

UNIVERSAL HISTORY,
FROM THE
CREATION OF THE WORLD, TO THE BEGINNING OF THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY.

BY THE LATE

HON. ALEXANDER FRASER TYTLER,

Lord Woodhouselee, Senator of the College of Justice, and Lord Commissioner of Justiciary in Scotland, and former Professor of Civil History, and Greek and Roman Antiquities in the University of Edinburgh.

IN TWO VOLUMES, large octavo, of more than a THOUSAND
PAGES, with a complete INDEX.

This important work has been stereotyped at considerable expense, and is now published in the most substantial and attractive form by the subscriber, and at a price so reasonable, that it is placed within the means of the humblest citizen.

By persons acquainted with the reputation of the distinguished author of this work, any attempt to urge his claims, would be justly deemed a labor of presumption. By those less acquainted with his eminent merits, a few words may not be considered as inappropriate.

Most people regard all Histories essentially alike; that is, for purposes of mere information. They are viewed as magazines of FACTS, to be drawn upon as we draw words and definitions from a dictionary. This is a great mistake. The whole of any thing may be so given in parts as hardly to be recognized when in form, and the parts of a History may be so disarranged in detail as to present a confused series of events which convey no definite idea of system or progress.
