

63. History of the Consulate and the Empire of France:—Under Napoleon. Forming a Sequel to "The History of the French Revolution." By M. A. THIERS. Translated from the French. By D. FORBES CAMPBELL, and H. W. HERBERT; with notes and additions. In two vols. 8vo., cloth, pp. 638+506=1144. (American Edition.) Price $2.25.

These volumes are intended as a sequel to the author's History of the French Revolution; and are written in the same brilliant style. The author is not a blind admirer of his hero. The work brings the history of the Empire no later than 1808.

64. The History of France:—In two vols. 18mo., cloth, pp. viii, 468+485=953. (London Religious Tract Society.) Price $1.25.

These two volumes are accompanied with two maps,—one of Ancient France, the other of Modern Europe; are full of characteristic incidents; are written in a simple, narrative, attractive style; and are designed to present a brief religious view (under the influence of Protestant feelings) of the eventful history of France. The Preface states—"The history commences at the earliest period; and it is not merely a civil and military history of the government of France, but of the people. Another feature of this history is, that it comprehends a view of the Religion of France, noting events which are not usually made prominent in histories of that land."

65. The French Revolution and Napoleon Bonaparte. 18mo., cloth, pp. 192+192=384. (London Religious Tract Society.) Price 38 cts.

This is a lively and instructive sketch of the most extraordinary revolution and the most extraordinary character of modern times—admirably adapted to youthful readers.

66. The French Revolutions, from 1798 to 1849. By T. W. REDHEAD. In three vols. 18mo., cloth, pp. 320+328+376=1024. (English Edition.) Price $1.70.

This is a calm and lucid review of the successive governments, revolutions, wars, statesmen, and people of France during the last half century and more.

67. Court and Camp of Bonaparte. 16mo, cloth., pp. 423. (English Edition.) Price 68 cts.

- Ibid*:—American Edition. Half sheep, 16mo, pp. 389. Price 38 cts.

This book is like a picture gallery, containing historical portraits of Napoleon, his brothers, sisters, wives, ministers, and generals—the whole presenting an instructive and entertaining view of Napoleon and his times.

68. The History of the Bastille and its principal Captives:—By R. A. DAVENPORT. 16mo., cloth, pp. 464. (English Edition.) Price 68 cts.

- Ibid*:—American Edition. 12mo., cloth, pp. 349. Price 40 cts.

This originally formed one of the series of Murray's "London Family Library." It has frequently been reprinted in England and in the United States. It contains much of the history of France during the last three centuries—gloomy pictures, with backgrounds of midnight.

69. A Compendious History of Italy:—Translated from the original Italian. By NATHANIEL GREENE. 16mo, half sheep, pp. 319. (American Edition.) Price 38 cts.

A fair Translation of a carefully compiled and well written epitome of the History of Italy, by Signor Sforzosi, in Italian.

70. The History of Poland:—From the earliest period to the present time. By JAMES FLETCHER, Esq. Half sheep, 16mo., pp. 339. (American Edition.) Price 38 cts.

This is a concise and comprehensive history of an ill-fated country, the very mention of which gives rise to melancholy feelings.

71. Historical and Descriptive Account of British India:—From the most remote period to the present time. By HUGH MURRAY and others. In three vols. 16mo., half sheep, pp. 296+333+379=1008. (American Edition.) Price $1.10.

These volumes embody a vast amount of information within narrow limits, and appear to have been prepared with impartiality and accuracy.

72. The History of the British Empire in India:—By the Rev. G. R. GLIG, A.M. In four vols. Maps and Engravings. 16mo., cloth, pp. 300+361+336+374=1371. (English Edition.) Price $2.75.

These volumes are accompanied with a map, and are adorned with several beautiful engravings; but they are rather a history of the conquests, with some portraits of the character of the inhabitants, than a history of the country itself—its productions, commerce, social state and progress.

73. British Colonies in North America:—Canada. Maritime Provinces. 18mo., cloth, pp. 252. Do., do., do., pp. 301. (London Christian Knowledge Society.) Price 45 cts. each.

