This was the opinion given the board of control by the city solicitor yesterday on the question of whether granting the rights desred by the Met-ropolitan would prevent the extension granting the rights desired by the Metropolitan would prevent the extension of the Toronto Railway system to Summerhill-avenue, says Mr. Chisholm: "Unless the Toronto Railway and Metropolitan should agree as to their respective rights there would probably be the important question to be decided by the court whether the Metropolitan Railway has or has not an exclusive right to operate on Yonge-street within the city limits. In case that is decided in the negative then the question would arise whether the city or the Toronto Railway must provide for or contribute to the cost of a bridge or of any additional protection at the railway crossing. THE EARL AND THE GIRLS. Fisher Folk in the British House of Lords. Long after the naval exhibition at Earl's Court has passed into history, one incident will remain treasured and fresh in the minds and memories of nine Scotch lassies and two Scotch fishermen, says The London Daily News.

These people are engaged at present in the Scotch fishing village, knitting sea stockings and mending nets. During their period of occupation they met Mr. James, who is the skipper of the "Old Ship" at Scarborough, the "old ship" being the Figherman's Institute. the "Old Ship" at Scarborough, the "old ship" being the Fishermen's Institute, and Mr. James is well known to every Scotch fisherman who puts into Scarborough. Last Sunday morning Mr. James invited the fisher folk to accompany him to the Temple Church, and that visit led up to the incident, which is destined to live long in their memories.

As the party were leaving the church they met and were introduced to the Earl of Aberdeen. There was some desultory conversation, and then the earl said: "Would you like to see the house of lords?" "Yes," was the unanimous reply, and the visit was arranged. Five of the girls and one of the fishermen visited the gilded chamber on Tuesday, but it was to the remaining four and the other fisherman that the chief honor fell. Their turn came yesterday, which happened to be the fifty-eighth birthday of the noble host.

A "Daily, News" representative visited the birthday goests yesterday, and the birthday goests yesterday, and the birthday goests yesterday, and the many processing to the death of their son.

ed the exhibition later in the day.

There is one thing that rankes, however. A contemporary referred to the humble homes of the visitors.

"I dinna know why they shuid ca' when they shuid ca' when they shuid ca' when they said one of the girls in indignant tones. "There's mony a home in London that's humbler," and the old fisherman took up the strain. Fetching a photograph he said. "That's where I've lived for forty years, and it's nae siccan a humble hame."

"Did you go in fishing costume?"
"Oh, no. We put on the best we had for the earl, and if we had had better we would have put them on. It would have been dishonoring him to go to the house of lords in our fishing clothes."

"We saw the lord chancellor," interpolated one of the girls."
"Yes, and a funny sight he looked "Yes, and a funny sight he looked with his wig on," put in another.

"The story of the tea on the terrace with a real live earl will be told and retold in the Highland homes when the exhibition is closed and the fishing village is no more. Then also will the proul recipients produce sprigs of white heather which were bestowed upon them in commemoration of the earl's birthday. # CIVIC INSURANCE PLAN IS GIVEN ITS QUIETUS

City Solicitor Shows Obstacles-More Civic Employes Make Bid for Increases - Queen St. Changes.

That familiar spectre at board of control gatherings, the island sand pump, made its appearance again yesterday. As a consistent drainer of the city's reserves, that bit of mechanism is equaled by few and surpassed by none. This time, so City Engineer Rust none. This time, so City Engineer Rust explained, the want was for $3000, and the claim was based upon the extra work the sand pump had been called upon to perform, since the controllers had ruled that its labors must continue into the night hours.

Mr. Rust explained that the projected new field of usefulness for the sand pump was the filling up of the athletic site opposite the Island Park. The board could not see accrued money profits out of this undertaking, and agreed to add but $1000 for the present to the sum total of the sand pump's accumulations.

Controller Spence with his and accumulations.

Controller Spence, with his usual care for detail, wanted to know what disposition would be made of the material to be taken from the water tunnel between the city and the island. Mr. Rust's vigilance had taken account of this matter in drawing up the specifications, and he explained that it would be partly utilized in filling in around the water works shaft.

Modest Merit a Winner.

