

4. In the administration of the Act it has been found that an illustration of articles was used in advertisements with descriptions that would be a contravention of the Act if applied to the article itself. The weakness of the present Act is that the Act covers descriptions if applied to the article, but that an illustration of the article is not the article itself.