ARCHBISHOP McNEILL'S ADVICE TO THE HOLY NAME SOCIETY

Insist Upon Clean Speech in Homes, the Elementary Schools of Reverence—Teach Children as They Should Be Taught—Put Ban on Risky Stories and Diminish the Amount of Blasphemy.

A lofty, powerful and non-sectarian appeal for reverence and oral righteousness was made by His Grace Archbishop McNeill yesterday afternoon, when he preached in St. Michael's Cathedral to more than three thousand members of the Holy Name Society of Toronto. The presence of the archbishop in the pulpit brought forth the largest attendance the society has ever had at its semi-annual meetings, and hundreds of men were turned away after the cathedral had filled. To many men it was the first opportunity offered for hearing the archbishop since he came to Toronto. To these his grace gave a few words of greeting at the beginning of his sermon. A bad cold caused the archbishop much annoyance and several times in the course of his remarks he was reluctantly compelled to stop speaking. On account of these circumstances he cut his sermon very short.

Successful Service. James O'Hagan, president of the society, had charge of the arrangements for the service, which proved to be the most successful ever held. Members from 20 parishes of the city were present, and in the choir were the following: clergymen: Fathers Ganning, Flanagan, Staley, McInnis, W. McNeill, Deane, Whelan, Mauney, G. E. S. R. Connelly and Dr. Kidd. Very Rev. Dean Hand was deacon and Rev. James Walsh sub-deacon. Rev. McDonnell directed the singing, which was congregational in its nature, and Father McGrath of St. Michael's Cathedral recited the rosary and the prayer of the Holy Name of Jesus. Archbishop McNeill took the commandment, "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain," as his subject of his remarks. In opening he said church people were apt to consider reverence and cleanliness of speech as matters of small import, whereas, in reality, they were fundamentals of society and the state. The administration of justice, he claimed, had often been brought into ill-repute through perjuries and the utter disregard for the sanctity of the oath. Purity owed its existence to the fact that the sense of reverence of the perpetrator had weakened. Irreverence was a piercing weapon when it was found a man's body ceased to be a sanctuary consecrated to God.

Close Touch With Society. The archbishop said that although it was the first occasion he had had of coming into close touch with the society in Toronto, he knew that it was fulfilling the function of its creation and doing all in its power to meet the needs of the people. The society's motto, "To spread and increase the love and reverence for the Holy Name of Jesus, to put down the vice of blasphemy, and to prevent the use of profane and immodest language," was a constant reminder to the members, and through association with the society it was easier for anyone to lead a good Christian life.

In speaking of the ways of meeting the needs of the people, the archbishop called upon the members of the society to insist upon clean speech in their homes. "In the home," he said, "we have the elementary school of reverence, where the A. B. C. of reverence is required, but there are thousands of homes where that elementary A. B. C. of reverence is not required. Your duty is not there alone, however. Take a child that is never taught to obey, that is coaxed, or coddled, but is never really taught to respect the authority of the parents, and the result generally is that that child becomes so selfish that no room is left for any sense of reverence.

Teaching Children. "I ask you, in the name of God, to teach your children as they should be taught, to obey and show a genuine respect for the parents. It is to the mercy of the children that you do this. If children do not respect the parents whom God has given them, whom they have seen, how can you expect them to reverence God whom they have not seen?"

"If you can diminish the amount of blasphemy in the world, and if you can sustain and foster the reverence, then, indeed, you will be public benefactors."

Archbishop McNeill closed his remarks by calling upon the society to put the ban on vile stories. "Aim at putting the ban upon any kind of risky or amoral story," he said, "and God reward you for it."

VISITED ROSARY HALL

Archbishop McNeill Was Impressed With Good Work Done.

On Saturday afternoon Archbishop McNeill paid his first visit to Rosary Hall. He was accompanied by Rev. Father McDonnell, president, and Mrs. Macdonnell, vice-president. The visitors were shown thru the house, after which a formal reception was held. Those present were the officers, Lady and Mrs. T. Long, Mr. and Mrs. Day, Fast President Mr. and Mrs. Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Brown, Mr. C. Macdonnell, M.P., Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Fulton, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Meagher, Mrs. Rochesau, Mrs. Gough, Mrs. J. J. Walsh, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. O'Neill, Miss Clark, Miss Mallory, Mrs. O'Connor, Mrs. Fulton, the young ladies of the house, and the collectors. Following the reception, Archbishop McNeill gave a short address expressing his interest in the work of the institution, that of providing a comfortable and suitable home for working girls. He had been interested in a similar scheme in Vancouver, and that he had failed, he hoped for better results here. Rosary Hall should be enlarged to accommodate 150 or more, and as an earnest of his good-will, his grace there and then gave his cheque for $500. He also hoped that the many in Toronto who were richer than he from the west would multiply that amount many times. Tea was then served by a number of young lady friends of the institution.

DIG INTO THIS MINE OF 35,000 TOPICS

Readers of The World Have Two More Days to Clip Coupon For Great Books.

There was a tremendous response to The World's "book bargain" last week. The "bargain" was genuine, and consisted of a complete set of Everybody's Cyclopaedia, which usually sells for $12, at the ridiculously low price of $1.88 for the five volumes. The coupon for the set was a coupon clipped from The World.

The demand was so great that The World felt in duty bound to give its readers another opportunity. Hence, today's issue that another two days will be given to the distribution of this wonderful set of reference books. Next Friday and Saturday are the days and the price remains the same, $1.88 for the five volumes complete.

Everybody's Cyclopaedia is a reference work that should be in every home. Every school boy or girl should have access to it, and every man, woman and child should have a convenient shelf. Permanent Citizens' Organization Is Formed to See That Town Is Kept Dry.

GALT, Jan. 12.—(Special.)—Local optionists held a largely attended open business meeting last night, at which the situation was freely discussed. The executive committee are considerably exercised over the press comments on the recent vote, implying that a revision of feeling is indicated by the adverse majority of 47 in a community which three years ago carried the act by a margin over the requisite three-fifths.

Secretary James R. Cavers, candidly admits that the vote shows up disappointingly in contrast with the former polling, but he thinks that it was due to the inactivity born of fancied security.

At the meeting with M. S. McKay in the chair, it was decided to appoint an executive committee of eight to be the basis of a permanent organization, and a general citizens' committee of sixty to co-operate in the work of enforcement of the act and in keeping along dry lines.

The question of hotel accommodation was threshed out at considerable length. While denying the allegation, the executive proposed to have an investigating committee appointed to look into the matter and report on the spot.

If any of the town in this respect, it was decided to adopt to supply it.
