Radiol

RADIOL TREATMENT
prolongs the life of a horse's legs. Completely removes by radiation all soft swellings that disfigure and lame a horse, as Sprained Tendons, Windgalls, Bag Spavins, Capped Elbow, Big Leg, Enlarged Glands, etc.
No Blister; No Laying Up; No Hair Removed.

RADIOL TREATMENT fines down a worn horse's legs, and is a certain cure for puffy joints and sprains. Prevents Filled Legs.

An intelligent use of the "Radiol" Leg Wash counteracts that daily wear and tear of the legs unavoidable with the horse in constant work, whether training, racing or on the road.

One flask of "Radiol" will make a gallon of valuable leg wash.

Carlowrie, Uddington Eng., July 28, 1906.
 Sirs.—Kindly forward on, out of P. O. enclosed another bottle of "RADIOL." I have been using it with great success on a Hackney mare with a very bad wind. I thank the vet. had given up. Yours truly, Thos. Prestwich.

WRITE FOR ILLUSTRATED BOOKLET AND USES OF "RADIOL." Ask your chemist for "RADIOL." Price $3 a large flask, or post free from Canadian Agent:

The Trade quickly spread north into Scotland and the Leithans soon became noted in connection with the seed business, such men as Lawson and Drummond being pioneers in the industry. They and other leaders sent abroad, near and far, for high-class plants, and seeds, which were carefully selected, grown and sold. An impetus was given to the work by the efforts from time to time at hybridization and plant improvement made by Thomas Andrew Knight, Sheriff, Hallett, Goldthorpe, Chevalier and others. Drummond, who started about 1830, attached to his premises a regular museum for exhibits of agricultural improvement, and his premises were a favorite rendezvous of farmers. Perhaps the earliest recorded seed-house in Dublin was Mackey's, which was established in 1770.

Milk has a curious history in Japan. Thirty or forty years ago it was abhorred. The average Japanese could not induce himself to drink it. But to-day many a household consumes one or two bottles of milk daily, partly because people have begun to like it as a unique and wholesome beverage. "Milk balls," too, are now quite numerous. Butter will probably take much longer to come widely into vogue, because of its expensiveness.

"As would have been noticed in the report," says the Live-stock Journal, "in consequence of the heat of the weather, the results of this year's milking trials and butter tests at the London Dairy Show were not equal to those of most previous years. This was particularly shown in the butter tests, as the quality of the milk suffered still more than the quantity. The highest yield of butter from one day's milk was 2 lbs. 10½ ozs., given by the Shorthorn cow Daisy. This quantity has often been greatly exceeded, and what is most remarkable is that the same cow gave 4 lbs. 4 oz. last year, the top record at any public trial in this country, we believe. The divergence was not due to any considerable difference in the periods of lactation, as the date of calving was July 28th this year, as compared with August 27th in 1907. The milk yield was greatly reduced, that of the first day, from which the butter tests were made, being 51.8 lbs., against 61.1 lbs.; but the chief cause of the reduction in the weight of butter was a decline in the richness of the milk from the wonderful average of 6.37 per cent. of fat to one of 4.89 per cent.
