Girl Graduates

Their Diplomas. Addresses by the Mayor and Other Speakers.

Yesterday afternoon a very interesting event took place at the City General Hospital. It was the presentation of diplomas and gold medals to the young ladies who this year graduated as trained nurses. The presentation was made by Mayor Little in the dining hall at the hospital, in the presence of the members of the Hospital Trust, and a large number of friends of the graduates. It was for various reasons of a more private character than similar events in previous years. Col. Lewis, chair- 216 Dundas St., London, Ont. man of the trust, presided, and announced the names of the graduates: Misses Bessie Brown, Edith Rigsby, Lizzie Matthews, Martha Tye, Agnes Davis, Bert Jelley (New York), Kate Roberts (Toronto), and Nellie Barrows, (Miss Vokes, of Strathroy). The last three named were unable to be present. Mayor Little made the presentation, and in doing so said the young ladies could not have selected tunity. Mr. Johnston spoke in high a more honorable or more important calling, or one so much like that of our Saviour, as that of nursing the sick. It was a work of greater importance, in many respects, than that of the physician, and among those pursuing it were some of the best and | will be forwarded to them by mall. nost highly educated ladies of the They were deserving of credit arrive in time. for doing the many things they had to do. Although unexpected, it had been a very great pleasure to make the presentation, and he wished the young ladies every success.

Col. Lewis referred to his recent illness, and said he owed his life to the fact that he had a trained nurse attending him, adding that the physician was deserving of some praise. He regretted that the officials had decided not to have the presentation in public hall.

Mr. C. F. Complin spoke of the success which had attended other graduates, and said he believed the ladies who had just graduated would be a credit to the hospital.

had to have the best of character and ma. He hoped they would go on and Mr. Thomas Purdom said the abscence of sociability had taken away some of the pleasure at the presentation. He spoke in the highest praise of the ladies and their calling, which he said they had chosen from goodness of heart rather than for the money there was in it. Rev. Robt. Johnston was here noticed by the president, and was called upon to address the graduates. He said it vas the most Christlike vocation that any young lady could follow. He would be glad when the churches saw the advisability of erecting wards for hospitals instead of decorating their turrets and elevating their spires. The ladies, he said, should not think nursing the highest calling. God's greatest

The quarters at the corner of Richmond and King streets which were occupied since the F. C. B. C. was first opened for the reception of students failed to accommodate the increased attendance. and this week a move was made to the new home of the college in the magnificent building on Wellington street erected by the Young Men's Christian Association, where desirable convenience and facility is

It is but a few steps removed from the heart of the business portion of the city, yet in a locality where the noise and bustle of the busy streets will not reach the college rooms. One entire flat is fitted out for the college, and it is reached by a private stairway. The entrance is at the south-east corner of the building. At the head of the stairway is a large corridor, and here visitors find much to interest them, for on the walls nang the large group photographs taken each year of the students, and there are few residents of Western Ontario who do not know some of the many hundreds of students whose photos are there presented.

The first door opens to the public reception parlor, adjoining which is he principal's cosy private office. Then collow commodious class rooms, each equipped with the finest of oards, and birch combination seats and desks of the latest pattern, with ball-bearing action. These class rooms are distinctly separate, lifferent classes can be conducted without interruption. In the northeast corner is the shorthand and typewriting room, which is divided by a glass partition. Special

erously supplied.

For the comfort of those who remain at noon there is a lunch and reading room. The flat also comprises a stationery room, cloak and toilet rooms. and a capacious, well-lighted, wellequipped lecture hall. This is a very ine room, and is on the west side. lighted from the west and north by twelve large windows. It is capable of seating at desks nearly 150 students. Along one side of this hall are the offices of the business practice, where the student takes an active part in practical business transactions. The building is heated by steam, and lighted by gas and electricity. The quarters are so well adapted for a business college, and the equipments so complete that the F. C. B. C. will soon be, if not now, the model business training school of the Dominion.
