Remarkable Meeting of St. John Brothers

H. H. McLellan, chairman of the Eastern District Recruiting Committee, received a letter today from his son William E., who is at the front. It is dated Oct. 8, and in it he says:—

"I went into — Friday in an attempt to locate Leslie (his brother). I was told where he was, and started out to find him. After going about five miles I was halted by a guard with 'Who goes there?' I said: 'A friend,' and he said: 'Hell! Is that you, Bill?' 'It was Leslie, and he was as much surprised as I was. Our meeting was indeed a happy one, and I spent an hour with him.'"

The Man In The Street

If St. John did not contribute as freely for the British Red Cross Society as some other places, there would be much more left for the other funds. Come across please.

The new battalion has an illustrious title, that of the former 104th, but it is a safe bet that the name will be still more illustrious before the end of the war.

And here's hoping the gallant 28th will knock the "Germ" out of the Germans.

Sir Robert didn't lay the corner stone of the dry dock while here East St. John was prepared to give him a loyal welcome but the "fatted calf" will be a pretty old cow when he passes this way again.

R. S. V. P.

When Commissioner Potts complained that Sunday evening recruiting meetings are injuriously affecting church attendance he might give some "concrete" examples. But, in the first place, how does he know?

Politicians' Please Notice

Somewhere said the other day that we don't always spell "patriotism" the right way. Some of us get off with a good start but get sidetracked after the first syllable and, when finished, find they have been spelling "patronage" all the while.

Autoists now refer to the section of the highway between Musquash and Lepreau as "Rut-lane."

Never mind, the government's highway policy may be perfected by the time we are all in tinlids.

After taking the returns from the proposed cottage tax on amusement house patrons and giving it to patriotic causes, the city will probably make good the difference needed to pay the expenses attached to collecting it.

Let's Send Pop-corn Instead.

Ontario members of W.C.T.U. have resolved to give no aid to societies sending tobacco to the front. It's a good thing for recruiting that every woman is not a member of that far-sighted body.

Presumably they would have no objections to sending a game of "Snap," "Authors," or "Old Maid," to the lads in the trenches—just to lighten the social programme of the vicinity.

And Toronto women have caused to be stopped an exhibition of the Willard-Johnson fight pictures, which was to have been for the benefit of the beneficiaries of the fund in the trenches, probably feel that some men's idea of fierce conflict is a long-distance clash with post-shooters.

A recent French official despatch said that "Gen. Joffre directed manoeuvres from a wine shop," but after learning of the late Upper Canadian resolution, he will no doubt be more careful in future and see that a Sunday school building is selected for the purpose.

Want Through Service.

Now that the street cars are soon to run across the new bridge from end to end, (or at least, so we trust), downtown people are fervently hoping that their transfer sufferings will be at an end. They've had more than even the strictest physical culture course could enforce.

And there will be no more joy in the hearts of the west side people when the cars cross the new bridge, than will be felt in Indianapolis when travel over those rails, now being restored, is resumed.

A Ford Owner's Reflections.

That Ford joke about the tin can "hasn't been entered up in the Ford book yet. It hasn't even been explained though it is just possible that what was in Henry's mind was that the allied commissioners would have made more rapid progress if they had had a "tin can" attachment in the shape of a little "tin Ford." This explanation is suggested for the sake of "peace."

Sir Sam is perfecting a Ford "cut-out." The prospectus has been issued.

FOR ST. JAMES SUNDAY SCHOOL.

The sum of $100 was raised towards the repairs to the Sunday school building of St. James' church by a "birthday party" entertainment held there last evening. The building was damaged by fire about a year ago and since then has been repaired, remodelled and enlarged. A pleasing programme was arranged for the entertainment last evening, refreshments were served and each person present contributed a number of coins corresponding to the years of his or her age.

BIRTHS AND MARRIAGES.

The birth of nineteen infants, twelve girls and seven boys, and twelve marriages have been reported to Registrar Jones during the week.

It Pays To Dress Well

Attire may not make the man, but it sometimes does a lot towards making him successful.

The well-garbed man commands favorable attention from his business associates.

His clothes are an asset.

Dressing well, does not mean dressing formally or extravagantly.

Men's clothing is standardized and is moderately priced.

