Coasting Laws Will Go Hard With Them.

Montreal, Nov. 21 .- According to the Montreal grain men, the refusal of the overnment to abrogate the coasting law, so far as it refers to American bottoms not being allowed to transport grain between two Canadian ports, has placed them in a very bad position, and they are ut-PRO-BOER ELECTED TO COMMONS terly unable to complete their contracts.

The result of the voting was as follows: Lynch 1247, Plunkett 473.

On the whole, the polling was conducted with comparative orderliness. A large additional force of police prevented numerous street scrimmages, which were the outcome of drunkenness from developing seriously. Women were conspicuous in these affairs, and many of them were arrested.

The ports of Montreal, Quebec and St. John and the navigation and rallway companies will lose this fall and winter the transportation of 2,000,000 bushes of grain because of the absence of this tonnage. The action of the government is, however, not only justifiable, but it could not have been otherwise this year. This development, however, must take place without delay. Paris was not built in a day. We have up to recent years neglected our means of transportation, but we are now going ahead."
