

CLEVELAND PARTY
TOURS ST. THOMAS

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 9.—Mayor Horton welcomed the visiting representatives of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce here this morning, and conducted the party around the city.

A reception by civic officials and a tour of St. Thomas' industrial plants and other places of interest comprised the program. The Cleveland visitors enjoyed their visit, although rain poured down during the time they were here.

No American can return to Cleveland with the impression that St. Thomas is a "dry" town, one of the Cleveland men remarked as he shook the raindrops from his clothes.

That the closer the bonds of friendship and commercialism between the United States and Canada, the better it will be for both countries; that Canadian hospitality is of the truest and best type; and that London is a beautiful, thoroughly live and prosperous city, were a few of the opinions expressed by the 27 members of the manufacturers' and wholesale merchants' board of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, who visited London yesterday.

After spending a day in Toronto and a day in Hamilton, the party arrived in this city at 8 o'clock this morning, at the invitation of the chamber of commerce. A welcome was extended at the Hamilton Hotel, where the party was met by a delegation of the city's business and civic leaders. The reception was not formal, because the official visit of the Cleveland party was not made until the afternoon, after the completion of the party's visit to St. Thomas.

Thereafter, no addresses were made after the breakfast, and the visitors left on a London and Port Stanley car for St. Thomas at 2:30 o'clock, accompanied by George M. Reid and John Bridge, president and vice-president of the London Chamber of Commerce.

Return to London.

Following their return to London, the party was met at the Hamilton Hotel at 2 o'clock. It was decided there that the addresses be given after the evening meal, instead of the proposed visit to the Grand Theatre. The change of program was necessitated because the whole of the afternoon was required for visiting the city's larger factories.

This tour, made in automobiles, was originally planned to include parks and other civic places of interest to the visitors, but the inclemency of the weather limited the program to the factories.

Despite the fact that only a small portion of the city had been seen, most favorable comments were made by the Clevelanders.

A dinner at the Tecumseh House was next. It started at 7 o'clock, and with the addresses, lasted for almost three hours. Then at 10 o'clock the visitors left in their special car for Windsor, where they will spend today.

Advantages of City.

After dinner Dr. A. E. Meldrum, pastor of the Cleveland First Presbyterian Church, proposed a toast to the President Wilson, proposed by George M. Reid, the president of the local chamber of commerce, who presided. Then Mr. Reid made an introductory address, briefly explaining the advantages of this city and the splendid opportunities awaiting it in the future.

Frank H. Clark, president of the board which the visitors represented, was the next speaker. He explained that his party had made 47 trade extension excursions to many parts of the world, going to England, France and Belgium during the months of March and April of this year. The finest visit, he said, was the present one, for the absolutely cordial and brotherly spirit encountered in Ontario made one feel entirely "at home."

Growth of London.

Mr. Clark commented upon the apparent growth of this city, and the fact that so many streets and places have been given the same names that are borne by streets and sections of London, England, where he was born. Mayor C. R. Somerville expressed regret that the United States and Canada have not trade relations as strong as they should be, the two countries being shoulder to shoulder from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and hoped that the present visit would assist in improving the trade conditions.

Bond Is Firm.

"I believe that the bond of relationship between the two countries is firm, as it should be for we are virtually of one blood," said T. P. Cagwin, manager of the Statler Hotel. "The border-line is quickly becoming obliterated by the footprints of the people passing over it on missions of business and friendship."

During the year of the war the difficulty of securing supplies from the United States was great and the Canadian merchants have learned to appreciate to a greater extent the splendid treatment of the American wholesalers and jobbers, thought A. T. Little, the next speaker.

He was followed by A. E. Brown, of the Cleveland Carey Company. "It is only four and a half or five-hour trip to Cleveland," he said, "and strongly advised that publicity be made, so that people, especially of Cleveland, would realize that fact. The barrier of tariff between the two countries is a great mistake. We are one in arms, are we two in commercialism?" He also explained that workmen should be educated to work hard and save their money at the present serious time, which could be called a strike time. It is the duty of the businessmen here and in the States to be cool and level-headed, so that German-made goods will not be allowed to creep into any part of the continent.

John Bridge, the vice-president of the London Chamber of Commerce, spoke on the benefits to be acquired from the visit of the Clevelanders. He also explained this city's industrial facilities.

