Walter Baker & Co., Limited. Dorchester, Mass., U. S. A.

PURE, HIGH GRADE

on this Continent. No Chemicals are used in their manufactures. Their Breakfast Cocoa is absolutely pure, delicious, nutritious, and costs less than one cent a cup. Their Premium No. 1 Chocolate is the best plain chocolate in the market for family use. Their German Sweet Chocolate is good to eat and good to drink.

It is palatable, nutritious and healthful; a great favorite with children. Consumers should ask for and be sure that they get the genuine Walter Baker & Co.'s goods, made at Dorchester, Mass., U. S. A. CANADIAN HOUSE, 6 Hospital St., Montreal.

mamma.

like big, soft puffs.

ing folks up.

gravely.-Zion's Herald.

"Yis, yer honor."

you of stealing?'

your riverence?'

Tilly away to the kitchen.

sober face.
"Wait and see!" smiled dear grand-

Tilly went to bed early and woke up early. How astonished she was to find herself at grandma's, but not nearly

"Mamma! Mamma! See me!" she shouted. "Look at my cheeks! They did grow fat in the night!"

Tilly's cheeks were round as round could be. They stood out on both sides

And then it was mamma's turn to say "Oh-h!" She said it twice. For

"Come with me, quick!" said mamma with a little groan. And she hurried

She got a teaspoon and the vinegar cruet and poured out a little of the clear amber liquid. "Drink it, dear," she said. And then Tilly uttered a little scream. For the vinegar flew down her throat, and then flew up again to her ears and, oh, how it bit

"I was afraid so," cried mamma,

When grandma came in, and grandpa, the vinegar bottle and Tilly's cheeks told everything.

"Mumps!" murmured grandma.

And that was how Tilly grew fat in one night! But to this day grandpa boasts that there's nothing in all the world like his Jersey cream for fatten-

"In two doses," he always says,

"Patrick, the Widow Maloney tells me that you have stolen one of her finest pigs. Is that correct or not?"

"Oh, Patrick; Patrick! When you are brought face to face with the widow and her pig on judgment day what account will you be able to give of yourself when the widow accuses

"Did you say the pig would be there.

"To be sure I did."
"Well, then, your riverence, I'll say,

The late Charles Matthews now and then failed, like some of the rest of us, in meeting his bills as promptly as the tradespeople concerned could de-tailor, named Berry, lately succeeded to his father's business, sent in his account somewhat ahead of time.

Whereupon Matthews, with virtuous rage, seized his pen and wrote him the following note: "You must be a goose-Berry, to send me your bill-

Berry, before it is due—Berry. Your father, the elder—Berry, would have had more sense. You may look very black-Berry, and feel very blue-Berry, but I don't care a straw-Berry, stops at McAllisterville leave here?"

'You'll have to wait four hours."

"Well, maybe you know better than

"Yes, sir, and may be you know better than I do whether I am expecting to travel on that train myself or whether I am inquiring for a relative that's visiting at my house and want-and save her the trouble because she's packing up her things and expects to take that train herself and not me, and she'll have to do the waiting and not me, and may be you think it's your business to stand behind there and try to instruct people about things they know as well as you do if not better; but my idea is that you're put in the switching department and perhaps you'll learn some day to give people civil answers when they ask you civil questions young man my opinion

PEACE WITH HONOR.

Anna Foster and Alice James, both

Sir John Bridge-I see there are cross

Foster-Yes, your honor; you just look at my leg, where she kicked me.

(Laughter.) It's a mercy it ain't

James-That ain't 'arf wot I got.

your worship. I've got the remains of two black eyes wot she gave me.

An' just you look at my hat, wot she's done to it. And she appealingly held out a battered mass of straw, and what had once been green ostrich

Sir John Bridge-Now, I am sure you ladies don't want to disagree. Go away and make it up; it will be far

Foster-Your worship, just you see

Sir John Bridge (hastily-No, no.

James-What about my eyes, and

Sir John Bridge-Never mind; make it up. You will each be bound over in An old lady at the back of the court—Very good, Sir John. May you live long and die happy. (Laughter.) Come along, Alice! — London, Eng.

A DILEMMA.

"Sure, an' the trouble is with the twins, mum. One of them is cryin' because he swallowed his rattle, and the other is howlin' out o' sympathy; and betwixt the two of them bawlin'

I can't tell which one swallowed the

"What is the trouble, Maggie? You the feathers that used to be?

better for both of you.

£5 to keep the peace.

(Laughter.)

Telegraph.

look worried."

living in one house in Great St. Andrew's street, summoned each other

(With a gasp) "Yes, ma'am."

at Bow street for assault.

because they couldn't use you

ed me to call here and ask about it

"When does the next train that for you and your bill-Berry."

