Notes and Comments.

The fishery outlook to date is discouraging. The lobster fishery is practically a failure. The winter fishery and Burgeo and La Poile shore is very short. Little was done before April though during that month the fishery was good, but it did not pull up sufficiently to overcome the poor work done in March. The bankers which fished the Southern banks did fairly well, but those who took the Northern grounds did poorly. The fishery north is bad, and there is a great lack of bait. There is every appearance that there will be a big shortage in the Shore fishery generally. The only consoling fact is that the prices ought to be favorable, but that will of course benefit those only who get fish.

The cry of "Get More Fish Work" is being sent throughout the land. We should imagine it will receive a poor response. People are naturally disgusted at the carnival of extravagance. They are alarmed at the financial blundering of the Gov.

ernment. Morris made such a serious blunder in estimating the cost of his branch railway building, and so much that people fear the obligations incurred by his Government will land the country into serious embarrassments. He blundered too in agreeing to pay the contractor in gold, thereby forcing the country to float loans to raise the money to pay the contractors.

While this is going on, people see the wasteful expenditure going on at all hands, and they are wondering what the end of it all is going to be. They see now the folly of having a wasteful Government in charge of Government affairs and they are looking forward to the fall, when the chance will be theirs of putting an end to this carnival of waste and of putting back in power an administration which will be economical and conduct the government wisely and well.

McMurdo's Store News.

MONDAY, July 7, '13.
Here is a bit of good news to those who find that the drinking of ordinary tea brings on indigestion and flatulence—which is not surprising seeing that ordinary tea contains tannin in greater or less proportion. We have just obtained a stock of Py-Shan Points Tea, made exclusively from the leaf-edges and young shoots of the plant, and no midrib or coarse leaves. Those even with delicate stomachs will find no ill effects from the habitual use of Py-Shan Points. Py-Shan Points will go much further in use than ordinary teas, and the flavor will delight the most fastidious. We invite all who want a tannin free, and so healthful, tea to try this new product. Quarter and half-pound sealed packages 15 and 30 cts. each.

The Pitcher Case

The Herald's reference to the Pitcher case, Saturday, is ill-timed, possibly, may be unfortunate for it, and is untrue as to fact. Pitcher did ask a reporter of the Telegram to draft an application to the Premier Sir E. P. Morris for a subordinate position in the Assembly, and later when he did not receive it asked the same reporter to record the fact in the Telegram which was done. But Mr. Pitcher would not stick to his guns, became fussy when he saw his name appear and "contradicted" the Telegram in the Chronicle. Will Herbert Pitcher say he wrote that contradiction?

The removal of the Governor General of the Union of South Africa, Viscount Gladstone, was demanded by the Federated Trades Union at a meeting of the Federation yesterday, at which 1,200 delegates were present. It was unanimously resolved to petition the Imperial Government to take this action because the Governor General sent troops to suppress the strike.

Seven suffragettes and their male champions, one of whom was a clergyman, were ejected for raising a disturbance during the course of a speech on Saturday afternoon, by Lloyd George, at a garden party organized by the Radicals of West Islington. Despite the Chancellor's plea for the removal of the disturbers to be done gently, one woman was so badly mauled she has to receive medical treatment. From that on Lloyd George's speech was without interruption.

JOHANNESBURG, To-day.

The settlement of the strike among gold miners of the Rand District, which the Government arranged with a committee of strikers proved ineffective, though comparative order was preserved over the night. The mobs reassembled on Sunday. All the trains and street cars suspended service, the crews refusing to work, no newspapers were able to publish, additional troops guard the Rand Club which was the scene of serious encounters on Saturday. A great mob assembled outside the building, hooting and jeering troops. Up to three o'clock on Sunday afternoon there has been no further firing, but only a spark is required to start a conflagration. The Federated Unions flushed with success are confident of complete victory in the mastery of the situation. The Trades Unions are ready to carry out any order given them. The leaders have already commanded the newspapers to cease publication until further notice. They count on the Government's fear of natives, 200,000 of whom are locked in compounds at the mines. They might start looting and killing if unloosed. The terms of settlement failed to stipulate when the men should return to work, thus leaving matters in a chaotic condition. The casualties resulting from the fighting on Saturday are not estimated at 110, two officers and three soldiers and several policemen were wounded.

Special to Evening Telegram.
JOHANNESBURG, To-day.

