

in the

The Prussian account of the loss on both sides in the same action.

Prussians.

Kill'd ———	2500
wounded ———	4900
prisoners' ———	2
Generals
many Officers
private men	1500

2
1541
5
5
3649

Austrians.

(exclusive of the kill'd and wounded.)

Prisoners ———	Generals	4
	Officers	212
	private men; upwards of	8000

5619
russians.

taken by the Prussians — 50 pieces of cannon.

From these different accounts it may be concluded with too much probability, that the total loss on both sides, in this very destructive battle did not fall short of thirty thousand men.

Nov. 19. The Prussians took possession of Landshut, which the Austrians had previously abandon'd.

Nov. — The Epreuve, a French frigate of 200 tons, 14 guns, and 136 men, was taken by the Niger.

Nov. 29. Major General Breidenbach, at the head of two Hanoverian regiments, the Brunswick

K

wick

.)

2
2
95
4000

y the ustrians.

The