"I think not."

do, ma'am.'

there

s you won't!'

summonses

'Mrs. Maloney, there's your pig.'

On one occasion a br

"What have you done with it?"

"Killed and ate it, yer honor."

Smile: A Laugh.

sorrowfully. "They were having them on our street at home."

mamma, laughing down into Tilly's Boys and Girls.

As Every Laddie Does.

as astonished as she was when she Oh, when I was a tiny lad I wandered caught a glimpse of her face in the in a wood, To look for fairles or for flowers, as looking-glass! "Oh-h!" squealed Tilly. She gave one more look and then ran to find every laddie should.

I only got my fingers stung by things that creep and buzz;
 I learned to look for them instead, as every laddle does.

I sought the pretty fairy-folk in all the yellow flowers,
Where nothing but the busy bees improved the shining hours.

found a little caterpillar hanging by a thread; (put him in a buttercup and took him home instead. & caught some minnows in a pool, and thought myself a man, Because I found that I could fish, as every laddle can.

I got my father's pocket-knife—its blade was red with rust— And cut my name on many a tree, as every laddie must.

I made a sturdy walking-stick to climb the highest hill. And whittled till the knife was blunt, as every laddie will.

I owned a treasury of things that I had found or caught, and changed them oft for better ones, as every laddle ought.

I had a little puppy-dog and pets of many kinds; But some they died, and some got lost, as every laddie finds

I coveted a pony, and a gun to shoot the crows—
A pony is a beauteous beast, as every laddie knows. What most I loved were fireworks, and all that lights and burns; But these sometimes are treacherous, as every laddle learns. My coats grew shorter in the sleeve; my slippers crushed my toes; But such things always smaller seem as every laddie grows.

-St. Nicholas.

How Tilly Grew Fat in a Single Night.

"She must go to the country and fatten with the little calves and lambs," the doctor said, nodding his head decisively.

He slid his eye-glasses up from the tip to the top of his nose and looked Tilly's poor little thin cheeks through them.

"And drink cream right off from the tops of granny's milk-pans," he Tilly listened hard. She was wondering what mamma was going to answer. And then she heard. "Right away, doctor?" "Tomorrow morning, I should say-Well!" mamma said. Two little valleys were beginning to grow between her eyes. That almost always meant "I'll see."

And so it happened that the very next morning, on the early train, she and Tilly were whizzing and panting towards grandma's. The pair of lean, pale little cheeks were all aglow with excitement. Every single minute they were getting nearer and nearer. There! lots more telegraph poles had hurried

There had been no time to send word they were coming, and so they must take the old stage and go jouncing down the dusty road. The very last jounce landed them right into grandma's arms.

"The dear land!" grandma cried out, and then she got Tilly into her arms and cried over her-as grandmothers do. And after every word she put a kiss like so many periods, this way: "The . little . dear. Bless . her . little . heart."

"She's come down to fatten with the bossies, mother," laughed mamma. "Can she drink all the cream off the tiptop of your milk-pan?"

'Two pans-three-four pans!" cried grandpa's big voice behind them. And then there were more love-words with periods after them.

The fattening began right away. It was dinner-time and at Tilly's place was the cunningest little tumbler, full to the brim of rich, yellow cream. It was there at supper, too, and that time grandma slyly filled it up after each sip.

"We'll have those cheeks as round as oranges in a jiffy!" grandpa said.
"By tomorrow morning?" asked

Nature makes the cures after all.

Now and then she gets into a tight place and needs helping out.

Things get started in the wrong direction.

Something is needed to check disease and start the system in the right direction toward health.

Scott's Emulsion of Codliver Oil with hypophosphites can do just this.

It strengthens the nerves. feeds famished tissues, and makes rich blood.

50c. and $1.00; all druggists. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, Terr

SOME MODERN RELIGIOUS IDEAS &

The word which has been in most common use this summer, "immune," is marked "rare" in our dictionaries. It will never again be rare, for it fills à place where is was much needed. We all understand that not only do individuals become immune by actual experience of disease, or through processes of inoculation, but whole communities become immune, possibly by the loss of power in the disease attacking. The most deadly plague exhausts itself before it axhausts the race. Scarlet fever is nothing like the scourge it was two generations since, and diphtheria promises to lose the terrors which it has inspired in the past. But not only is it true that certain diseases become less morbific, certain remedies become less efficient. Doctors know that upon chronic patients the remedy which was once helpful "wears itself out" and becomes absolutely worthless. Similar facts are to be noted in the spiritual realm. It is nothing against the value of the "old-fashioned revival" that it will not work now. It is objected that we have no new "crusades" by the Women's Christian Temperance Union, and that the Salvation Army shifts its plans and devises new methods for getting at the people. All this is consistent with what we know of living organisms and their laws. We cannot lazily fall back upon the remedies which our fathers tried; but we must remember that the divine resources are not exhausted, and that they will be opened up to the faithful and prayerful seeker after good .- The Interior, Chicago.

