TOMMY BURNS HAS AN EASY TIME DEFENDING TITLE OF HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION OF THE DOMINION OF CANADA

Battle Last Night With Bill Rickards of Vancouver Stopped By Police in Sixth Round After Rickards Had Been Floored Twice

ONE OF THE EASIEST BATTLES OF PUGILISTIC CAREER

Burns Took It Easy Until the Sixth, When He Went in to Finish the Bout, Which He Did; Burns Forced the Fighting All the Way; Rickards Was Out When Police Interfered

SASKATOON, Aug. 8.—Stopped in the sixth round by the sheriff, the fifteen round boxing bout between Burns and Rickards to-night was one of the easiest in the former heavyweight champion's career. Tommy got five thousand dollars for outboxing a man who failed to show even second rate form.

From the sounding of the first gong the fight was all Burns but even then the champion failed to land a real good blow, the left to jaw the put Rickard out for the count of three, the left and right to jaw that put him out to nine, two seconds afterward, and the right that finished off the bout prior to its being stopped, being far from the category of knockout punches.

Burns played with his man, leading all the time, Rickard never forcing no leading. With him it was a game of cover, stall and cover, his head being down for practically the five and a half rounds of the fight.

Tommy was in excellent condition but far from championship form, his judge of distance being poor, missing his man on several occasions by feet. His was the only science shown in the bout, Rickard showing none, not even heart.

The fighting was all to the head, the only kidney punch worthy of the name being landed by Burns at the beginning of the fifth. Burns' footwork was excellent, although his bad knee was handicapped.

The bout was nearly brought to a conclusion in the second round, when, after a wild swing by Rickard, Burns stepped, slipping through the ropes. Rickard helped the ex-champion back, and the bout was on again.

In the middle of the fourth, Rickard showed his only aggressive landing, several to Burns' face, but they proved ineffective, he returning almost immediately to his game of stalling after this one he was again on his feet.

Rickard had his chance in the middle of the fifth, when Burns left himself open in a manner that would have allowed any real fighter to end the fight by a little decisive play. He failed.

Burns was apparently fresh after each round, while his opponent was groggy and needed all the efforts of his seconds to bring him into the ring again. His eyes would wander to his corner during the quarters, and the sounding of the gong at the round end seemed to be a relief.

Whether or not Burns, with a real man who would have made him extend himself would have given a better exhibition is a conjecture, opinion being divided among fight fans. After the fight he said it was an easy win for him and that he had not exerted himself.

This latter statement was verified by the action of Rickard when knocked by his knees prior to the closing of the bout, the fellow, though not hit, being willing to stay there. His nose was bleeding and his face out, but not seriously. First blood was drawn at the end of the fifth, when Burns hit Rickard on the face just as the gong sounded.

The whole fight was the case of a faint-hearted pug fighting a boxer.

WINNING STREAK GOT ON THE NERVES OF THE BRONCHOS

So Yesterday They Went Out and Lost in Spite of Deers' Willingness to Contribute

Jule's Men Outhit and Out-fieled Visitors, But Lost Game by Ten to Nine

Game of Missed Opportunities; Bases Full in Ninth, But Score Wasn't Forthcoming

INSPIRED by the hunch that if they did not lose pretty soon the race would become a walk-away, the Bronks last night just went out and lost the game in spite of the attempts of the Deers to let them have another. In the fifth inning they had the game tucked away in six to two fashion only to have the Deers come back in the next round and bring up the score to a seven-six proportion in their favor. Then again in the last inning the Bronks had the bases full and one run was needed to tie up the score and two to win, but Obe O'Brien hit at the fourth ball, sending it down to the Red Deer second sacker for an easy put-out which retired the side. If Obe had let that wide one go by he would have received free transportation to first which would have forced in a run which would have tied the score. However, the game goes to Red Deer to to go.

If Obe and base hits could win a game then there would be another victim on the Bronks side of the ledger. For Jule Streib's men outhit the Deers 17 to 14, and as for errors, the Deers had the majority. The second also demonstrates that the Bronks had nine men left on bases, compared with seven for Red Deer. Taken all in all the game was one of opportunities missed.

Baseball luck, too, was with the visitors. On two occasions Bobbie Wells was robbed and hit by the speedy playing of Godfrey at second and when Pete Standridge as a pinch hitter came across a double in the ninth, if there had been a man on base the tieing run would have come across.

However, here is the figurative story of the event:
