

CHARLOTTETOWN WON FROM CHAT- HAM, SCORE 7-3

Charlottetown, P. E. I. Feb. 28.—By a score of 7 to 3 the Abbies round out their sixteenth consecutive victory tonight by defeating Chatham in what will be the final game in the play-off series of the New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island Amateur Hockey League series. About a thousand people saw tonight's game played on heavy, rough ice, making the contest comparatively slow and interfering with accurate shooting. The score does not truly represent the character of the play, as there was little between the teams so far as possession of territory was concerned. The Abbies excelled in shooting and did faster skating. The Chatham wings, R. Cripps and Keoughman, played a strong game, keeping their positions better than the Abbies. McMahon played a star game at centre, whilst Duncan and Currie did superb defence work. Eagles playing senior hockey for the first time this season made a good showing, though in the last period he did not receive adequate support.

The periods ended 2-9 in favor of the Abbies, 4-2 and 7-3.

Frank Brown, of Moncton, refereed and there were but few penalties, these being for minor offences.

What Happens to Old Railroad Ties

The railway passenger who sees piles of worn-out cross ties piled up and set on fire by repair gangs along the right of way sometime wonders why this is done and asks why people are not allowed to use them for fuel. The Pennsylvania Railroad has issued an informative pamphlet dealing with this subject. It states:—

"In the first place, it is far from true that all the old ties are burned. A considerable number are constantly being sold to persons living on or near the right of way, who buy them at nominal prices, usually ten or fifteen cents apiece, and use them for firewood.

"That is about as far as the railroad company has been able to go thus far, in finding an outlet for worn-out ties. Such a method of disposal is practicable only in those cases where the ties can be delivered at a public crossing, or other point where they can be obtained safely by the users, and where the cost of so delivering them is not greater than the nominal prices obtainable.

"The Company cannot sanction the public going promiscuously over tracks and through yards to gather up old ties. To do so would be practically letting down the bars against trespassing on the tracks, an evil which has been the cause of about half of all the fatal accidents of railroads in the United States.

"Efforts have been made to interest dealers in firewood in buying the old ties, but not thus far with much success. The causes appear to be that the old ties are often dirty that they contain more or less stone grit and slag wedged in the cracks which might injure the saws used in cutting them; that in many cases they are partly decayed; that they are dried out, and that their fibre is more or less crushed so that they burn out too quickly. These are among the reasons assigned by dealers who have not been willing to pay the railroad company enough to cover the cost of collecting the ties and delivering them to a point at which they could be removed.

"Efforts have also been made to dispose of old ties in a number of other ways, including sale for wood-pulp purposes, for the extraction of chemicals, for burning and sale of the ashes for fertilizer, and for manufacture into charcoal, but without success in large quantities being engaged in these occupations.

"The Company will be glad to continue and wherever feasible to extend the present practice of selling old ties to individual consumers for nominal prices at points where they can be delivered without danger to the purchasers and without costing for collection and transportation more than they are worth as fuel. The management will welcome any other suggestions by which more of the old ties can be usefully disposed of or made available for commercial or industrial purposes.

"The Canadian Pacific Railway goes further than the Pennsylvania Railroad and gives away ties to any who will take them, such giving being surrounded with the necessary safeguards as to trespassing. The experience of the Canadian Pacific is that ties are taken only where there is no standing timber in the vicinity, and that in many cases the farmers taking the ties do not use them for firewood but for general purposes around the farm, indicating that the value of old ties as firewood in this country is extremely small.

General Debility Follows Influenza

The After Effects Often More Serious Than the Disease Itself.

No reasonable precaution to avert an attack of influenza should be spared. The disease itself often proves fatal and its after effects among those who are spared, make the life of the victim one of almost constant misery. Ask almost any of those who have been attacked by this trouble what their present condition of health is and most of them will answer: Since I had the influenza I have never been fully well." This trouble leaves behind it a persistent weakness of the limbs, shortness of breath, bad digestion, palpitation of the heart and a tired feeling after even slight exertion. This is due to the thin-blooded condition in which the patient is left after the fever and influenza have subsided. This condition will continue until the blood is built up again and for building up the blood and strengthening the nerves nothing can equal a fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The value of this medicine in cases of this kind is shown by the statement of Mr. Edward J. McGuire, Pembroke, Ont., who says:—"In the fall of 1918 I was attacked with the influenza—and not in a mild form either. I was confined to my room for three weeks, and although the influenza subsided I did not regain my health. As a matter of fact I seemed to be growing weaker. I had no appetite, was subject to fainting spells and my feet and ankles were badly swollen. The doctor told me that my condition had developed into a serious case of anaemia, and although I was under his care for over two months I was not improving in any way. At this stage one of my friends advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was loath to do so, as I began to think my case hopeless. However, I was finally persuaded to try them, and by the time I had used two boxes there was no doubt they were helping me. I continued taking the pills until I had used a dozen boxes, when I found that every symptom of the trouble had left me and I was again enjoying the best of health. I returned to my work and have ever since been in good health and feel that I owe it entirely to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I think that anyone who is suffering from the after effects of influenza, or any form of anaemia should give this medicine a fair trial."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NUMBER, PLEASE

The man who had struck one of those rare not-so-very-jachhibition parties and don't want to leave it had made two unsuccessful attempts to get into the telephone booth, the third time negotiating it like a ferry going into a struggle slip. He dropped his nickel in.

"H'lo, h'lo, h'lo, he cried. 'Say, gimme Line's Busy, thassa good girl. H'lo whassat Line's busy? A right."

He staggered out.

"Lord knows I tried to get her anyway," he murmured.

A blind horse can never see what he's driving at.

It often takes a good round sum to square a crooked transaction.

One of the certainties of life is the uncertainty of love.