We know of no more ominous sign of approaching old age than a habit of discouragement because of evidences of social decay. The Christian who would keep the spirit of youth in him must look underneath the changing methods of Christian thought and service, and discern the same divine spirit still guiding men. He must be slow to criticise, quick to join with effort which his conscience approves. Is the present generation giving up beliefs which their fathers cherished? It may be, but note to what other beliefs men give new emphasis, and rejoice in them. Are they less reverent in their regard for the Lord's Day, less loyal to the forms of worship in which you have been trained? See in what new ways of serving men their hearts kindle, and join with them there. If old ways of honoring God are passing away, look at new forms in which men's higher nature expresses itself. Look resolutely, for though prophecies fail, tongues cease and knowledge vanish away, faith, hope and love abide. Those who have lost these have destroyed themselves, whatever may be their judgment of others. Those who keep these keep in touch with God's words.-Congregationalist, Boston.

We see occasionally a reference to the mystery of the origin of sin. Paul makes the origin of sin to be in a knowledge of the law-thus anticipating the moral philosophy of the present time. The cruel wolf or cat is not a sinner. The man who knows better and is better, but who voluntarily goes back and makes a wolf or a cat of himself, he is a sinner. Sin consists in descending from the morally higher to the lower. However this knowledge of the law came into the heart of man, it lifted him unto the high pane of moral responsibility, so that when he sinned he was fully aware that he was sinning, and preferred it to right-doing, as he was, as a free agent, legally entitled to do. There is no mystery in it, behind which we can hide ourselves from God or our consciences.-The

It must be remembered that the most important work of life is not the discovery of truth, but the absorption of truth into one's nature and its permament expression in character. One often learns more in one hour of vision than he can make his own in a year of living. The mountain summits are not our homes; they are too much exposed, and the air about them is too rare; they are for our occasional ascent; they show us the distant point to which we are traveling, but the path we are to take runs through the valleys or along the lower slopes. The summits give us outlooks, but the valleys shelter and feed us. The possession of great truths is not a matter of searching, but of living; and the long, dull days which often intervene between our visions are rich in the quiet assimilation of what we have seen and in quiet preparation for what we are to see. The greater part of the growth of some plants is accomplished before the blades see the light .- The

There are few realms of human experience in which there is a greater necessity for freshness, individuality and originality than in Christian living. It is absurd to allow the world to prescribe the Christian standards of conduct, and for churches or cliques of Christians to do so is to come perilously near usurping the rights of individuals. We are not to be imitators, even of Christ himself: we are to be his disciples, and the mere juxtaposition of the two terms suggests the broad difference between them. other words, the individual Christian is not called to follow a programme set by any master or church, but to yield to a spirit to cultivate a disposition. When the apostle is defining the example of Christ, he does not say do the things that Christ did, but "Let this mind be in you also which was in Christ Jesus." Conventional ways of Christian living have largely lost their power. The "testimony bearing" of the average prayer-meeting, for example, except in the rarest instances, is no longer efficient. But let one do a simple act in daily life that he could hardly have done without being prompted by a Christian spirit, and how instantly it arrests attention, how impressive it is! It is not necessary always to be talking religion to bear acceptable witness to the Master.-The Watchman (Baptist), Boston.

Dear Sirs,-I was for seven years sufferer from Bronchial trouble, and would be so hoarse at times that I could scarcely speak above a whisper. I got no relief from anything till I tried your MINARD'S HONEY BALSAM. Two bottles gave relief and six bottles made a complete cure. I would heartily recommend it to anyone suffering from throat or lung J. F. VANBUSKIRK, trouble. Fredericton 0+0+0+0+0+0+00+0+0+0+0+0+0

The Poets. +0+0+0+0+0+0+0+0+0+0+0+0+0+0

The Bewildered Guest. I was not asked if I should like to

I have not seen my host here since I Or had a word of welcome in his

Some say that we shall never see him, and some

That we shall see him elsewhere, and then know Why we were bid. How long I am

I have not the least notion. None, they say Was ever told when he should come

But every now and then there burst

The song and mirth, a lamentable noise. A sound of shrieks and sobs, that strikes our joys Dumb in our breasts; and then, some one is gone. They say we meet him. None knows where or when, We know we shall not meet him here again. -W. D. Howells

Easing the Load.

