tends to be an Equal Rights man. But his very first proposition is a violation of the doctrine of equal rights. Under the constitution of 1867 the rights of the various provinces entering the confederation are defined, as well as certain rights of the minorities of the different provinces. It is surely a fundamental doctrine of the equal rights idea that no one section of the community shall be singled out and despoiled of the rights they enjoy under the B.N.A. Act. Every sect has the same right as every other sect to demand that our constitution shall be led sacred. To demand that the constitution shall be carried out to the letter is the equal right of all. But the great champion of equal rights proposes equal rights to everyone but to the Catholics. Little wonder then that Mr. McCarthy has earned the contempt of Protestants and Catholics alike.

Arthur B. Cheffins, deputy registrar of East Northumberland, gave evidence as to Dr. Mallory's attendance at the office, which at first, when he was appointed in 1890, was regular, but afterwards not so much so. Mr. Whitney put the witness to a severe examination to show that there was some understanding between Mr. Cheffins and the increased salary or some other consideration, but failed to prove anything of the bid forty-five cents, beys' forty cents.

Second sale will be held on APRIL 30, 1804, and prery Monday afterwards, commencing at 11 a.m. As the request of our numerous customers and friends we have decided to hold a weekly sale of high-class horses. You will find by attending our sales that we will be able to supply you with just what you want, having made arrangements to have continually on hand first-class Carriage, Readster, Saddle and Heavy Draft Horses that you can depend upon. Any person wishing to purchase a good sound horse should not fail to attend these sales, every animal being personally selected by myself, so that I have the utmost confidence in fully recommending any and all horses offered at these sales. And any not found as described can be returned with pleasure.