Still a Canadian.

Dr. A. E. Meldrum, the Pastor of the First Presbyterian of Cleveland, and who spent his boyhood in Canada, on a farm about 50 miles from London, declared the last and longest address. "I was born under the grand old Union Jack," he said, "and I shall always love it. The first time I visited London, I believe, was in 1899. I still find in my memory. The day I came into the town, the Provincial Exhibition, from which I have now grown your Western Fair, was here. It was a great day for me, because I saw Prince Arthur, now Duke of Connaught, in the procession, and I was an aristocrat then, not a democrat."

A dinner at the Tecumseh House was next. It started at 7 o'clock, and with the addresses, lasted for almost three hours. Then at 10 o'clock the visitors left in their special car for Windsor, where they will spend today.

BUSINESS GIRLS TO HAVE AN IMPORTANT
PLACE AT RECEPTION FOR PRINCE EDWARD

Three Hundred To Stand Near Bandstand.

ONE WILL HOLD TREE

As Young Prince Plants It For Position in Women's Park.

The democratic spirit which prevails in London is shown by the fact that the mayor and other members of the reception committee for the Prince of Wales' visit are giving the business girls of the city a prominent share in the program which is to take place in Victoria Park on October 22. Arrangements for the placing of 300 girls close to the bandstand on that day are being made by Mrs. John Crawford, extension secretary of the Y. W. C. A. And every business firm in the city, whether their employees are Y. W. C. A. members or not, is invited to send a delegation.

To Plant Tree.

During the afternoon program, the prince will come down from the platform to plant a tree, behind which the great body of girls will stand, this tree to be later transferred to the new Women's Park at the foot of Talbot street, which has long been known as Hunt's Flats. The names of all of the girls who are to be present, and the names of the firms which have volunteered to send a girl, will be placed in a hat. The lucky girl who will draw one will have the honor of holding the tree as the prince plants it.

First Time.

This is the first time during the history of the city that a girl, or indeed any visitor of distinction, has been given so prominent a place in the program.

A succession of rallies is now being held at the Y. W. C. A. for the purpose of electing a girl to hold the tree. One is to take place tonight, and another next Tuesday night. A grand rally will be held on the park on Friday the 17th. The Y. W. C. A. asks that business firms in the city will send a girl to the park in a position who will see the prince at close quarters than they otherwise be possible for them to come.

IN POLICE COURT

Because the desk sergeant on duty made a mistake in entering the case against C. Catalano for passing a standing street car with his auto, the city is $2 out at the present time. Mr. Catalano's summons read for October 6, while the offence was committed several days previously, according to Inspector Robert Birrell.

Too Fast.

James S. Lovell drove his car over the Kidout street bridge at a considerable more than the prescribed rate of five miles per hour, and paid over $5 to Police Court Clerk Moule for "driving with death," as the bridge is condemned by the city engineer.

Ball Game—$5.

John Sullivan got "het up" over the world's series on Sunday last while in conversation on the Traction bridge, and used much sulphurous language in arguing the pros and cons of Saturday's game. It cost John $5 in police court today for using such bad language.

Warned Again.

Joseph Morkin and Inspector James Luttman staged their usual weekly racket in police court this morning. Mr. Luttman has been on the trail of Morkin for some little time in an endeavor to get him to repair some outbuildings that need bolstering up. Magistrate Graydon warned Morkin that he must attend to the matter immediately, and Messrs. Morkin and Luttman started in on the details, only to be told to air the matter in some other place than the police court, where the air is polluted enough as it is.

Allowed to Go.

James Woonch, Stanley Addley and Victor Bryan were allowed to go on suspended sentence in police court today for having stolen a bottle of milk off a doorstep some weeks ago.

More Revenue.

The M. V. A. garnered in more money for the city in police court today, four speeders, W. R. Brown, R. J. Wilson, E. P. Paine and A. P. Paine, paying $5 and costs, while Emerson Nichol, Norman Frost, John Connor and Robert Haskett each paid $2 for minor breaches of the act.

All Pay Up.

