House Burned at Redbank

Faithful Dog Would Not Let His Mistress In For Fear She Would be Hamed

John Arsenault's house, at Redbank with all its contents, burned Friday forenoon. The fire is supposed to have caught from clothes drying on the upper flat. When Mrs. Arsenault, who ran out of the house to give the alarm, tried to re-enter she was prevented by her dog, who savagely refused to let anyone in or to leave the building himself. As no weapons were handy to overcome his resistance, the delay gave the flames such headway that it was impossible to save anything. Mr. Arsenault, an aged man, part of whose family is grown up, is an employe of Wm. Sullivan, millowner.

LOGGIEVILLE

Loggieville, Jan. 29th.—The official report which was circulated throughout the town in the early part of last week was the cause of much anxiety on the part of the majority of the citizens. A house at the Rock Heads under quarantine for Smallpox seemed to send a chill through the residents, as this is the first appearance there has been of this disease in this locality. The type now prevalent would seem to be exceptionally mild, as cases in adjoining countries have been reported to recover without medical attendance. The schools here have been closed for the past week to avoid further spread of the trouble, and it is rumored that there is to be compulsory vaccination among the scholars. There has been no further developments in the spread of the disease.

The remains of the late George Murdoch of Lower Napan, whose death occurred at the Provincial hospital St. John on Friday of last week, were brought home for interment at the Roman Catholic church here on Monday morning, interment in the Catholic cemetery. Although not a resident of this town Mr. Murdoch was well known here, having many relatives and friends residing in this place. He was a man highly respected by all who knew him. His daughter, Mrs. McKnight of Athol, accompanied the remains from St. John. The late Mr. Murdoch is also survived by one sister, Miss Maggie Murdoch of this town. A sincere sympathy is extended to the bereaved ones.

Mrs. Adam Symmes and Mrs. William Russell have both been recently taken to the Miramichi hospital at Newcastle for medical attendance. Their many friends are hoping for their speedy recovery to health.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDEUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with healthy hair if you have dandruff, this fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots flanch, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

Winter Hard on Baby

The winter season is a hard one on the baby. He is more or less confined to stuffy, badly ventilated rooms. It is so often stormy that the mother does not get him out in the fresh air as often as she should. He catches colds which rack his little system; his stomach and bowels get out of order and he becomes peevish and cross. To guard against this the mother should keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house. They regulate the stomach and bowels and break up colds. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HABITS OF THE BLACK BEAR

THE black bear came shuffling down the mountain side through the fallen timber, pausing here and there to turn over a rotten log in search of grubs. It was summer and the feed was good. He was quite well satisfied with the world. He had found a very good field for investigation in the new territory he had just taken up. In the tangle of the burnt and fallen trees he was sure of staples of life, and down on the edge of the clearings the trail he often discovered the habits left by camping parties.

A hoarse whistle blowing up from over the shoulder of the mountain on his left scarce caused him to pause for it was a section of his every day life. Ever since his youngest cub days he had heard the roar, far or close, on one side or another. Sometimes he crossed the steel bars on which the roaring monsters slid down or rolled up out and into field. He was a British Columbia bear, and the Canadian Pacific line was as much a part of his life as the mountains were.

He drifted down further, and spied a tent. It looked tempting and he sniffed close. There was no one around, and he thrust his inquisitive nose within. Strange bits and wonderful smells greeted him. He made a tentative sweep at a bag with one armed paw and a heavy mass of sugar rolled out. He ate. Then he tried the bacon and found it good, he searched for a morsel and found a tin. This was held firmly in his paws while he bit at the top. It came off, and the contents looked red and delicious. Being a cautious bear, he investigated further by thrusting his nose into the opening and sniffing deep. Instantly he coughed violently and a cloud of particles arose from the tin and filled his eyes and nostrils. With a strangled roar he reared blindly about. His love up blankets, he wallowed against the camp stove, he ripped the tent walls with his frantic paws and finally brought all down upon him in a ruined wreck. Fighting madly he worked free and dashed to the river where he plunged madly into the flood just as Jim Simpson, a guide and hunter, rounded the fall and saw the ruin wrought.

Simpson looked at the damage and swore, he pulled the canvas from the tangled mass of camp paraphernalia and disturbed a fine dust. He sneezed. He looked further. Red particles arose in little clouds when he moved any article. He picked up the can which caused the trouble, and he laughed. It was cayenne pepper.

But he thought the bear was proving a nuisance, so he rode ten miles to his winter camp and brought back a huge-jawed bear trap. And he set the grim mass of metal in the thick of the tallest-looking pile of rotten logs on the edge of the down timber, for he knew the habits of bears. When the next dawn painted the peaks he started out with his rifle and his kodak. Men who hunt in the Canadian Pacific Rockies for their livings have realized that the camera eye is as much of a money-getter as the bullet. When the bright morning sun peered warmly and cheerily over the low shoulder that reached out into the broad valley of the Bow he was looking down from a mass of jumbled timber on the trapped bear, and the latter was looking at him. His paw was clamped in the jagged teeth of the trap and the latter was fixed immovably in the tangled logs. The camera clicked on the living animal just about thirty seconds before the rifle mechanism slid a big cartridge from magazine to barrel. Then another camp vandal had gone over the mountains. L. V. Rheumatism Entirely Gone

After Twenty-seven Years of Suffering—Swelling and Puffiness Has Disappeared—Not a Pain or an Ache Left.

A most astonishing cure of rheumatism and eczema has been reported here, and Mrs. Ray is enthusiastic in telling her many friends how cure was effected.

Rheumatism and eczema frequently go together, and in this case caused the most keen distress imaginable. All the swelling and puffiness resulting from many years of rheumatism have disappeared, and there is not a pain or an ache left. Mr. G. H. Ray, R.R. No. 1, Kincairdine, Ont., writes: "Mrs. Ray has been using your Kidney-Liver Pills. She was very bad with rheumatism and eczema, and had had that fearful itch for twenty-seven years. It was simply terrible what she suffered. I persuaded her to try $1.00 worth of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. She is now on the last box, and let me tell you she scarcely knows herself, she is so free from both these diseases. All the swelling and puffiness caused by the rheumatism has gone away, and she has gone down in weight 18 1/2 pounds. She never has an ache nor pain, biliousness nor sick headache all these months. She often says herself 'How glad I am that I know what to do instead of paying doctors so much to make me worse.'"

There is only one way that the poisons in the blood can be cleaned away and the cause of pains and aches removed, and that is by the healthful action of the kidneys, liver and bowels. Because Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills act directly and specifically on these organs and insure their activity they remove the cause of rheumatism and other dreadfully painful and fatal diseases. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.
