(From Our Own Correspondent) London, Nov. 16.—As I write these lines, crowds in the London streets are excitedly watching in shop windows and on screens the final returns of the general election. On the whole the contest has passed off with remarkable calm. Very little bitterness has been displayed, and it has been remarked with perfect truth that it has been a fight with the gloves on. So far as Domes Law and the government are concerned the position stands very

HEART PALPITATED AND WAS SHORT OF BREATH

Through one cause or another a large majority of people are troubled, more or less, with some form of heart trouble.

Many people may be unaware of having anything wrong with their heart, but when they start to palpitate and short, skip beats, beat fast for a time and then slow as if to seem almost to stop, then it causes great anxiety and alarm.

To all such sufferers troubled as I had been."

"I suffered from palpitation of the heart and shortness of breath; my heart would skip beats, and in the night, at times, I would have to sit up to get my breath. I could not go upstairs without my heart fluttering, and my nerves were all unstrung, but since using your famous Pills I have felt like a different person."

Trouble Coming.

A business friend just returned from Germany, tells me that within the last months there has been a remarkable psychological change. The German is no longer pointing with pride to the rapidly falling mark as a proof of political ineptitude, but it frankly nervous of the immediate future. It is already apparent that there will be no open talk of Munich or a royalist revolution within the next two months, and well-informed Germans declare that should it take place it will be met by the counter-Communist outbreak. The fall of the mark is now out of control, and wages cannot keep pace with the rise in prices. Such a state of things can only mean trouble.

Meanwhile food prices are rising fantastically. Butter and bread doubled their price in a night, ration cards for eggs are to be in force from December 1st, and in several towns recently there have been small food riots. Concurrent with this there is an open talk of Munich or a royalist revolution within
only mean trouble.

The activities of Inspectors Barton and Henderson resulted in the capture this week of liquor on the premises of own splendid constitution, and the serious efficiency of St. Thomas' Hospital, the one satisfactory thing about the Scotland Yard episode of the deadly chocolates. The whole affair has fairly astonished Londoners, who held views about the famous Scotland Yard department entirely incompatible with such human simplicity. Here we have a chief of criminal investigation and a distinguished British general who eats chocolate creams sent to him at his office through the post. This fact is hardly more remarkable than the official explanation, which is that Sir William was expecting such a postal present that very day at Scotland Yard. Bernard Shaw's critics were terribly down on Capt. Bluntish, the Shavian hero of "Arms and the Man," because he, like the whole of Kitchener's armies after him, had a penchant for chocolates. But a Scotland Yard chief who not only expects but eats chocolate creams at his office is one better than the Swiss captain.

Another point that puzzles the public, who are intensely interested in the case, is how the newspaper publication of the facts has hampered the police.
The official indignation aroused seems on the face of it to be entirely curiously in modern glove-lighting the head of the facts. But after a burglary and an attempted murder on the premises, Scotland Yard must really pull itself together a little.

Home Secretary's Good Start.

Most people will agree that Mr.
Bridgeman has made a very promising start as Home Secretary in prohibi-tng the fight between Beckett and Siki where in this country. Even in the truest interests of the popular sport of boxing, it is a singular phase of glove-lighting the head of the facts. But like ours of all-embracing races still more potent reasons for the official decision. Anybody who knows anything of either boxing or anatomy knows that such encounters are unequal. Given anything like equal conditions otherwise, without which such a contest would be open to sporting objections, the conformation of a negro's head puts the white man at a grave disadvantage.
In modern glove-lighting the head is the main target, and in the case of a black fighter that target is to an extent invulnerable. To tarrence crowded evening dress assembly at the Albert Hall with an exciting exhibition, in which the white champion, such a confrontation of every white prizefighter in lonely regions inhabited by ex-tractable blacks is neither desirable nor practicable.

Capt. "Tiddy" Evans Honor.

A most interesting visitor home just now is Capt. Evans of the immortal Scott Antarctic Expedition and H. M.
S. Broke fame. He arrived with Mrs.
Evans from China, where Captain Evans has been in command in the China navy base. He is here on a brief holiday, but whether or not he is in the offing remains to be seen. He has long been marked for promotion. Captain Evans has many exploits to his credit, which stamp him as one devoid of fear.
His participation in the Scott Antarctic Expedition and the way in which he rammed a German torpedo boat in the North Sea during the war are no secret, but his sojourn in the Chinese waters added yet another exploit to his list. During a severe gale he jumped into a raging sea and swam with a rope to a Chinese vessel, in distress, thereby saving several hundred lives. His Majesty awarded him the Albert Medal for his bravery, and it is believed that the King will take the opportunity of bestowing the medal while Captain Evans is in this country.

Rarest British Postal Stamps.

London philatelists are taking unusual interest in this week's sale of the wonderful Ferrari collection of postage stamps, and since the big men are attending the auction London houses have received many commissions from different parts of the empire, as well as from the U. S. A. Some of the stamps of the British West Indian colonies and a unique collection of the first series of stamps issued in Uganda, and produced by missionaries with a typewriter. What are believed to be the two rarest postage stamps in the world will be offered for sale—home-made affairs printed by W. A. Peet, Postmaster of Bermuda, between the years 1848 and 1849. One is a wack, dated 1848; the other carnine, dated 1849. They are hand-printed on this auro paper, the blue specimen being cut out of a red one to an octagonal shape. There are other interesting West Indian specimens and some of the stamps of the Scott Antarctic Expedition, besides a half sheet of Indian stamps believed to be unique.

Dogger As Does It.