These small volumes contain the best transatlantic description and epitome of the history of Canada and the other British North American Provinces with which we have met. The statistics of Upper Canada are, however, not brought down later than 1840, and it is everywhere assumed that the Church of England is the Established Church of these Provinces. These mistakes excepted, these volumes are admirably prepared, and are accompanied with well executed maps.

74. The Indians of North America:—With engravings. 18mo., square, cloth, pp. 296. (London Religious Tract Society.) Price 50 cts.

This is a beautifully written epitome of the character, customs, usages, &c., of the Indians of North America, followed by a brief account of Christian Missions among them.

75. McCulloch's Universal Gazetteer:—A Dictionary, Geographical, Statistical, and Historical of the various countries, places, and principal natural objects in the world. By J. R. McCULLOCH, Esq. With American additions. By DANIEL HASKET, M.A. Illustrated with seven large Maps. In two vols. Royal 8vo., sheep, double columns, pp. 1148+1109=2257. (American Edition.) Price $5.50.

The title sufficiently indicates the contents and objects of this noble work; a work of great research, and important to every library. The American editor, justly remarks—"If extensive and accurate information with respect to the present condition of the world is desired, it is believed that this great work, with its improvements, will afford the opportunity of obtaining it with the least expense of time, trouble and means."

76. The History of the United States of America:—From the discovery of the Continent, to the organization of the Government under the Federal Constitution. By RICHARD HILDRETH. In three vols. 8vo., cloth, pp. xxvi, 570+xxiii, 579+xxiv, 592=1814. (American Edition.) Price $4.75.

- Ibid*:—From the adoption of the Federal Constitution to the end of the Sixteenth Congress. By RICHARD HILDRETH. In three vols. 8vo., cloth, pp. xxiv, 704+xxiii, 696. (American Edition.) Price $4.75.

The most elaborate History of the United States yet written,—intended to be impartial, but written under the influence of strong American feeling against England. But apart from its reference to England, it is, upon the whole, impartial, and admirably written. It may be regarded as a standard History of the United States—three volumes being occupied with their Colonial history, and three with their history as independent States.

77. History of the Colonization of the United States:—From the earliest discovery of the American Continent, to the Peace of Aix la Chapelle, 1763. By GEORGE BANCROFT. In three vols. 8vo., sheep, pp. —+viii, 466+viii, 476. (American Edition.) Price $5.00.

This is a charming History from beginning to end—full of instruction given in a most attractive style.

79. A History of the American Revolution:—First published by the Society for the Diffusion of Useful Knowledge. Revised and enlarged. By the Rev. J. L. BLAKE, D.D. 16mo., half sheep, pp. 232. (American Edition.) Price 31 cents.

The Society under whose auspices this narrative was prepared, is a sufficient guarantee of its English and literary character; and its having passed through several editions in America, is proof of its impartiality and excellence in the estimation of the American public.

80. History of the United States:—From their First Settlement as Colonies to the close of the Administration of Mr. Madison in 1817. By SALMA HALE. In two vols., half sheep, 16mo, pp. 295+292=587. (American Edition.) Price 75 cts.

A standard compendium of the history of the United States—useful as an introduction to a larger work—written in an agreeable style.

81. Border Wars of the American Revolution:—By WILLIAM L. STONE. In two vols., half sheep, 16mo, pp. 384+381=765. (American Edition.) Price 75 cts.

These volumes are full of thrilling incident, and are written in the lively style of the author of the Life of Brant.

82. An Historical and Descriptive account of Iceland, Greenland, and the Faroe Islands:—18mo., half sheep, pp. 360. (American Edition.) Price 38 cts.

This volume, originally published in Edinburgh in 1840, and reprinted in New York in 1851, delineates, with much labour and skill, the physical features, history, customs and character of the people of three of the most remarkable countries on the globe.

83. The History of Charlemagne. By G. P. R. JAMES, Esq. Half sheep, 18mo., pp. 408. (American Edition.) Price 38 cts.

With the age of Charlemagne, the great drama of the history of the modern kingdoms of Europe opens. A knowledge of the state of France and the other nations of western Europe at that period is neces-