Information helpful to the man who wants to keep up the appearances that mean so much to him will be found in the advertising columns of The Telegraph and Times.

GORDON NUTTALL IS BEING SENT HOME FOR REST

Letter From Major McDougall Contains Announcement and a Tribute to the Canadian

The news that his son Gordon is to be invalided home for a long rest, and a warm tribute to the Canadian soldiers generally are contained in a letter received today by John T. Nuttall from the army medical officer in charge of the English hospital in which his son has been recovering from his wounds. The letter follows:—

Dear Sir: I will write again to inform you that it is intended to send your son, A. G. Nuttall, home to St. John, N. B., for a long rest. His health is not likely to recover completely in a brief period of time; he is now waiting until his case can be arranged by the Canadian military authorities.

I must congratulate you on having two sons in the fighting over here. We in this country are full of admiration and gratitude for the gallant volunteers who have come over from Canada to help us.

Yours very truly,
W. McDUGALL,
Major R.A.M.C.

PAPER PRINTED IN THE CANADIAN TRENCHES

Times Receives Copy of The Listening Post—It Breathes Spirit of Confidence and Cheer

The Times has seen a copy of the first issue of The Listening Post, a little paper printed by the 7th Canadian Infantry Battalion of British Columbia somewhere in France. It is printed twice a month to break the monotony of trench life, and its slogan is "Weep and you weep alone—laugh and the 7th Battalion laughs with you." The greater portion of the contents is of breezy and humorous character, and shows the high spirits of the soldiers even in the trenches. There are quite a number of all sorts. Note, for instance, these advertisements:—

Ammunitions. We have four, munitions and cases for live stock hunting. Apply Canadian; bullets de bite, trenchers, Bandur.

Generals Wanted. Well known European power with international reputation and efficient, ten glee men in various situations, references not necessary. Apply Big Willie Gairpoot, Flanders.

Moons. To Let—Ordnance Barrack or Dig Inn, guaranteed to be fifty feet below the surface. Near modern Historic ruins. Owner left hurriedly on account of health. Long lease. Pumps or anything else which would not necessitate the reappearance of the owner would be installed free, as he is hoping to be absent for several years. Apply Sanitary Dept. The Base.

There are also bits of verse, of which the following is a sample:

A Reverie

The Subaltern wept for a ramble in front of the post prairie,
A bomb and a hell of a scramble
Were the last that was seen of him.

The reader is invited to attend the Belgie Canadian Theatre, to see The Mad Major in his hair-raising aeroplane stunts receiving bouquets of shrapnel. There is a Boy Scout show between the acts, and fireworks displays are at 9 p.m. Patrons are requested not to stand on the boumba.

There is also an amusing diary of a soldier, and the whole tone of The Listening Post is altogether cheerful and productive of mirth. The spirit of the Canadian soldier is unconquerable.

TWO HORSES SHOT

One Case at Bellisle May Make Trouble For St. John Boy

A Bellisle correspondent writes:— "So far, since the opening of the hunting season, two horses have been shot in the fields around here. The first instance partook more or less of the nature of accident, but the second seems to have been a case of purely malicious mischief, and as a consequence a man resident in St. John may be called upon to settle a heavy bill for his son's successful marksmanship."

"Septimus Ford is an Englishman who, with his wife and two boys, resides on the old McAllister homestead, and it was his mare that was shot. A St. John boy who, it is said, is not more than fourteen years old, was on a visit in this neighborhood. In company with a lad of about the same age and carrying a 22 calibre rifle, he went out hunting on last Wednesday. There are naturally different stories to account for the shooting of the mare. It happened, however, about twelve o'clock in the day, the sun was shining at the time and the animal was in the middle of an open field and it is difficult to understand any mistake. Soon after the shooting Mr. Ford went to see after the animal and found it lying on the ground with two bullets, one in the shoulder and the other about six inches from the shoulder. It is not likely to live. Coming just at this season of the year the loss is especially severe to Mr. Ford, as he has no other horse. The mare was in foal."

"It is no uncommon thing here to see boys just entering their teens rambling the roads with guns and rifles and some of the farmers complain of the indiscriminate manner in which they shoot sometimes. It ought surely to be possible for the game wardens or whoever has the authority to do something to deliver the country from this scourge."
