The Acting Postmaster General.

Address By Members of Staff. Yesterday the heads of the different branches of the Post Office and the staff of the Postmaster-General's office called upon the new head, Geo. W. LeMesurier, Esq., and the senior clerk Mr. J. W. Kinsella, read to him the address printed below, offering their ongratulations upon his appointment and expressing the assurance of their earty co-operation with him in the erformance of their public duties. To the officials generally the apntment is much appreciated as they ook upon the selection as an intimaion that henceforth the higher posiions in the service will not be filled by outsiders but will be made from the staff already engaged, many of whom by experience are most fitted to fill

The new Acting Postmaster-General thanked the officials for their thoughtfulness and expressed the hope that during his time in office, whether it be long or short, their associations would continue to be pleasing to both. Knowing most of them for many years he knew he could rely upon them. The Government had appointed him to be in charge and it was his duty as Unlikelihood of a well as theirs to do their utmost to carry out the Government direction. George W. LeMessurier, Esq.,
