

4 FRIDAY MORNING
ARCHITECT LENNOX HAS BOWED AT LAST BUT TO JUDGES ONLY

Revolving Chairs for the Judges Are Intra Dig and Not Appropriate, and Must Not Be Used in the Court Rooms of the New Civic Pile—Courts Must Be Ready Soon.

It is consistent with the character of justice to furnish the bench with revolving chairs? Architect Lennox thinks it is. Mr. Justice Ross, of another opinion, holds that such an innovation would be instituting a comparison between the law courts and a roulette board. The question is one of burning interest just now. Architect Lennox was so confident about the appropriateness of his way of looking at the question that he actually ordered the revolving chairs for the accommodation of the judges who will sit on the bench of the law courts in the City Hall Building. Mr. Lennox put down the revolving chairs plainly in his specifications. The work was half done when Mr. Justice Ross heard about it. How the judge came by his knowledge of the architect's intentions does not appear; but certain it is that no sooner had he heard of E. J. A. Lennox's idea than he lodged a protest. He held that revolving chairs would be undignified and not harmonious with the traditions of the bench in Ontario. Mr. Lennox had to submit. This was the first time in his life that he ever submitted to anything. The triumph of Mr. Justice Ross is, therefore, all the more significant of a force tug-of-war between the two. The trouble has been the cause of much delay in the furnishing of the courtrooms. The city yesterday received an ultimatum from the courts, and a special meeting of the Board of Control was called for the early hour of 10 a.m. to take action.

Judge McDougall Kicks.
H. R. Irvine, Clerk of the Peace, wrote: "I am instructed by His Honor to inform you that proper courtroom accommodation for the holding of the County Court and General Sessions will be required to be provided for the 15th September and following weeks. The legal liability to make such provision rests, under the law, upon the corporation of the City of Toronto, and unless the same is provided, the question of the steps to be taken to secure a performance of these statutory obligations will have to be considered forthwith."

Get the Court Room Ready.
The Board of Control ordered that the City Commissioners get the courtroom ready at the earliest possible moment. He will use all the furniture available, as supplied under Messrs. Rogers' contract with the city, and will borrow the rest. He will not complete the revolving chairs for the judges, as provided for in Mr. Lennox's specifications. There are eleven of these chairs. The principal one would cost $65, and the rest $50 each. At that or any other figure, the chairs must be supplied without wheels or any other testaments of chicory. The judges will have them sold, on four old-fashioned legs, and no other style.

Wants Lennox Dismissed.
When the matter was before the Board yesterday, Ald. Spence, who is in charge of the legal department on this point, suggested that Mr. Lennox be dismissed right away. The board had options from the legal department on this point, and the Controller thought it would be no harm to have still another opinion. Ald. Spence's motion was sidetracked in the same old way.

Want Electric Poles Remedied.
D. J. Alinga and a number of the ratepayers on Eglinton-avenue waited upon the board. They sought the removal of the electric light Company's poles along the street, between College and Usher, and their translation to Usher. The poles are being relocated. The present time the engineer was called upon, and explained that the poles were being laid in the usual way among the trees, which is usually considered satisfactory.

Teachers' Hours.
Some time ago the board sent a committee to the Police Commissioners asking what had been done in the way of a by-law regulating the hours of labor for teachers. Another commission had been sent after the first, enquiring what had been done in the way of a by-law. The Police Commissioners' answer, the Police Commissioners' answer.

A SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS TRIP
Mr. Gerhard Heintzman Home Again From the Pacific Coast—Great Future Before the Territories.
The world had a very interesting little chat yesterday afternoon with Mr. Gerhard Heintzman, who has just got back to the city after being away for some length of time on a business trip to the Pacific Coast. Questioned as to the prospects in the Northwest Territories, Mr. Heintzman said that the crops in the majority of cases were simply magnificent, and the cattle and horse industry also was in a most flourishing condition.

Prospects Never Brighter.
Speaking about his own particular line of business, he said that the prospects were never brighter, and the immediate trade of the Gerhard Heintzman plan is positively enormous. I have taken, while away, orders for no less than four carloads of pianos, and among these are three beautiful Roudolf Grand, one of which is to be sent to Lieutenant-Governor Forges of Regina.

Success Simply Marvelous.
The success that the Gerhard Heintzman plan has met with is nothing short of marvelous. Just recently they have sent one of their pianos to the Northwest Territories, and among these are three beautiful Roudolf Grand, one of which is to be sent to Lieutenant-Governor Forges of Regina.

Local Sales Advance.

GOLDSTEIN MURDER INQUEST.
Evidence to Show That the Dead Man's Insurance Premium Was Paid After His Death—Two Daughters Tell Their Story to the Coroner's Jury.

Two important witnesses were placed on the stand when the Goldstein murder inquest was resumed last night before Coroner Young, at the Court-street Station. They were Kate and Mary Goldstein, the two daughters of the deceased, who have taken proceedings to upset the will made by their father, in which he bequeathed almost everything he possessed to the female prisoner, Fanny Helpert.

What the Girls Swear.
Their story, which referred to the relationship which existed between their father and Fanny Helpert, impressed all who heard it. The girls related several incidents which led them to believe that Meyer Shapiro and Fanny Helpert were very intimate, so much so that their father had often spoken to them about the woman about her conduct towards him.

Harris Marks the Story.
Harris Marks, 127 West Adelaide-street, who was the first to see Goldstein in his room, testified that he saw Goldstein in his room, and that he saw Goldstein in his room, and that he saw Goldstein in his room.

The Insurance.
The inquest then closely questioned the witnesses about what she took place at the time of her father's death. She declared that a few minutes after the death of her father, she saw a man in a dark coat, who she identified as Meyer Shapiro, who was the man who had taken her father's life.

Fanny's Books and Valuable Goods.
Mary Goldstein also stated that she had a visit to her father's room three days after the death, and found that Fanny Helpert's books and valuable goods were in the room. She also stated that she had seen Fanny Helpert in the room, and that she had seen Fanny Helpert in the room.
