WORK FOR THE BOYS.

Discussion of the Question "What dakes Bad Children?"

Aiswering the question. "What makes had children?" a writer says: "If one were to analyze-the history of the cases of boys and girls going astray, it would be safe to assert that in nine cases ont of ten the primary cause of their departure from the paths of good living and good conduct can be trags. To lack of proper judicial parental control in the region of home influence." How true this is! Home training, or rather its lack is responsible for many young people falling away from the paths of rectitude. Any one who moves along, say Barrington street, at night must be impressed with the number of "homeless" ones wandering alput, whither no one knows. How easy it is to fall into bad habits when temptations on every hand are (Cor. Hallfax Recorder.) when temptations on every hand are so glaring. Those who let their childso giaring. Those who let their child-ren thus wander away, cannot but be held responsible for their conduct, satan finds some mischlef still for idle hands to do. Look at the boy murderer over in St. John. Boys neglected—or at any rate not put to an occupation that would keep them out of harm's way—stray off and begin stealing. From one sin they go on to another, until finally in a spasm of jealous anger for an alleged cheating, one of the lade slays the other. The parents have a great responsibility, but does it all rest there? I hardly think sp. These boyr were not set to work. Possibly they would not work. Then, the parential control being ineffective, the state or privince should have stepped in to train that lad.

"Am I my brother's keeper," says the government. Ah, ves, the government is, and is not yet doing half its duty. To the industrial schools it is sending some of the boys after they are caught. To the same place are also despatched the transfer. To the little is sending. To the same place are also despatched the truants. To the jail it is sending hardened criminals; to the jail it is sending those detained as mere witnesses. Isn't this a mix-up—a mix-up that is a very serious matter for the more innocent ones. The state is its "bmrther's keeper," and it is not yet grappling with this matter in any proper fashion. Yet it pays enormous sums to convict its criminals, while a very trifling amount would have saved the boys from ruin; would have made them a benefit to humanity instead of a curse; would have made them workers rather than murderers—not only as slayers of their fellows but as killers of time.

NEW COAL MINING COMPANY: To Develop Mine in Hants County N. S.

The Campbell Mining Co., Limited, was incorporated, by order in council a few days ago, to carry on coal mining operations in the Kennetcook valley. The president of the company is Wm. Campbell, and the secretary is Frederick Campbell. Some of the most prominent men of Windsor are interested in the scheme. The company has been inscorporated for 100,000 shares of a par value of $1.00 per share; 50,000 of the shares have been set aside as treasury stock, and a limited number of these will be sold at 50 cents per share. The money obtained from the sales will be used in surface development, and in determining the full extent of the coal basin. The prospects of the company may be considered excellent. Last year the government engineer, James L. Phinney, visited this section of the county, and after a thorough examination, reported to the company, then carying on bofing operations, that the coal area was very large, and capable of unlimited development, and that he hoped the work of development would be commenced without delay. It is certain that the discovery of coal in this central portion of Hants would give an immense impetus to business all over the county.

Although the show was formally opened Saturday hight, the real opening was today. Everything now is in order and running smoothly. Labor Day promises to be a good one for attendance dispite the mischlevous weather. Excursionists poured into the city from outside all the morning, and quite a number found their way into the building although most of the people walted up lown to see the parade of the labor unions. This afternoon and evening the turnstiles are expected to click a merry tune to the entrance of many visitors. The amusement hall and outside attractions are all ready and tonight the first of the big pyrotechnic displays will be put on. With these, the labor sports and the band concerts there is certainly sufficient inducement to bring the crowds. Already the peanut sellers are clearing their throats for tonight's work, and the cane you ring, cane you win men. the cane you ring, cane you win men tre preparing for their harvest. THE FIREWORKS.

Hand & Co. again have charge of the fireworks display at the exhibition. Two of their representatives, R. Bowden and L. McDowell, have come from Bermuda and Halifax respectively, where they have been preparing for the pyrotechnic exhibitions at those places and are now busily engaged in getting everything ready here. Their work has already borne fruit. Everything is now prepared for the big illumination to-night, and Messrs. Bowden and McDonald say that it will beat all existing records. There have been good displays of freworks here in times past, but this at 50 eo ne of the best ever shown in the lower provinces. The programme tonight is to open with a fusilidade of cannon shells. Then come illuminations all along the front, terrace of fountain and popples; set plece Gloria device, rose colored illuminations, corolation columns, kaleidoscope wheel, Prince of Wales' feather, forest of dazzling silver, double electric wheel, electric countain, crown, Maltese cross, Maple Leaf, chrysanthemum illumination, Niagara Falls.

The display will end up with the great bombardment of the Chinese forts, one of the largest set pleces ever put on down here.

J. F. Tilley, of Woodstock, and L. C. Daigle, of Moneton, both in the employ of the government as dairy experts, have arrived and are rapidly getting the butter and cheese exhibit in shape, in fact the display is practically complete and is one of the best ever seen in lower Canada. The butter making competitions will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons starting at two o'clock in Agriculture Hall.

In the press room Gavin Irvine has charge, and the appearance of that place is a credit to him.

It is probably not generally known or even imagined, says a writer on lighting in Lesile's Monthly, that every year in this country between seven and eight hundred lives are lost by lightning stroke and more than a discussing stroke and more than a discussing process in the seven of the seven of the seven sheep or pigs—killed by lightning in the open fields, while the value of the property destroyed either directly or through fires caused by bolts was estimated at six millions of dollars.

There are numberless cases on record where whole herds of shee and cattle have been struck with fatal effect. In one isstance, in Colorato, 91 sheep were slaughtered by a single stroke and 52 in another. In lows, where during one year 250 head of cattle were killed by lightning, the curlous fact was noticed that lis were found in close contact with wire fences. Their death was probably caused by the shock received from the fence and not from the direct stroke, as it was evident in many cases that the lightning struck the fence at some distance from the animals. If there had been sufficient ground connections from the fence the cattle would probably have been saved.
