South Atlantic Rollers.

The author of "The Cruise of the Falcon" had a chance to study the effect of high waves, or rollers. It was on the shores of the island of Trinidad, which lies off the coast of Brazil about six hundred miles. The island beaches are coyesed with wreckage which has been carried there by winds and currents. which has been carried there by winds and currents.

What struck me as remarkable was that some of this wreckage had been cast up a great distance above what I judged to be the high water mark. Har up, jammed between two rocks, I perceived a huge iron beam that must have weighed many tons.

The explanation probably is that Trinidad, like several other-low lying south Atlantic islands, notably St. Helena and Fernando Noronha, is subject to that terrible phenomenon known as the rollers. Those who have witnessed this describe how on a fine, clear day, when the winds are fine, clear day, when the winds are still and the ocean smooth, of a sud-den the waters in the offing are ob-served to become disturbed; billow arter billow advances to the shore, gradually increasing in magnitude, until at last the waters are piled up in mountains far higher than the hugest storm waves, that rush on to shore with fearful impetuosity, diving from their anchors any vessels they may encounter, and hurling them far up on the land, beyond the reach of the highest suring tides.

striking lesson to all who keep hens for profit. Get all the eggs you can this dull year when other cross are short, as eggs always bring cash. Probably 45 cents per dozen by Ohristmas. Therefore get the pullets to laying early when prices are highest. Rev. S. W. Squires, of Franklin, Mass., says: "For the purpose of seeing how many eggs I could obtain last winter from twelve hens, I used four large cans of Sheridan's Condition Powder. I believe it is the best preparation known to increase egg production. I saved part of the eggs for hatching after forcing the hens four months for all they were worth with Sheridan's Powder, and I never had a greater per cent. of fertile eggs or more vigorous chickens. In brief, I do not believe I can afford to be without the eggs or more vigorous chickens. In brief, I do not believe I can afford to be without the powder to give health and vigor to young hens."
