CAR STOLEN,

STORES BURGLARIZED

Mr. Stanley Ribey of the 12th of Bruce had his Ford touring car stolen from in front of the Evangelical Church on Sunday night last by some nifty gents who jumped into the car and drove off in a northerly direction. Mr. Ribey and Harris Turner traced the car to the north end of North street, where it was abandoned on the morning of the 4th. When found, a coat belonging to Mr. Ribey which had been left in the car was missing. We have since learned Dave McGregor's grocery store and Charlesworth hardware store at Paisley were broken into shortly after midnight Sunday. In the grocery an attempt was made to open the safe, but failing in the attempt the thief or thieves stole some money. In the hardware store an attempt was made to rattle the cash register but in this the thieves were also foiled. Knives and a number of other articles, however, were taken from the show. It is conjectured that there is some connection between the theft of the car here and the ransacking of the stores in Paisley. —Elgin Times.

RECKLESS AUTO DRIVER

On Friday evening a reckless auto driver ran into Mr. Cecil Norman, 5th of Kincaid, at Russell & Marcus' corner, piling the buggy up on the street at the Hunter theatre building. The occupants of the buggy were thrown out but fortunately no one was badly hurt. The axle of the buggy was sprung and the dash broken. The autoist backed away from the overturned rig and put the gas to his car and beat it without attempting to find out if anyone had been injured or any damage done. The number of the car is 87-054. Accidents are liable to occur but the autoist who does not wait to find out what has happened is one of the irresponsible kind that should not be allowed to drive a car. The department has been written for the name of the driver.—Kincaid Review.

HOW SOME BOYS ARE SPOILED

Judge Fleming of the Kansas City court, in sentencing a nineteen-year-old boy for reckless night driving, gave him the alternative of going to jail and working out a two-hundred dollar fine, or abiding by these rules: Must give up driving his father's car. Must be in bed every night at ten o'clock. Must go to work. The boy agreed to abide by the rules, and was released on parole. When asked by the judge for his side of the story, he said: "I have been spoiled and pampered by my father and now he wants me sent to jail." The local city paper in commenting on the case, says: "America needs to get back to the simple life. Extravagance, luxury, too much money, too much leisure are working havoc, not only with morals and religion but with production as well. The same is just as true in Canada. Idleness and self-indulgence will spoil the best boy that ever was born. All play and no work makes Jack a worthless boy, if not a scamp and criminal. The discipline of work is one of the largest factors in the development of character. The boy who has nothing to do, but put in his time, is almost sure to become a nuisance and menace.

Just now, ragweed and golden rod are having their fling at sensitive noses, with the result that many hay fever victims are flying to Northern resorts as havens of refuge. It is interesting to note that the clinic for hay fever and asthma is now the largest at the New York Hospital and keeps four doctors and half a dozen nurses busy two afternoons a week. Last year more than 1,500 patients applied for treatment.

Canada is now said to be the richest country in the world per capita. The average wealth is over $1200 per family. Canada exports one-quarter as much as the United States does, although the United States has twelve times the population of Canada. In exports Canada is now the fourth country, although it has only nine million population. Canada's income last year was $307,500,000 more than before the war.

These are facts every Canadian should know, for they demonstrate conclusively that, despite pessimism reigning in some quarters, Canada is now leading the world along the pathway to prosperity, and, and we should be duly thankful for the comparative plenty which we as a people enjoy.

FORMER MILDMAYITES REBUILD

The really substantial and prosperous appearance of the town of Didsbury, as viewed from the railway, has been enhanced considerably by the large and imposing brick block erected on Railway Street, opposite the C.P.R. depot, by W. G. Liesemer and J. V. Berscht. The site is the same upon which their former business block stood, and which it will be remembered was totally destroyed by fire on May 4th. Immediately following the fire, steps were taken to clear up the debris, and while the necessary arrangements preliminary to rebuilding were being made the hardware business of W. G. Liesemer was temporarily located in a building a short distance south of his former business stand, whilst J. V. Berscht, conducted his in the Leuzler Block. This arrangement has existed up and until this week when Mr. Liesemer moves into his new store. Mr. Berscht's premises, however, will yet require a short time for completion.