The strike which involved practically all the gold mines of the Rand ended Saturday. During its brief existence anarchy reigned in the city. There was much bloodshed and casualties, estimated at more than a hundred. The authorities were finally compelled to declare martial law, and during several hours on Saturday, troops raised the streets with rifles. Negotiations which brought about the settlement of one of the most serious situations in the mining district ever encountered, opened Saturday afternoon and were brought to a successful conclusion. After several hours' discussion the strike leaders agreed to the terms proposed by General Louis Botha, ex-Premier of South Africa, to Sir George Farrar, Chairman of the Rand Mines. General Smith took part in the negotiations. Before the settlement was reached there occurred the fiercest and most sanguinary conflict between police and troops, and the mobs, that had yet taken place. Early in the afternoon, crowds gathered in front of the Rand Club and began to stone it. They disregarded the orders to disperse and the troops fired with deadly effect. Near the Union Club another mob was scattered by the Dragoons who charged fiercely. Some of the principal streets were the scene of sharp engagements and the ambulance was kept busy for the soldiers armed, killed and wounded within a comparatively short time 60 rioters. The fighting in other quarters swelled the casualty list, believed to be considerably over a hundred. The terms of settlement are as follows: 1. The strike is to be immediately declared off; the strikers to return to their homes and all further disturbances to cease. 2. The men of the Rand Kleinfontein mines are to be reinstated; the government is to grant suitable compensation to strike-breakers who are in no way to be victimized. 3. Strikers in other mines are to return to their work, are to be taken back as mining operations resume, and no victimization is to take place. 4. Representatives of the workers are to be invited to lay any other grievances before the government who will inquire into them.

The Flight from England

The tide of emigration from this country is flowing strongly. Wherever one travels in rural England and Scotland one hears of big parties of emigrants off to Canada or to Australia. This is probably for their own good. The trouble is that on every hand one sees the need of them in the very countries which they are leaving.

Five thousand people have sailed from Bristol to Canada since the beginning of the year.

Two hundred emigrants a week have been leaving Devonshire for months past to the alarm of the farmers. And the total is said to be 14,000 for the last 18 months.

Last week one Allan liner took 1,000 passengers to Canada from Liverpool; while another Allan liner took 400 direct to Canada from Plymouth. Of this last ship the report is "the fine type of emigrant leaving the Old Country was particularly noticeable."

In Cornwall the failure of the fisheries has sent hundreds to Canada. The same tale is told if you go North, and weekly sailings to Canada from the Clyde are on the highest scale and are distressing so far as they depopulate Scotland. The advances bookings at all ports show that the tide is still far from the ebb. The supreme problem obviously is to make the United Kingdom a desirable place in which to live in as Canada and Australia appear to be in the dreams of the emigrant.—Public Opinion.

National Physique.

A wild wave of athletic fervour spread itself tentacle-wise from Berlin all over the German Empire recently when the Kaiser opened the great Stadium, which is to be used at the 1916 Olympic Games. A march past of 30,000 athletes was also held, and the display given before a great crowd, mostly composed of members of athletic clubs, was much more impressive than anything seen at the Stockholm Games last year.

So seriously has Germany taken her preparations for the great festival three years hence, that athletics are regarded light there. Small stadiums are to be erected everywhere for the training of the provincials, and the country should reach a physical standard of fitness by 1916, far exceeding that existing in Great Britain to-day.

So serious a menace to our athletic supremacy does the German revival portend that a Daily Graphic representative called recently on Sir Alfred Frapp, surgeon-in-ordinary to the King and the Duke of Connaught to obtain his views on the question.

Sir Alfred who is surgeon to Guy's Hospital, is a great expert on physical culture, and is one of those rare types who practise what they preach. Of splendid height and build one can justly say that whatever may be the matter with the national physical there is nothing wrong with his own.

"I read with great interest the accounts of the opening of the German Stadium," he remarked "and I see that their preparations for the Games are to be thorough."

Sir Alfred does not think there is much the matter with the British physique on the whole, but added: "Our organisation for the Berlin Games is all behind, and it must be quickly taken in hand if we are not to be beaten in the field by Germany. I certainly think," the eminent surgeon concluded, "that something ought to be done towards making the improvements of physical culture a national movement."

Obtain dValuable Jewels.

Audacious thieves by a ruse, succeeded in obtaining possession of a large quantity of valuable jewels in the public salesrooms at Drouot House, Paris, in broad daylight, recently. One of them attracted the attention of the porter while another stole his keys from an adjacent book. The second man then entered the room where the jewels were exhibited in anticipation of their sale by auction. He seized many of them, including a necklace, consisting of 10 large pearls, and decamped without detection, the other thief disappearing at the same time.
