party, undaunted by the loss of their boat, resolutely set out in search of the pole. It is probable that another boat will be fitted up at once and sent to the rescue of the party.

HOP PROSPECTS.

PUYALLUP, Aug. 3.—The hop sphis is rapidly increasing, and all growers are spraying. It is a bad time for the insects to increase, as the foliage is so heavy as to prevent efficient spraying and burr is already forming and will be capable of sheltering.

to increase, as the foliage is so heavy as to prevent efficient spraying and burr is already forming and will be capable of sheltering the insects in a week or ten days. The prospect is for a light crop, although possibly not lighter than last year. Some growers report a good growth, while other fields are turning yellow. The wet, cold spring was unfavorable for yards upon heavy soil; those althated on light sandy soil are doing very well. It is said that A J. Lagary of Eith, has renewed his control. with Dr. Ramsey for three or five years at 15 cents per pound, the former contract having expired this spring. Mr. Query has succeeded in raising a good crop, and has manufactured his own soap. Mr. Bowman has contracted at 124 cents. These are a few figures very reassuring among as work.

WALKING FOR A WAGER. COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 3.—The identity of "Vivian Gray," an Englishman who passed through this city last spring on foot, has been established. He was walking from Boston to Monterey, Mexico, on a wager, a greeing to cover the distance in a certain time, without spending a/cent of his own money. He represented himself as a newspaper man and admitted that the name given was assumed, remarking in this connection that if he was to reveal his identity. He would have no trouble to get through. While here Mr. Gray was the guest of Governor McKinley's private secretary, Mr. Boyle, and was assisted by some of the mewspaper men in making his journey. To Mr. Boyle he confided his real name, and since he is on his return trip there is no longer necessity for concessing the man's lifentity. Mr. Gray is Brigadier General Sir Henry Wilmot, Bart, of Chaddeaden Hall, Derbyshire, England. He gained the honor of the Victoria cross while with Lord Wolseley when on one of his campaigus, not as a soldier, but as a newspaper correspondent.