The new block is a two-storey solid brick building, the portion occupied by Mr. Liesemer being thirty-two feet in width with a length of store space of eighty feet. There is also an addition at the rear measuring 20x47 ft.

The main building, of course, will accommodate the stock of hardware and other goods, and will include offices for W. G. Liesemer and his brother George. The large floor space will provide ample room for display, whilst the height of the ceiling allows for plenty of shelf room and for drawers and cabinets to be arranged systematically and in accordance with the most approved business principles.

The oil-house back of the store will be one of the best equipped along the line, this having a battery of nine self-measuring pumps. Here Mr. Liesemer has sought and obtained expert advice with a view to possible against fire, and with this in mind has established a method of ventilation which it is believed will successfully overcome, or at least reduce to a minimum, the danger of combustion by taking care of any seepage from the pumps and carrying off any vapor that may escape. Adjoining the oil house is the tin shop, which has been brought up to date and equipped with the necessary machinery and tools to cope with any work entrusted to it.

Running up the centre is a narrow gauge track connecting with the elevator to facilitate the handling of goods.

The store to be occupied by Mr. Berscht is also a very commodious one. Well lighted with large plate glass windows, and with a front store space of 35x45 feet, ample space is provided for display, and when occupied will, one would imagine, present a fine appearance.

The rear portion of the store will measure 20x35. Mr. Berscht expects to occupy it within the next two or three weeks, and meanwhile is engaged in personally supervising and inspecting goods which when they arrive will make a very pleasing display.—Didsbury, (Alta.) Pioneer.

UNION STOCK MARKETS TORONTO

Cattle receipts at the Union Stock Yards yesterday were only moderately heavy, but were a few hundred head above those on the same day a week ago. Billed through shipments in addition totalled 850 head. Trading was fairly active, and prices generally showed little change from last week. About 2000 head were weighed up at 2 o'clock, and there were quite a few unsold when the market closed. The export trade was none too active, as buyers are getting a lot of cattle from the country. There was a better movement of store cattle, and a fair trade in the butcher classes.

The quality of the cattle offered for sale yesterday showed little change from last week. There were not many heavy steers in the offering. Common cattle were not wanted, and the holdover was made up of the poorest offerings. About 20 loads of store cattle were purchased during the morning.

The top price for heavy cattle was $8.75 a hundred, but this was only paid for one steer. A couple of loads brought $8.20 and $8.35, and the rest of the heavies sold from $7.25 to $8.25. Exporters took quite a few choice heavyweight steers weighing from 1050 to 1150 pounds at $7.50 to $8. In the 700 to 1000 lb. class one load brought $7, and the balance moved from $5.50 to $6.75. Heifers sold from $5.75 to $7.

The price paid for cows appeared to be a little easier, most of the good killers selling from $4.25 to $4.75. An odd sale was made up to $5.25, and fair quality cows sold from $3.25 to $4. There were quite a few canners from $2.25 to $2.50. Good heavy bulls were taken for export from $5 to $5.50, and there were a lot of bolognas at $3.50. A couple of dozen baby heaves sold from $3 to $11.50. Some stockers brought from $4.75 to $5, and feeders sold from $4.75 to $6.

There was a further advance in hog prices, sales generally being made at $12.25 f.o.b., and $13.25 off cars. This is an advance of 25c a hundred. There was no change in calf prices, the best offerings bringing $13 a hundred. The bulk of the veal calves sold from $9 to $12. There were a lot of grassers on the market yesterday, and these sold from $4.75 to $5.50, with the bulk around $5.

Salesmen tried to secure higher prices for lambs at the start of the market, and trading consequently was sticky for a time. Once buying started, however, most of the sales were steady, with last week's close at $12.50 $13. The bulk change hands at $12.75, and heavies brought from $10.50 to $12. Sales of culls were made around $10 a hundred. Good light sheep sold steady from $7 to $8, and culls and heavies brought from $3 to $6.