The camel, at the close of day, Kneels down upon the sandy plain To have his burden lifted off And rest again.

My soul, thou, too, shouldst to thy knee When daylight draweth to a close, And let the Master lift the load And grant repose.

Else how couldst thou tomorrow meet With all tomorrow's work to do, If thou the burden all the night Dost carry through?

The camel kneels at break of day To have his guide replace the load; Then rises up anew to take The desert road.

So shouldst thou kneel at morning dawn That God may give thee daily care, Assured that He no load too great Will make thee bear.

-Boston Transcript.

A Recipe for Success

How is it I have prospered so? How is it I have struck Throughout the hull of my ka-reer jest one long streak of luck? Intellijunce, young man; that's all, I reason an' reflec'-

'Tis jest intellijunce an' brains an' straightout intellec'. When I git up I'm allus sure to dress me right foot first.

Or put my drawers on wrong side out, or hev my vest reversed, For them are signs you'll hey good luck; an eddicated man Knows all them signs, an' shapes his life on a consistent plan.

I've strewed ol' hoss-shoes down the road for somethin' like a mile, An' 1 go out an' hunt 'em up a-everylittle while; But if you fin' a hoss-shoe, w'y you're sure to prosper then; A fac' that is familyer to eddicated cat's tail p'intin' to'rds the fire, it is an awful sign; But I hev counteracted it with every

If my cat's tail should p'int that way it wouldn't give me scares; I'd go in my back entry then an' simply fall upstairs.

It's a good sign to fall upstairs an counteracts the cat; An' that's the way I shape my life-I balance this with that. I see four crows-bad sign, I know-might scare a man that's bolder, But I jest wait an' see the moon rise over my right shoulder. The moon it counteracts the crows;

one balances the other, For one is jest wiped out, you see, an' cancelled off by t'other. I hear a dog howl in the night; it don't give me no dread.

I balance it by gittin' out the righthan' side the bed. An' so I've prospered all my life by jest a little pains, Intellijunce, young man, that's all, en' intellec' an' brains. Tis ignorance that makes men fail. An' wisdom-nothin' less-Inlightenmunt an' knowledge, sir, can bring a man success.

-Sam Walter Foss. BULLET PROOF

Corporal Laurie, of the Seaforth High landers, Had His Clothing Shot Off.

Corporal Laurie, of the Seaforth Highlanders, seems to have one of those "charmed lives" of which we read in old romances. The Scotsman prints part of a letter written by him to his sister after the battle of the I suppose you have seen me reported as slightly wounded, and pictured me as an interesting invalid. Well, I was struck, but the effect was so small that I have often been worse hurt in a football match. But during the rest of the day, and for some days afterwards. I was an object of interest. I have been questioned by almost every man and officer in the battalreferred to as the "bullet-proof man," and asked if I would mind letting a section fire a few rounds at me to see if they could do me any harm.

The fact is that I got most of the corners of my clothing shot off, while personally I was uninjured. Before I entered the zareba I was not struck, but soon afterward a bullet took off the toe of my left shoe without hitting my foot, the shoe being a size too big for easy marching and sleeping at night. Then my bayonet was struck and bent over at a right angle. Then a shot went through my sleeve, near my left wrist, tearing two holes, but not hurting me. Then my rifle was struck while I was loading, the bullet splintering the butt and being stopped by an iron bolt which it met. This bullet would certainly have gone right into my body but for my rifle being there. Then a nigger in a trench let drive at me with a spear, missed my ribs by an inch, and slit up my haversack. A bullet then grazed the back of my hand, just enough to make it bleed. When I reached the river bank, which was nearly perpendicular, a shot came from the bottom, about 20 feet below and a little to the left, which caused the wound I am supposed to have got, and was so curious that I was paraded before the general.

The bullet entered through the lid of my right ammunition pouch, which was open, went into my right coatpocket, tore four boles in my shirt. The Faithfur will supply the needed strength. It will quickly and surely bring back the rosy cheeks, giving a healthy appetite, refreshing sleep, and strength to mind and body.

Padsimali Extract The Best Tonic

All druggists sell it.

Canadian Depot: PABST MALT EXTRACT, 66 McGill St., Montreal. (a.)

ALL OTHERS ARE IMITATIONS.

Toronto, Ont.