The police, working on the maxim that "every little bit helps," gathered in numerous citizens for breaches of bylaws which call for $1 fines. This morning in police court the following Londoners paid over four quarters to Police Court Clerk Moule: D. Dawson, Frank Brooks, Charles Thorne, William Goodwin, Ernest Plaster, F. Foxworthy, James Newman, Clayton Howie, Reg. Wilkinson and Robert Sheppard. Clifford Elston and James Burton paid $3 each.

MINERS CLAIM THAT ALL WOULD BENEFIT
BY NATIONALIZATION

British Cabinet Has Difficult
Problem To Solve.

MEN ARE DISCONTENTED

Fight, If Precipitated, Promises To Be Long and Bitter.

London, Oct. 10.—From one labor difficulty the Government passes to another. No sooner was the railwaymen's wage crisis surmounted, or deferred, than the miners' demand for the nationalization of mines confronts the cabinet.

Premier Lloyd George informed a deputation yesterday that the Government was unable to adopt the proposals made by the coal commission headed by Sir John Sankey, and the miners are greatly dissatisfied. Frank Hodges, secretary of the Miners' Federation, said after the premier's statement at yesterday's conference that "the Government's attitude had created a very grave situation" and the utterances of other labor men show they universally share this view.

A feature of the addresses made by members of the deputation to Mr. Lloyd George was, according to unofficial reports, a complete absence of bluster or violent language. Their statements were intended to show by reasoned arguments that nationalization of the mines was entirely in the interests of the community, and also that the mines were supported in their demand by the whole body of trade unionists throughout the country. From quoted statements of prominent labor leaders it is apparent they not only believe nationalization desirable, but are convinced that there will be a constant unrest in the labor world until it is granted.

Miners Are Aroused.

It appears to be their impression that if extreme action is necessary to enforce the demand, it will not only be the miners who will strike, but trade unionists generally.

It is becoming increasingly evident that, apart from arguments claiming that nationalization would be a benefit to the community, there is a strong feeling among workers that the present system of private ownership carries with it indefensible injustices to the miners. This feeling clearly rankles in the minds of workers. It is not concealed, notwithstanding the present agitation, if it secures its immediate aim, will not stop at mines.

Will Be Bitter Fight.

On neither side is there doubt that the fight will be stern. The Herald, recognizing this, says: "The possessing class, the class which lives on labor of others, has everything at stake and will shrink from nothing in an attempt to frustrate the movement."

Representing the anti-nationalization view, the Telegraph does not expect the miners to win, but it is not without opinion, although it sees some little hope in the appeal to other trade unionists. It adds:

"The prospect is the reverse of attractive. It means renewed trouble, anxiety and unrest, and that at a time when the nation can least afford it."

It is understood the special trades union congress which will consider Premier Lloyd George's reply to the deputation yesterday will convene on October 22.

Annual Statement of Company
Submitted to Shareholders.

Montreal, Oct. 10.—Moderate recessions from the record profit levels established by the Ogilvie Flour Mills Company, Limited, for the year ending August 31, 1918, were disclosed in the annual statement submitted to the shareholders of the big milling enterprise at yesterday's general meeting. Profits from flour milling for the 1918-19 period were $649,777, compared with $832,310 in the previous twelve months, while those from other sources were $822,728 against $1,122,504 a year ago. The total for 1918-19 amounted to $1,472,505, compared with $1,954,814 in the preceding period, a decrease of $482,309, or equal to slightly less than 12 per cent.

The year's showing while not up to the record level of 1917-18 was, however, better by a considerable margin than the display in 1915 which up to last year was the banner one in the history of the company. In the latter period net profits were $1,519,504, compared with the $1,632,516 shown in the statement submitted at yesterday's annual meeting of the shareholders.

The year's figures show that earnings on the common stock of the com-

Peeler Works Wonders

To keep the face, neck, arms and hands truly beautiful and young in appearance, the treatment which seems most sensible is one which will actually remove the skin itself from only it begins to age, fade, coarsen or discolor. The only known treatment which will do this aside from a painful, expensive surgical operation, is the application of ordinary mercurized wax, which is as harmless as it is effective.

The wax is put on at night, just as you apply cold cream, and washed off in the morning. It absorbs the dirt and half-dried surface skin in almost invisible flaky particles, a little each day, no discomfort being experienced, and the disappearance of the old cuticle, the newer, healthier skin underneath gradually appears, richly beautiful with the flush of youth.