Now that the Home Office has voted the proposed Beckett fight in the doghouse, Beckett is to have yet another go at Carpenter. Really one is at a loss which to admire the more, the dogged-as-does-it pertinacity of the British champion, who perhaps shares the view that the Frenchman is now rather damaged goods, or the astute judgment shown by the French idol of yesterday in choosing a suitable opponent on whom to celebrate his triumphant return to ring victory. Those who know the capabilities of the two men know that, unless Carpenter has lost form completely, Beckett is merely casting for a thinking part in this forthcoming encounter, and the thinking will begin ten seconds late. There is nothing more extraordinary than the way, even in these days of prodigious fame, that the two men have been respected circles, and easy fortunes, really promising British heavyweights still make the Frenchman's name a byword. It might have been expected that the law of supply and demand would operate. More than one amateur heavy-weight champion, good family and good education, has been sorely tempted to enter for the professional laurels and moneybags, but has been deterred by domestic operations and the unfortunate fact that no innocent could possibly be preserved nowadays.

IRISH BILL ON THE

London, Dec. 1.—The Irish constitution bill passed unamended today through the committee stage in the House of Lords. It will not receive its third reading until Monday.

Joe Kellist at South Minto. The man on whose premises the liquor was found was taken before the court at "Nearly Lost Baby With Croup" Has Depended on Dr. Chase's Medicines for 25 Years

This letter from Mrs. Thompson gives you some idea of why so many thousands of people depend on Dr. Chase in the hour of sickness.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine 35c. a bottle. Family size, three times as much, 75c. All dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has a permanent place in the great majority of Canadian homes because it is the most certain relief from Croup, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough and Asthma.

Mrs. Alex. Thompson, Whila, Alta., writes:—"When my first baby was born, I think she would have died from croup before we could reach a doctor. If it had not been for a neighbor who had a bottle of Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine, she would have died. This relieved her almost immediately. That was 21 years ago, and Dr. Chase's Medicines have been friends of ours ever since."

Asthma
Mr. Thomas Bond, Sheldrake, North Shore, Que., writes:—"I suffered for years with asthma, sometimes being unable to lie in bed, but after a treatment of Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine, I am now quite well and thank this medicine for restoring me."

"I Was a Fright!"

"Nothing I Could Take Made Me Any Fatter."

"Up to the time I was seventeen years old, I believe that I was the most miserable and unhappy girl that ever lived. Honestly, I was a sight I was the most ungainly looking creature you ever saw. I was thin and scrawny—straight up and down.
My height was five feet nine inches and I weighed exactly ninety-one and three quarter pounds. No matter what kind of clothes I put on I looked like a fright. I was clumsy and awkward. I used to stand before the glass and study my features. I found I had a good nose, good eyes and a good mouth, but my cheeks were sunken and my face looked like a skull with a piece of parchment stretched over it. But nothing could do or take made me any fatter. Men rarely even glanced at me. When they did, they merely gave me a cold, amused or pitying look—an expression which I am sure meant, "why is a being like that allowed to live?" I used to lie awake at night for hours at a time wondering why there were so many beautiful girls in the world and I was so hideous. I met a friend of mine one day, Elsie W. and I hardly knew her. While she had never been as thin as I was, a year or more ago she had been a close second, but when I met her she had taken on flesh and had developed into a fine handsome girl with one of the prettiest figures I had ever seen.

I asked her what had caused the big change. She said Carol. She told me she had been taking it regularly for the last three months and that from the first week of taking it she had begun to put on flesh. I was so encouraged by what she said that I couldn't get to the druggist fast enough. I bought a bottle and since then I have been taking it regularly.
It has made the greatest change in me you ever saw. I now weigh 163 pounds and all my friends tell me I look like a different person. I have and I know that I am admired!"

Carol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money.

WINTER GARDEN IN NEW YORK TO BE REBUILT

Changes in Interior Are Designed to Make Theatre More For Revue Than Extravaganza.

New York, Dec. 2.—The rebuilding of the Winter Garden into a theatre of a more intimate type will begin at the end of this week with the departure of "The Passing Show of 1922." The theatre will still be used for musical shows, but it will be designed more for revue than for extravaganza. Practically the entire interior of the house will be torn up and by working night and day it is hoped to reopen the theatre during Christmas week.

Among other changes, the present stage apron, which extends out into the auditorium, will be cut away, and the large posts at the back of the orchestra will be removed. The new decorations will be in the style of the Italian Renaissance.

MORE WOMEN LEAVE FARM

Exceed Number of Men Seeking More Lucrative Fields.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Larger numbers of women than of men are leaving farms in search of more lucrative fields of endeavor, the Census Bureau says, basing its statement on an analysis of the 1920 census statistics. The enumeration shows the ratio of males to females was higher for farm population than for the total population, despite the fact that the male-born element, in which the males considerably outnumber the females, is found mainly in the cities.
The sex ratio of farm population on July 1, 1920, was 109.1 males to 100 females, while the ratio for the entire population was 104 males to 100 females.

Of the number of farm dwellers, totaling 31,014,269, males number 16, 490,335 and females 15,117,391. Of the total farm population 49.5 per cent. was 21 years and over, 24.7 per cent. between 10 and 20 years, and 25.7 under 10 years. Those 21 years and over numbered 15,632,093. For the country as a whole those 21 years and over numbered 77.6 per cent. of the total population. The farm population, therefore, includes a relatively large proportion of persons under 21 and a relatively small proportion 21 years and over.

The difference in age distribution is declared by the Census Bureau to be due in large part to the fact that the majority of persons who leave their homes to seek their residence elsewhere have reached or passed 21. The largest proportions of children and youth in the farm population are shown for the Southern States and the lowest for the New England States, New York, New Jersey and California.
