

Mother and Her Baby Are Relieved of Eczema

Mrs. Peter A. Palmer, Salt Burn, Sask., writes: "Dr. Chase's Ointment has completely relieved me of eczema and piles. I also used this Ointment for my baby, who broke out in eczema. A few applications were all that was necessary in her case. Dr. Chase's Ointment has been worth a hundred dollars to me—before using it I had spent a great deal more than that in unsuccessful treatment from doctors. We have also used Dr. Chase's other medicines, the Nerve Food having restored my health after suffering from severe nerve trouble when a girl."

Political Situation Unchanged in Britain.

Lord Shaughnessy, Former C.P.R. President Dead—Mexican Rebels Advance on the Capital—Baldwin has an Audience with the King.

LORD SHAUGHNESSY DEAD.

MONTREAL, Dec. 11.—Lord Shaughnessy, former President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and lately chairman of the Board of Directors of that Company, died here tonight. He was stricken on Saturday evening after returning home from a day of activity, during which he had taken part in the opening of the new Knights of Columbus Hall. He was reported to be suffering, but a relapse set in later in the evening and he died about 10 o'clock. He succumbed to heart disease with complications.

BALDWIN HAD AUDIENCE WITH KING.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—Prime Minister Baldwin arrived in London from Quebec's Court this morning and shortly before noon had audience with the King at Buckingham Palace.

PROGRESS TOWARD SOLUTION OF CRISIS.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—The political crisis made no progress towards a solution to-day, and of the many rumours only two definite facts have emerged, that Premier Baldwin, who had an audience with the King to-day, had not presented his resignation and that the King had not summoned the Labour leader, J. Ramsay MacDonald, either in consultation or to invite him to form an administration. The situation which has arisen in British politics is so novel and embarrassing and requires so much careful consideration that it may be some time before a solution is reached. Meanwhile all parties and statesmen concerned are holding daily meetings to discuss delicate situations at stake at home and abroad. No Government would hope to reap any credit under such conditions; hence the curious spectacle of each party pointing the finger at the other as the proper one to form Government and prominent members of the Government who might be considered eligible to fill Mr. Baldwin's place, tumbling over one another in their anxiety to persuade the King that there is no reason why he should not carry on and that the date for the dissolution of Parliament is January 1, therefore it seems needless to expect the solution, more especially as it is believed there will be no urgent developments in the Reparations problem between France and Germany until after the French general elections to be held in January, which will return a new French Chamber of Deputies and a new political complexion to the existing chamber and necessitate some modification of policy in the Ruhr.

Always have another bottle handy

It's a wise housewife who keeps an extra bottle of Bovril in reserve in case of emergency. The Bovril isn't always handy, or isn't near if he is handy—and if there's need for Bovril, not infrequently it's a sudden need.

Bovril has, in addition, a score of uses in the kitchen for putting flavour and goodness into the dishes the housewife prepares.

There's no need to run out for Bovril if you never allow yourself to run out of it.

United Fishermen at Flat Islands

Delegates were appointed to represent fishermen and labourmen when the House of Assembly opens. Everybody determined. Meeting closed with rousing cheers.

INSURGENT TROOPS ADVANCING ON MEXICAN CAPITAL.

VERA CRUZ, Dec. 10.—Insurgent troops have left Vera Cruz under orders for an advance toward Mexico City. At various points along the Inter-Oceanic Railway they will be joined by other contingents and the united forces will then proceed toward the capital, advancing in two directions. It is estimated that about ten thousand troops are available for this movement.

CANADA EXPLAINS.

OTTAWA, Dec. 10.—The reasons why the Canadian Government has decided to discontinue the modus vivendi licenses to United States fishing vessels are outlined in an official memorandum issued to-day. It states that in continuing a policy effective since 1892, the Canadian Government has been influenced by the hope that the United States Government would ultimately recognize that Canada was entitled to some compensation for the privileges extended to United States vessels in Canadian waters. Not only had it not made provision for the restoration of the agreement of 1918, but by tariff provisions had imposed additional duties upon Canadian fish.

Mother and Son Score in Pictures

Lydia Knott is proud of her son. Lambert Hillyer is proud of his mother.

Lydia Knott is one of the foremost character women of the screen, and when Robert Flinn initiated production of Universal's Jewel dramatization of Booth Tarkington's famous novel, "The Flirt," he instinctively turned to her for the finest performance that could be obtained in the mother role of the great story.

Hillyer was at work at Universal City as the director of a five-reel picture when his mother came to start work on the big special.

A few weeks later he finished his picture. He was congratulated by Irving G. Thalberg, director general of the studio.

Lambert went to his mother, and with his arms around her in boyish fashion he told her the big news:

"Mother, I'm going to direct a special feature, 'The Shock,' with Lon Chaney as the star. Universal likes this picture, I've just finished well enough to give me a much bigger chance."

His mother was as proud of his success as any mother could be. Hobart Henley, directing "The Flirt," overheard them. He came over and heard them.

"Wait a minute, Lambert," he cautioned Hillyer. "I want to tell you that your mother has more than kept pace with you. You're not the only success in your family around here. If her work in 'The Flirt' doesn't make her the most famous character actress of the day I'm mighty badly mistaken and not much good as a judge."

It was an occasion for mother and son to be proud of each other, and their words were heard by many.

"The Flirt" presents a dozen famous moving picture artists headed by Lydia Knott. It will be on the screen of the Star Theatre to-day.