So impressed was Mr. Rust with the Modest Merit a Winner.

So impressed was Mr. Rust with the value to the city of the services of C. E. Cooper, chief clerk in the roadway office; and W. R. Parsons, assistant to the roadway engineer, that he urged the board to raise the salary of each to $1200 a year. He saw outside interests watching for a chance to corral them, and they might be lost to the city.

City.

Controller Shaw, whose broad sympathies always go out to the applicant for higher pay, wanted the increase granted, but the mayor thought the spence was of opinion that civic employes should be allowed to accept the offers they were wont to dangle before the board when they wanted a raise. Controller Ward, too, was wearied with the stream of civic employes with the larger pay envelope for their platform. However, the board came to an agreement whereby the services of Cerebally and to the stream of the services of Cerebally and the services of Cerebally and the services of Cerebally and to the services of Cerebally and the services of Cerebally and to the services of Cerebally and to the applicant the services of Cerebally and the services the board came to an agreement where-by the services of Cooper and Parsons are to be retained at a salary of $1200 to begin Oct. 1. Less Electric Light.

The specifications for new lighting contracts were considered and tenders will be advertised for. At present the minimum number of electric lights provided for is over 1200, but it was agreed to reduce this to 2000 for the reason, that on shedd streets the garson that on shaded streets the gas lamps are more effective. The motion of Controller Ward that tenders be received on a two instead of a fivepectived on a two instead of a nve-year basis was voted down on the re-presentation that it would give the To-ronto electric light a monopoly. No Municipal Insurance.

In his report to the board City So-citor Chisholm did what he could to hrow water on the plan that the city stablish a municipal insurance sch statuory powers necessary, and said that the nearest approach to legislation along this line was the Ontario Insurance Act, which allowed mutual and cash mutual fire insurance companies to be formed. That this offered no loophole, Mr. Chisholm submitted in this statement: his statement:

this statement:

There is a condition, however, which must be fulfilled before the minister, under whose direction the act is to be administered, will allow such proceedings to be taken and that condition is that it must be shown to the satisfaction of the minister that there exists in the municipality no adequate provision for the insurance on the mutual in the municipality no adequate pro-vision for the insurance on the mutual plan of property against fire. The first consideration therefore in regard to Toronto would be whether this condi-tion could be said to exist. As I un-derstand there are a number of mutual insurance companies doing business in surance companies doing business in the city.

To Widen Queen Street. To Widen Queen street.

The extension of James-street to Richmond-street suggested by Manager Fleming of the street rallway as an alternative part of his scheme for a series of loop lines, was brought forward as a motion by Controller Spence, who considered the time ripe in view of the razing of Knox Church. As a part of the controller's plan, Queenpart of the controller's plan, Queen-street would be widened 25 feet on the south side. The city engineer and as-sessment commissioner will report sessment commissioner will reupon the extension and widening. upon the extension and widening.

Dire wrongs were complained of in a petition of Dundas-street residents. It was asserted that engineers on the trains crossing that section had acquired the habit of causing whistles long and shrill that played havoc with the nerve centres of residents. The board will have Mr. Chisholm's opinion upon the chances for redress.

The incursion of a furious bull into a armhouse at Kierling, Austria, led to the discovery of a hidden treasure. The bull, meeting two tourists walking by the banks of the river, made a rush and galloped after them as they were running in the direction of the village.

They rushed for shelter into an old

Immediately afterwards the farmer who occupied the house discovered lying in a corner of the lower room a heavy iron box which, on being forced open, was found to contain a large quantity of gold and silver coins of the time of the Emperor Charles V., their value being roughly estimated at £15,000.

Over the treasure box had become dis-lodged from its secret hiding place under the flooring when the buil had crashed thru the woodwork.

KILLS HIMSELF IN COFF.NI Sloux City, Ia., Aug. 15.-Lars Peterson, cabinet-maker, was busy last week in his workship. This morning after he had been therein an hour, his after he had been therein an hour, his wife called him, but there was no answer. She entered, but found only a coffin. With an axe she broke open the lid and found her husband dead. He had run a hose from a gas pipe lid from the inside, folded his arms and died. He was despondent over money troubles.
