The Toronto Globe prints a letter from Ottawa to the effect that the Grand Trunk Pacific does not intend to utilize the line east of Cochrane, but to get connection from there with North Bay and the Grand Trunk are two with North Bay and the Grand Trunk are two with North Bay and the Grand Trunk are two with North Bay and the Grand Trunk are two with North Bay and the Grand proposals of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

This is a matter concerning which there should be a clear and definite statement. If such a scheme were carried out, the whole plan of having a national transcontinental railway conveying Canadian trade through Canadian channels would go by the board. Portland would get the business that should come this way.

The such a scheme were carried out, the street's says:—"Trade in Canada, Bradstreet's says:—"Trade in Canada is very active, and shipping rooms of wholesale houses are working to capacity. Re-order through Canadian channels would go by the board. Portland would get the business that should come this way.

A FRESH AIR CRANK "My husband was at a 'smoker' Saturday right, and did not get home until about 1 o'clock."

What is the truth of the matter? Is John are so vitally related to the operation of the Grand Trunk Pacific as a transcontinental road having its terminus minority rule. et this port.

Such criticism in St. John levelled at moving the hungry and neglected children of New York, and the lady in question would be as comfortable in a coat that cost her, let us say, $500.

The model of the first picture houses is of course assumed to refer to pictures shown in St. John.

Such criticism should be specific, and based over for Johnny. Take him out and get him a new suit."

"I'm in no hurry, young lady; wait on those impatient customers first." need to be an advocate of moving picture houses to make this reasonable and proper contention. So far as the character of the pictures shown here is concerned, they are first censored by the National Association, then by the Ontario board of censors, and now they must pass the argus eyes of a St. John board. The law has provided extensive safeguards as to the character of the pictures, the safety of the houses, and the prevention of attendance by children unattended. It is quite true that some purveyors of these mictures aim at the sensational, and in the house, and the prevention of a tendance by children unattended. It is quite true that some purveyors of the sensational, and in the past some have been shown in St. Jehn, such as some portrayals of crime, which were better thrown away; but they have been the exception, and the censor-ship is now more rigid. In any case, a criticism should name the house, the data and the picture, and the critic should have personal knowledge. It may be hoped that none of the critics are losing she had been and the picture, and the critic should have personal knowledge. It could doubtless be argued with much force that much money is spent for amusement which would be better spent for food and alchhing, or to pay outstanding bills, or to relieve distress in the neighborhood and cleshing, or to pay outstanding bills, or to relieve distress in the neighborhood and that is a legitimate subject of discussion; but it has nothing whatever to do with the fact that on a certain street there is a moving picture house as an educational factor, and it is claimed that the results are quite satisfactory.

The new Bank of British North America building will be a decided improvement to the appearance of Market Square.

The ladies in the United States are moving joyously up the line. They have carried four states for woman suffrage and now want a woman in the Wilson cabinet. Such a suggestion creates more surprise today than it would twenty years hence.

The Montreal Witness says that Mr. Monk's retirement appears to have re-moved the emergency from the Borden cabinet, and it adds:-"As for an emergency in Europe, we have the assurance en by Mr. Asquith on Saturday night at the Guildhall banquet that so far as Great Britain is concerned, its relations with other powers, without a single exception, were never more friendly and ordial.' The extension of the street railway to Kane's Corner is apparently in the same class with the old waterworks mystery, the fruitless search for the Leak of 1854.

President Bear of the Reading Coppany sees no reason why people should suffer through lack of coal. Nor does he look for higher prices. There's some confort in that.

Why should a city dread the arrival of a body of college football players and their friends. Why should not a law-breaking student be locked up along with other offenders, and pay the penalty?