FREE. A variety of very handsome souvenirs and prizes are sent free for the return of sets of coupons from the 5c. packages of Adams' Tutti Frutti Gum. Sold by druggists, confectioners and grocers, or send 5c. for sample package and list of prizes to Adams & Sons Co., 11 & 13 Jarvis St.,

THE WAR

made a surface wound two or three inches long on my left breast, and came out near my left shoulder, through my coat and ammunition pouch braces.

In the afternoon I strolled over to the field hospital and got a piece of dressing on it, and it has never troubled me at all; in fact, it was a farce to put it in as a wound. It was done without my knowledge by the color-

ON GLADSTONE

Dr. Dewart's Rich Tribute-It Harned Lord Rosebery's Praise.

The following beautiful tribute to memory of William Ewart Gladstone, is from the zen of Rev. Dr. Dewart, Toronto. It brought the author a eulogistic letter from Lord Rosebery: A mighty nation mourns her greatest son, Who bore the torch of progress in the van. Leader of men, thy great life-work is Reformer, Patriot, Sage, and Friend of Man!

Not only Britain mourns; from every land There come sad tones of blended grief and praise, For him who with unquailing heart and hand Stood for the right through all his lengthened days: A giant oak among the forest trees. Strong to resist the fiercest storms that blow-An eagle soaring till the sun he sees

And heralds brighter day to earth Not on the gory fields of martial fame His deathless deeds of chivalry were wrought; The glory that surrounds his starry Was won by battles in the realms of thought.

A man of peace he life-long war maintained That justice might oppressive wrongs displace: triumphs which his knightly The Were all to bless his country and his race. To freedom's Land of Promise, rich and fair, With peerless eloquence of tongue and pen. Through seas of hate and deserts of despair, He made a pathway for the sons of

His. words were swords which cut the gordian knots Of partial laws that long held dire control; But greater than his potent words and thoughts

The human sympathy that filled his Enthroned in lofty place or power and On that high stage he played a noble part; Today the voices of the world pro-

His highest place was in the people's heart. By faith in God the power to him was given To move right on, nor swerve for friend or foe; He ever brought the light and strength claim.

of heaven To do the work of earth for men below. There's nothing in the starry heavens above.

Nor earth beneath in all her summer glory, More beautiful than manhood, truth and love. Wrought out and carved in deed and living story.

The name of Gladstone shall forever A guiding light on the high path he trodgrand heroic soul in heart and True to himself, his country and his

Ask for Minard's and take no other.

CALVERT'S

Carbolic Tooth Powder 6d, 1s, 1s 6d and one pound, 5s Tins, or Carbolic Tooth Paste. 6d, 1s and 1s 6d Pots.

They have the largest sale of any dentifrices Avoid imitations, which are numerous and F. C. CALVERT & CO., Manchester.

Ready Reference Guide of London-Banks. Wholesale Dealers and Manufacturers.

Auction Mart, Storage and Moving. PORTER & CO., 'phone 1.162. MILLER'S ELECTRIC PARCEL EX-PRESS, 223 Dundas, 'phone 836.

Artists. J. P. HUNT, 344 Dundas street

Banks. DOMINION SAVINGS AND INVEST-MENT SOCIETY. CANADIAN SAVINGS AND LOAN.

Brushes. THOMAS BRYAN, 61 Dundas street.

Building and Loan Companies. BIRKBECK LOAN CO., 169 Dundas.

Organs, Pipe. SCRIBNER ORGAN AND MFG. CO.

Dyers and Cleaners.

Drygoods. ROBINSON, LITTLE & CO., 343 Rich.

Hats and Caps. FRASER, McMILLAN & CO., Rich'd.

STOCKWELL'S, 259 Dundas street.

Fancy Drygoods and Millinery.

JOHN C. GREEN & CO., 122 Ridout. Hardware.

HOBBS HARDWARE CO., 339 Rich. JOHN BOWMAN HARDWARE COM-PANY. York street. Iron, Brass and Wire Works.

DENNIS WIRE & IRON CO., King. Insurance. NORTHERN LIFE, Masonic Temple.

Lumber Boxes. LONDON BOX MFG. & LUMBER CO (Limited).

Monument Manufacturers. LETHBRIDGE BROS., Talbot & Carl. Paper Box Manufacturers.

GEO. BAYLEY, 80 Dundas street. Pork Packers.

JOHN PARK, Market House Plumbing Supplies.

W. H. HEARD & CO., 357 Richmond. Leather and Shoe Findings. R. F. LACEY & CO., 298 Clarence St.

Tea Importers. MARSHALL BROS. & CO., 67 Dundas.

Wholesale Druggists. JAS. A. KENNEDY & CO., 342 Rich. Wholesale Grocers.

A. M. SMITH & CO., 176 York street. ELLIOTT, MARR & CO., 333 Rich.