MANSFIELD IN "BEAUCAIRE." Richard Mansfield will close the season at the New Grand by presenting, on Saturday, June 28, his famous dramatized version of Booth Tarkington's pretty story, "Beaucaire." Mansfield continues to display a marvelous artistic energy, and adds triumph on triumph. As a London paper said: It is hard to imagine this great genius, whom America keeps so religiously to herself. He has achieved enough success to flatter the career of a dozen stars, yet his ambitions seem indom-This year he brings fascinating "Beaucaire." In the role of the barber-prince, Mansfield has achieved a notable new triumph and demonstrated the charm and distinction that a great artist can bring to comedy. "Beaucaire" gives him the widest latitude for the use of his singular skill in characterization as no one else on the stage can. It is as subtle a piece of comedy as his "Shylock" was fine in classic character acting, his "Richard III." and "Cyrano" in tragedy, and his "Beau Brummel" and "Baron Chev-rial" were in their own singular class.

Bishop of Huron Preaches on A Ever-New Theme.

Large congregations were present in St. James' Church, South London, yesterday, to hear the Bishop of Huron. In the morning the bishop took his text from the 1st chapter of Jonah, dealing with Jonah's conversion by being swallowed by the whale. The bishop said that when Jonah received the command to go to Nineveh, he shrank from the task and fled to Tarshish in order that he might escape Mr. Beck Given a Majority from his duty. He should have known that it was useless to try and escape from God, an act which man cannot do. After they had started on the journey the Lord sent a great tempest, which overtook the ship and she was like to be broken. Jonah was at this time fast asleep in the hold of the vessel, and the shipmaster came and commanded him to call upon his God that they might be saved. His lordship compared the people of today with Jonah, whose conscience did not trouble them and who slept, forgetting that God lived. He went on to say that when Jonah awoke and found the storm raging his own sin found him out, and he knew God was dealing with him. The preacher explained that God dealt with us in the same way; when we are caught in a storm our ship is steered into a harbor, a harbor of eternal rest. When Jonah awoke he told the sailors to throw him into the giveness of sins, and that he who comes to Christ shall in no wise be cast out; 3, we should stand before God clean, for in the final day we shall be lost forever if we have been ashamed to acknowledge Jesus Christ as our In the evening the bishop took his text from the 2nd Book of Corinthians, 3rd chapter 1st verse—"Ye Know."

Young Walter Campbell, the little boy who fell beneath a street car on Victoria Day, died at 5 clock on Saturday afternoon. The doctors who attended him had made every effort to save his life, but all along it was on the St. John (N. B.) Telegraph, after doubtful if their attempt would be successful. The terrible injuries that he had sustained made it necessary to amputate his leg, to prevent blooding spent two weeks' holidays at his poisoning, but on Friday night tetanus developed and the boy gradually sank. His death aroused sorrow throughout the whole city, the terrible injuries that he had received having excited the utmost pity. His death was regretfully announced yesterday afternoon at St Andrew's Sunday school, which Walter attended. The bereaved family have widespread sympathy in their sorrow.

Official Report of the Butchery of Filipinos KIPPERED HERRINGS-In Oil

Captives Dug Their Own Graves Before They Were Shot Down by U. S. Soldiers.

Washington, June 1 .- The secretary of war has transmitted to the senate committee on the Philippines a copy of the report made by J. G. Livingstone, governor of the Philippine Province of Sorsogon, of the killing by soldiers of two native officials of the town of Santa Magdalena, of that province. One of the men was the presidente of the town named Ysidro Gallanosa, and the other a policeman. The secretary of the town, Quintam Gamit, also was tortured for the purpose of forcing a confession from him. Governor Livingstone says that a native who was trusted by the American authorities was sent to the town to spy out men connected with the movement known as the "anting anting" movement; that he arrested some such men and took them with their papers before the presidente, and that while all were there a detachment of troops under a corporal entered and arrested all such insurgents. They were then taken before Lieut. Harker, of the 5th Infantry, who put them to work on the streets. The report con-

"The next day the presidente and Gamit were taken out in the woods and hanged until their feet were nearly off the ground, and were asked if they would 'talk,' to which they re-plied that they would, naturally. They were returned to Matnog, where the secretary was again questioned by Lieut. Harker as to the conduct and character of the presidente, giving, ac-cording to the secretary's statement, satisfactory answers. He was returned to the jail, and later he, with the presidente and Giriaco Funes, a policeman of Magdalena, were again taken to the hills, being compelled to carry a rope, a pick and a spade, and on reaching a certain spot the presidente was put to work digging what would appear to be a grave. The secretary states he saw all of this himself, and also saw the policeman bound in the same way, and little later he heard some shots which he presumed were fired at the policeman, as he was also killed.

CLEARED $1,000,000 ON HIS OATS CORNER

Successful Deal in the Chicago Market-Price Jumped 6 Cents.

Chicago, June 2.-James A. Patten, mayor of Evanston, and a prominent board of trade operator, on Saturday brought to a successful close the corner in May oats which has dominated the oat market since early last fall. The profits credited to Mr. Patten on the deal are estimated at nearly $1,000,-

About the time prices in corn began to mount skyward last year on account of the crop shortage it was learned that someone was taking in all the May cats offered on the Chicago market and elsewhere. Prices began to advance steadily, and around 37 cents it was known that Mr. Patten was trying to work a corner. On the big flurry on the Chicago board last December, May oats were pushed to 47% cents. Since that time, reactions occurred, and when delivery day came last month many speculators thought the bottom had fallen out of the corner. It was said Mr. Patten had 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 bushels of the May options. Everything that was offered to him on deliveries he took, and in turn sold practically all the contract stocks to shippers at good inducements. This left nothing for the shorts to acquire with which to settle, and prices ac-cordingly were pushed up by Mr. Pat-ten personally in the pit on Saturday.

May cats closed Thursday at 43% cents. Saturday the price jumped about 6 cents and closed at 491/2 cents. There was a little flurry of excitement at the close, but the corner did not affect the other options.
