NEGRO THROWS BULL IN STREET

Animal Runs Wild in Baltimore, Frightening Hundreds of Women Shoppers

Baltimore, April 4.—Charging through Saturday afternoon crowds, a bull ran wild in the heart of the shopping district last week, spreading terror among hundreds of women shoppers and pedestrians. Many of the women ran screaming for shelter and the men joined in the chase of the animal. Several blocks away the bull was grabbed by the horns by a negro and thrown.

One of the pursuers was George Penkowitz, who ran out from a store battling and coaxing, but wearing a white apron and made a desperate effort to stop the bull. He grabbed the bull by the tail and got such a good grip that he held on for four blocks as the animal dashed from side to side in the street.

At the end of four blocks the bull threw Penkowitz against a curb and he lost his hold, but Penkowitz did not give up the chase. He was in the lead when the negro threw the animal and the chase ended with Penkowitz sitting on the bull's back. The negro sat on the bull's neck until the crowd came up.

FIND GOLD BURIED ON FARM

Woman Thought to Have Been Poor Also Had $9,000 in Banks.

Porchtown, N. J., April 4.—When relatives found money sewed up in the clothes of Mrs. John Cassidy, seventy-nine years old, who died on a farm near here three weeks ago, apparently in poor circumstances, they began a search of the premises.

It was announced that gold and sum of money have been found buried in various places about the farm. She also had kept secret from her family deposits of nearly $9,000 in different banks.

The Transformation she effected in two days

THE young housekeeper had an inspiration. She would make the little sun-room into a breakfast room. It would be more cheerful on dull mornings. Of course it must have enameled furniture. A happy, sun-breakfast-room simply demanded gay, light-hearted furniture. Could she enamel it herself? She could—and she did. And because she wisely used Luxberry Enamel the result was a joy to behold. Luxberry Enamel makes success certain. It gives a glow-

SUES JUSTICE PAGE, CLAIMING OLD DEBT

Cousin Accuses Him of Refusing to Repay Money Left in His Care More Than 80 Years Ago.

New York, April 4.—Justice Alfred R. Page of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court was accused in papers filed in the County Clerk's office of refusing to repay money left in his hands more than thirty years ago by an aunt who died in 1889.

The suit is based on allegations that in October, 1921, the plaintiff went to see Justice Page in his chambers at the Appellate Division and demanded payment of the money due, with interest from the date of her grandmother's death. The plaintiff said that Justice Page had refused to pay the money and that he had written a letter to her grandmother's estate in which he had refused to pay the money.

The papers state that after Justice Page stopped making payments of $50 a month as agreed, in November last, the plaintiff filed suit through her attorney, Bernard G. Hyatt. The attorney made an affidavit that John J. O'Connell, an attorney for Justice Page, had refused to pay the money and that he had written a letter to her grandmother's estate in which he had refused to pay the money.

"You say, 'I know you can pay if you really want to.' If you will kindly favor me with the knowledge of such means I will most gladly follow up the suggestion and when realized will immediately remit."

The plaintiff alleges that when she told Justice Page in his chambers that she intended to take action if he did not settle up with her, he gave her a check for $500 a month until the matter was disposed of, that he paid until January, 1922, and that when she wrote demanding to know why she did not get that month's installment, he wrote that he had sent it and that their letters had crossed. She alleges that he enclosed the February payment and wrote:

"Please bear in mind that I told you that there might be times when it would be impossible for me to make prompt payment, but if such time did occur I would make it up next month. Had it not been that I was able to collect money the latter part of January I would have had to make a double payment this month. Do not shoot the performer—he is doing his best. With love, your cousin, Alfred R. Page."

A programme held last evening under the auspices of the Natural History Society was enjoyed. Dr. J. Roy Campbell presided and a paper prepared by Dr. George F. Matthews was read by W. F. Burdett. It described the geological features of St. John and the address was illustrated by a series of lantern slides shown by William McIntosh. The Murcheson medal for geological work, awarded to Dr. Matthew in 1917, was exhibited.

The W. M. S. of Coburg street Christian church were guests last evening of the W. M. S. of Douglas Avenue Christian church. They met at the residence of Mrs. R. Pugh, Lansdowne Avenue, Mrs. G. A. Horton presiding. Following a short business session Mrs. D. L. McRoberts read a paper on "Women's Place in Missions." Mrs. J. S. Gregory told of the expansion of the Christian W. M. S. after which a "Candle-Talk" was given by Miss Almada Edgett of Hillsboro. Refreshments were served during the evening.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mossy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound."

It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustrous appearance of abundance which is so attractive.
